Find Girl Safe After Two Days

IRONTON, Mo. (AP)— Three members of a huge search party found 6-year-old Denise Brady Saturday, alive and slightly the worse for her two-day ordeal in the Johnson Shut-Ins State Park area near Ironton, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The girl was taken to Farmington Community Hospital in Reynolds County where doctors said she was suffering from mild shock and moderate dehydration. She was admitted for observation. She had superficial cuts.

Three members of the West End Saddle Club of Belleview, Mo., found the girl shortly before noon in a brushy area. The patrol identified the rescuers as Alfred Lloyd Abney, 41, of Steeleville, his 31-year-old wife, Dosha Marie, and Robert Lynn Ball, 25, of White River, Mo.

Denise, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brady of De-Soto, Mo., became lost Thursday afternoon while the family was visiting Brady's mother near Ironton.

The rescuers were part of a large search force that combed the park area for two days. Denise was found about three and one-half miles south of the spot where she became lost.

The Highway Patrol said they did not immediately know how the girl became lost or what happened during the two days she was lost.

To Change Name Of Currency Unit

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli parliament voted Wednesday to change the name of Israel's currency unit, the lira, to the ancient Hebrew "shekel."

The Bank of Israel estimated it would take about five years for the new name to be adopted.

Discuss Rare Coins

About 13 dealers in rare coins are participating in the 11th annual Central Missouri Coin Show here at Thompson Hills Shopping Center. Dealers attending the show represent Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas. The two-day event closes at 5 p.m. today. One of the high-lights of the event will be a drawing for a $20 gold piece at 3 p.m. today. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Parkinson's Disease Drug May Soon be Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — An experimental drug called L-dopa, hailed as a possible breakthrough against crippling Parkinson's disease, may become available in limited quantities by the end of the year for treating severe cases of the stubborn malady.

Researchers say the drug appears to be the best potential bet yet discovered in the 150-year quest for ways to control the "shaking palsy" disease. But before L-dopa gets government approval for widespread use, scientists say more information is needed about its possible side effects.

Meanwhile, a team of Boston researchers has discovered that the drug amantadine Chloride, originally developed to prevent the Asian flu, also can help control Parkinson's disease.

In the United States, an estimated 300,000 to 1 million persons suffer from Parkinson's disease. The baffling and chronic malady of the nervous system causes uncontrolled trembling of the arms and legs and difficulty in walking, talking, and writing.

A New Jersey drug firm, Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc., is sponsoring the nation's first coordinated field trials and other new clinical studies for L-dopa, officially known as levodopa. Ultimately more than 20 clinical research centers and up to 1,800 patients will be involved.

Earlier studies, involving more than 350 patients, yielded preliminary evidence the drug is significantly effective in up to 75 per cent of the cases.

Dr. John J. Burns, vice president in charge of research for Hoffmann-LaRoche, said "we hope by early this summer to accumulate enough evidence" to apply to the Food and Drug Administration "for approval of releasing the drug on some type of limited basis, so that patients having the most critical need could get it.

"We don't know enough about the drug at this time to warrant any thought of making it generally available to all doctors," Burns added in a telephone interview.

Uses of the second drug, amantadine chioride, were uncovered by Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School researchers in a kind of happy accident.

A woman patient told the doctors that while taking amantadine chloride to prevent the Asian flu she had experienced a remarkable remission in her Parkinson disease symptoms.

The Boston team, headed by Dr. Robert S. Schwab, associate professor of neurology at Harvard, reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that the drug brought sustained, moderate to excellent improvement in 66 per cent of 163 Parkinsonian sufferers treated.

Schwab, in a telephone interview, said the results have now been extended to about 200 patients.

He says the antiflu drug alone is not as effective as L-dopa. But he adds that preliminary trials indicate that combining the two can enhance the action of each, and also allow a reduction of up to 50 per cent in the dosage of L-dopa.

Dirksen Sees No Nixon Compromise on ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Saturday he has received no intimation that President Nixon is willing to compromise in any way in the Senate battle over the antiballistic missile system.

The Senate Republican leader discounted as "a little flight in semantics" proposals to limit the Safeguard ABM to research and development or to postpone for several months a final decision on deployment of two sites.

"If you sponge out 'ABM' from the program, who wins a victory in that?" he asked in an interview. "I am convinced the President is going down the line on this matter and I'm confident we'll win the battle."

The Senate Armed Services Committee begins Tuesday its task of section-by-section action on a $25.billion military procurement authorization bill. In it the administration is asking $800 million to finance deployment of the ABM at two sites, in North Dakota and Montana.

An expected recommendation by a special subcommittee to delay deployment while further tests are made on radar and computer components seems likely to be rejected by the parent group. Because the Senate is apparently almost evenly divided on the question of going ahead now, Dirksen's party assistant, Sen. Hugh Scott, of Pennsylvania, has suggested that the Pentagon might put off a deployment decision for several months while attempts are made to reach some kind of an agreement with the Russians on a nuclear arms limitation. This has been one of the talking points made by ABM opponents. Scott said he was speaking for himself in floating this idea as what he called a trial balloon.

Brezhnev Levels Blast At China in Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev accused Red China Saturday of undermining the Communist movement and preparing for atomic war against the Soviet Union.

In a blistering attack on the government of Mao Tse-tung, Brezhnev said that instead of working for peace China accepts war as a "positive historical phenomenon" and the Chinese people are directed "to starve and prepare for war."

The attack on China before delegates of 75 Communist parties at an international conference in the Kremlin confirmed an anti-China tone for the Communist meeting, now in its third day.

The Soviet Union has accused China of plotting nuclear war in the past. But Brezhnev said a Peking newspaper—Kuang Ming Jih Pao—issued a call just two days ago "to prepare both for a conventional and a big nuclear war against Soviet revisionism."

"The Soviet people have strong nerves—they will not be frightened by shouting," he added.

Brezhnev's 79-page speech destroyed the hopes of some Communist leaders that the Soviet-Chinese feud could be kept out of the Communist conference.

Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania had objected Thursday to early criticism of China and referred to a preconference decision not to assail parties of other countries.

After Brezhnev's speech, conference spokesmen denied there had been an advance agreement barring interparty criticism.

There was no immediate reaction to the speech from the Romanian delegation and it remained seated during this and later speeches.

Romania has refused to take sides in the Soviet-Chinese feud and has tried to straddle the issue.

Legislature Leaders, Hearnes Looking for Way Out of Dilemma

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — This is a brain wracking weekend for leaders of the Missouri Legislature and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. They're all looking for a face-saving, money - finding way out of the state's fiscal dilemma.

At week's end an effort was being made to push the proposition that the House accept the Senate - approved increase in the income tax levy on corporations. Tied in would be a Senate agreement to accept the House-passed plan for increasing the individual income tax levy, but make it become effective Jan. 1, 1971—a year after the corporate income tax boost would take effect.

It won some support from Sen. T. D. McNeal, D-St. Louis, the Senate Ways and Means Committee chairman, and from a ranking minority member, Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage.

The governor's chief opponent in the Senate was, as President Pro Tem and head of the "Young Turks," in a position to make his opposition felt. President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, said the corporate tax boost was enough for the coming year's government operations.

If more is needed for the future, he said, some other revenue measure could be enacted when the Legislature meets in the late winter or early spring of 1970 to appropriate money for another year's operation of the government.

Opposition came, too, from the governor himself but for different reasons.

Hearnes said the revenue from a higher corporate income tax, from the present 2 per cent to a top of 5 per cent as passed by the Senate, would not be enough because of the time element. The higher rate would become effective next Jan. 1 because the income tax is collected on a calendar year basis.

That would give the state only six month's revenue from the higher tax to count on next fiscal year because the state operates on a year running from July 1 through the following June 30.

Besides, Hearnes said, the Senate has refused to agree to suggestions from him and House leaders to release some acceleration bills from committee so they can begin moving up the Senate action calendar.

Depending on whose figures you use the acceleration bills would produce a one - year increase in available funds next year of between $59 million and $67 million.

Their enactment would help, Hearnes said Friday, but they can't be passed if they're locked up in committee.

In the House, rules can be bent so a bill far down the work list can be brought right to the

Nixon Sees Serious Peace Talks Ahead

HONOLULU (AP) — President Nixon, stopping here Saturday en route to his Vietnam summit conference on Midway Island, believes that the North Vietnamese are ready for serious peace bargaining.

White House sources, speaking with the President's approval, said private talks and indirect contacts with representatives of Hanoi and the Viet Cong have led to a conclusion that the stage is set for active negotiations in Paris.

The sources, who declined to be named, cautioned that they expect the enemy to be as tough at the negotiating table as it has been on the battlefield.

Nixon flies to Midway Sunday for five hours of conferences with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

Among other matters, they will talk about the eventual withdrawal of some U.S. troops from South Vietnam as the training of South Vietnamese replacements and the military situation permit.

The sources said Saigon and Washington already are in full agreement on a formula for eventual and limited American withdrawals. A Nixon-Thieu communique is expected to spell this out in detail, although no U.S. officials were willing to say the presidents would state how many troops would be withdrawn, or at what time. They emphasized that the situation in the war zone is so fluid that the timing of such moves must be continually reviewed.

In response to questions from newsmen, the sources said a limited U.S. withdrawal in the near future would promote progress in the Paris talks, provided the enemy was convinced the United States was acting from a position of strength and not seeking an elegant way of "bugging out." They said enemy sources of information in South Vietnam ensure that Hanoi could not be fooled on such a matter.

There has been speculation that 50,000 or more Americans will be brought home in the coming months. There are about 540,000 U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

The sources said public and private North Vietnamese reaction to Nixon's eight-point peace plan May 14 have encouraged official American optimism that substantive bargaining soon will begin in Paris.

They disclosed that the North Vietnamese, through private channels, have been asking legitimate rather than propagandistic questions about details of the Nixon proposals which call for withdrawal of most outside forces from South Vietnam over a 12-month period. These questions, they said, involve such matters as what will happen to remaining American troops after the 12 months, and who will supervise the free elections which Nixon has suggested for all South Vietnamese, Communists included.

It is the administration's feeling that questions about such specifics from the enemy's side augur well for Paris progress.

Hope Dim For 19 Crewmen

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Hope was dim that any of the 19 crewmen of a missing Strategic Air Command plane would be found alive as ships and planes continued to search Saturday.

Search planes were grounded in some places because of worsening weather conditions, the Coast Guard said.

One Coast Guard cutter was in the search center area, roughly 200 miles north of Amchitka Island in the Aleutian chain. Four big patrol planes were combing the area and three other ships were closing in on the scene.

Hope rose briefly earlier Saturday when the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency said a Japanese fishing boat reported survivors from a large plane were adrift in a liferaft in the area.

But the North Pacific Rescue Coordination Center here said it knew of no raft in the area. The center said the Japanese boat might have been confused by a request dropped to them by a U.S. plane asking their help in the search.

The missing SAC jet, a military version of the Boeing 707 designated as an RC135, disappeared about 30 minutes after leaving Shemya Island on a "routine" flight to Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks, Alaska. It was about 250 miles east of Shemya, on the end of the Aleutian Island chain, when the last radio report was received from it.

Robbery Charges Are Filed

Charges of armed robbery have been filed in Saline County for William Monteer, Leon J. Haselhorst and Dale E. Gaddis, who were captured during a two-day manhunt in the Smithton and Sedalia vicinities.

Bond for the three was set at $15,000 each, and they are currently being held in the Saline County Jail, according to Saline County Sheriff Henry Hoff.

Preliminary hearing has been set for June 12.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, who captured Monteer Wednesday and Haselhorst and Gaddis Thursday with the assistance of Highway Patrolmen, Sedalia police and authorities from Benton, Saline and Cooper counties, told the Democrat-Capital Friday afternoon he is keeping in touch with Saline County officials and awaiting further developments.

North Vietnamese Troops Are Mangled in Assault

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops were mangled Saturday in a furious assault on a small U.S. fire base in the sort of attacks that by allied accounts have left 1,000 enemy dead in two days.

Best estimates are that 60 Americans have been killed and more than 200 wounded in the two days. South Vietnamese casualties were put at 107 killed and 379 wounded.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, told reporters before leaving for the Midway Island conference of President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu that he did not think the sharp rise in enemy attacks was a summer offensive.

"I don't think they are doing anything different," he said. "They're just trying to harass and inflict casualties. I think the real purpose is psychological in terms of the people in the United States."

Other officers have suggested the increase in the intensity of enemy attacks is intended to put pressures on Nixon and Thieu at their conference.

Of the estimated enemy casualties, about 400 of them have been killed in two days of trying to overrun Fire Base Crook, a tiny U.S. 25th Infantry Division outpost four miles from Cambodia and 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

The attacks on the base have been by far the largest in last week's series of enemy offensive operations in South Vietnam.

Bloodily repulsed Friday, the Viet Cong's 9th Division, mostly made up of North Vietnamese, tried again in the predawn hours of Saturday to sweep it from the map in human-wave assults.

Again the North Vietnamese struck behind a heavy rocket and mortar barrage, with heavy machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades.

The camp is set in a man-made clearing, surrounded by heavy wooded areas about 500 yards from its perimeter. Its 150 deeply entrenched defenders, manning M16 rifles, machine guns and 105mm howitzers, twice repulsed the North Vietnamese assaults with help of air strikes and artillery fire from five neighboring fire support bases. U.S. casualties were one killed and four wounded.

Ten prisoners were captured in battlefield sweeps. Several were young, 14 to 15 years old. One prisoner "told us he'd only been in the army 90 days," a U.S. source said.

The base, which Saturday night still was receiving an occasional enemy mortar round, lies a mile east of the Ben Da River astride a major enemy infiltration route into South Vietnam.

Just why the enemy made two successive attacks against it wasn't known. One U.S. officer had a simple explanation: "They wanted a victory."

In a belated report, soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division reported killing 191 enemy soldiers Friday—115 in a battle three miles northwest of An Loc—in a series of sharp firefights north of Saigon.

The U.S. command reported 63 rocket and mortar attacks overnight on allied bases and towns, including Da Nang.

Thieu Receives Support For Anti-Coalition View

MIDWAY ISLAND (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu was given solid support for his opposition to any coalition with the Viet Cong on the eve of Sunday's crucial meeting with President Nixon on this tiny Pacific island.

As Nixon and his party headed toward Midway by way of Honolulu, Thieu was handed resolutions in Saigon Saturday from the South Vietnamese Senate, the National Assembly and the National Security Council endorsing his position.

Nixon's eight-point peace plan does not call for a coalition. But Thieu and his advisers believe the seeds for a coalition may lie in Nixon's suggestion for early elections.

Nixon and his advisers arrive at midmorning Sunday after an overnight stop in Honolulu, and Thieu and his party will land shortly thereafter.

The first business is an informal get-together for an hour and a half at the home of Capt. A. S. Yesensky, commander of the Midway base.

Then Nixon and Thieu will go to the commissioned officers' club two blocks away for lunch, followed by the main business meeting in an adjacent room around a large oak conference table.

There they will go over Nixon's peace plan, which was presented at the Paris peace talks. There have been indications the South Vietnamese government is wary of parts of the Nixon plan.

For example, Nixon wants elections to be held as soon as possible after a cease-fire and troop withdrawals.

Under South Vietnam's constitution, national elections cannot be held before 1971. Thieu probably would like at least this much time to complete his task of broadening his political support.

In their resolutions, the South Vietnamese Senate, National Assembly and National Security Council took the position that elections can only be held under terms of the constitution.

South Vietnam's Senate and National Assembly in their resolutions took cautious views on the subject of troop withdrawals.

The Senate resolution said allied forces can be pulled out only bilaterally "under international control and guarantees." This meant the North Vietnamese also must withdraw.

Ann Landers

A Self-evaluation Is an Eye-opener

Dear Ann Landers: Here is how you helped me. I wrote to you last month and complained about my mother. I told you life at home was unbearable and I was thinking about running away. You advised me to cool it and have a talk with my school counselor. I took your advice.

My school counselor listened patiently and gave me a list of questions to answer. Here are the questions and my answers.

1) Does your mother nag you a lot about the mess in your room?
Answer: Yes
2) Does she nag if your room is in order?
Answer: No
3) Does your mother scold you when you come home late from a date?
Answer: Yes
4) Does she scold you when you are in on time?
Answer: No
5) Does your mother insist that you do homework and chores before you go visit your friends or engage in any kind of recreation?
Answer: Yes
6) Does your mother restrict your activities if your homework and chores are done?
Answer: No
7) Does your mother do favors for you such as iron a blouse if you are in a hurry?
Answer: Yes
8) Do you volunteer to help her occassionally in order to make her work lighter?
Answer: No
9) When you leave the house does your mother ask you where you are going, with whom and who else will be there?
Answer: Yes
10) Do you always tell her the truth?
Answer: No

This list of questions opened my eyes, Ann. I saw for the first time that I was to blame for most of the trouble I'd been having with my mother. I'm doing much better now and life is a lot more pleasant in our home for everyone. Thank you.—Paula

Dear Paula: You sound like a living doll. Thanks for your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My son just returned from the Air Force. His uniforms are in good condition. He says he's seen them enough and would not wear them for yard work or loafing. Yet he claims it is against regulations to give a uniform away. Any suggestions? — Dodge City

Dear Dodge: Uniforms can be given away if the buttons and insignia are removed. If you'd rather make a buck than a gift, run an ad. A young man going into the service might buy them. Resale shops on the bases also have resale shops which purchase used uniforms. I hope your son will keep just one uniform as a weight control measure. Nothing encourages diet like trying to struggle into an old uniform and discovering it is several sizes too small.

The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ichord Wants SDS Kept Off Campuses

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Eradication of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) from the nation's campuses was called for Friday night by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., who is chairman of the House Committee on Internal Security.

His committee has been investigating the SDS and will investigate other revolutionary groups later, Ichord said.

He called it a premature opinion but said he thinks the SDS plans to tear down America's democratic society "brick by brick, stone by stone."

"And they haven't said what they intend to replace it with," he said.

Social Welfare Group to Meet

Underlying causes and proposed solutions to the problems of black discontent will be discussed by Dr. Lorenzo Greene from Lincoln University, Jefferson City, at a public meeting of the West Central Division of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare to be held here.

Miss Fajen is Installed As President of BPWC

Miss Erma Fajen

Miss Erma Fajen was installed Thursday evening as president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club by Miss Cecile Tillbery, a past president and a charter member of the club.

The installation ceremony took place at the Bothwell Hotel, and the retiring president, Mrs. Nyra Price, was installed as director of District 4, south.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Betty Blackwell, president-elect; Mrs. Juanita Hood, vice-president; Miss Mary Lou Gibbs, recording secretary; Miss Marjorie Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Anderson, treasurer.

Miss Fajen announced her appointive officers, Mrs. Bertha Welch, chaplain; Miss Erna Ann McClure, auditor; Mrs. Juanita Waggoner, custodian; Miss Donna Harrison, historian; Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, parliamentarian; Miss Hazel Palmer and Mrs. Garansson, honorary board members; Mrs. Frieda Nelson, lifetime board member.

She also announced the following chairmen for the year of the various committees: Mrs. Pam Price Boul, personal development; Mrs. Jessie Goist, program; Miss Helen Giokaris, scholarship; Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, public relations; Mrs. Opal Hugelman, legislative, Miss Cecile Tillbery, social; Mrs. Mabel Glenn, civic participation; Mrs. Juanita Teegarden, world affairs; Mrs. Juanita Hood, membership; Miss Edna Mae Kirchhofer, telephone; Mrs. Betty Blackwell, finance; Mrs. Mary Lou Waldrep, music; Mrs. Dorothy Boyd, special projects, Mrs. Mildred Deck, hospitality; Miss Karen Steele, bulletin editor.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Nyra Price with invocation by Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter.

This year is the golden anniversary of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Price and Miss Fajen were elected as delegates to attend the national convention in St. Louis. The alternates elected were Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter and Mrs. Vivian Warren. Miss Palmer will be a delegate from the national federation and Mrs. Garansson from the state federation.

The music committee, of which Mrs. Mary Louise Waldrep is chairman, presented the program. The Helen G. Steele Music Club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Carol Barnes, sang a group of songs with Mrs. Mary Rundlett as accompanist.

Guests were introduced by Mrs. Ruth Woolery: Mrs. Mary Rundlett, guest of the club; Mrs. Rita Kenney, guest of Mrs. Charlotte Carter; Harriett Thornton, guest of Edna Wilson; Miss Anna Marie Morseman, guest of Miss Cecile Tillbery; Miss Mildred Sutherlin and Mrs. Nola McDaniel, guests of Miss Erma Fajen; Opal Rinebarger and Juanita Hanenkrott, guests of Juanita Hood; Marian Newman, guest of Ann Hamilton.

Mrs. Betty Blackwell, membership chairman, inducted the new members: Janet Barker, Anna Marie Morseman, Juanita Hanenkratt and Opal Rinebarger.

Mrs. Boul, whose dance students gave a recital recently at the Smith-Cotton auditorium sponsored by the special projects committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club, presented a check for $225.60 to Mrs. Hunter of the Children's Therapy Center.

Mrs. Price told of the presentation of the flag by the BPWC in memory of Kelly Scruton at the ball park. She expressed appreciation to the chairman, Mrs. Bertha Welch.

Mrs. Warren gave a memorial service for Mary Ann Schlaffer, a member of the club, who died recently. On the committee with Mrs. Warren were Mrs. Gertrude Berlin and Miss Dorothy Keck.

The retiring president, Mrs. Price, told of the highlights of her year and the many things achieved, including three gold cards for five new members and special recognition of Mrs. Warren for having a gold card for five consecutive years. She told of sponsoring the Samothrace Club at State Fair Community College, winning first place with a float in the Christmas parade and third place for the Salvation Army tree of lights. Mrs. Price announced that during the year 32 new members were taken in and the membership is at the highest point in 10 years.

The installation was based on the golden anniversary and Miss Tillbery told of the high ideals of the club which she asked the new officers to pledge to build up on, stating that they had been chosen with confidence.

Miss Fajen, in accepting the presidency, pointed out that there cannot be a journey without leaving footprints and that those footprints that went before her have been mighty impressive. She stated the local club is 46 years old. Miss Fajen quoted a speaker she had heard as saying, "A group of ladies can do anything they set out to do if they go about it in a ladylike manner." She ended her talk with a poem, as did Mrs. Price.

Mrs. Price then pinned the president's pin on the new president, presented her with the charm bracelet that is passed on to the presidents, and the gavel. The past president's pin was then pinned on Mrs. Price by Miss Fajen, who also gave her a gift.

Mrs. Carol Barnes sang the Federation song, "The Golden Key," with Mrs. Rundlett was accompanist.

Gets Life Sentence

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Silas Spencer Griffin has spent more than half of his 55 years behind bars.

Thursday he stood before a judge for sentencing on his fifth felony conviction—armed robbery.

"If you had your choice between life in prison and a 25-year sentence, which would you choose?" asked the judge. "I think I would prefer life, your honor," said Griffin. "It would keep me out of trouble." He got his wish.

Cape Canaveral Name Is Favored

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Legislature urged Friday that Cape Kennedy's name be changed back to Cape Canaveral, if U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., agrees.

The Legislature passed a concurrent resolution asking President Nixon and Congress to keep the name Cape Kennedy at the Space Center, but to change the name of the triangular cape on which the spaceport is located.

President Johnson renamed the space center and the cape—named Canaveral by early Spanish explorers—after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963.

The Spanish name means "plantation of cane," and was given to the cape because Indians grew cane there.

Dilemma

top for immediate action. The House did that Thursday on a measure to tighten laws covering student control on campus.

The bill had been number 114 on a list of bills for first round consideration in the House. Since no one objected, House leaders skipped over the other 113 bills and took up the student control measure.

A little later the House abandoned all the bills left on that calendar.

In the Senate, more regularly hewing to the strict wording of the rules, it is not so easy to reach a key bill quickly.

As an example, take a House-passed bill that is 10 measures down on the Senate calendar.

The only way, under Senate tradition and procedure, to reach it at once is to get the sponsors of the nine preceding bills to agree to delay their measures. That's not easy when there's only three weeks of a session left and a sponsor begins to look on his legislation as the most important of the lot.

That's the reason Hearnes and other fiscal officers said they were pessimistic because the Senate wouldn't put the acceleration bills on the calendar quickly.

The governor says it appears a mid-summer special session of the Legislature may be necessary to solve the fiscal problem.

Jury Hearing Called Mistrial

A jury hearing in connection with the accident on Highway 65 south of Sedalia at a spot commonly referred to as "Whispering Oaks," Feb. 18, 1968, in which five persons were killed, was completed in one day as Circuit Court Judge Frank Hays declared a mistrial Friday and discharged the jury.

The action stemmed from a motion by Clifford Brownfield, defendant, and Gordon R. Baslee, administrator.

Familiar Scene

The two vehicles pictured above were involved in an accident late Saturday afternoon at the intersection of North Grand Avenue and Highway 65, which had proven to be one of the most hazardous intersections in the area. Mrs. Florentine Grother, 43, Route 2, driver of the pickup truck, was injured in the accident.

Accidents

Another name was added to the list of those injured at the intersection of North Grand Avenue and Highway 65 when a car-truck accident occurred there about 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Taken to Bothwell Hospital was Mrs. Florentine Grother, 43, Route 2, who was treated for a laceration to the back of her head and abrasions.

According to the Highway Patrol a 1966 Rambler sedan driven north on 65 by Alvin H. Armstrong, 55, Parksville, and a 1967 Ford pickup truck driven south on Grand by Mrs. Grother collided in the intersection.

The front of the Rambler and the right side of the truck were damaged. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Sgt. Sam Wollard of the Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

James D. Campbell, 18, 1302 South Osage, and Jerry Campbell, 21, 1302 South Osage, were both injured when the 1966 motorcycle operated by James Campbell overturned in some loose gravel on old Highway 65 about eight miles north of Sedalia at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Both youths were treated at Bothwell Hospital for lacerations and abrasions and released.

Sgt. Sam Wollard of the Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

Two hit-and-run accidents were reported to police Saturday evening.

The first occurred on the parking lot at Third and Lamine at 6:23 p.m. A 1969 Volkswagen owned by William G. Potter, 19, Otterville, was damaged on the left rear side while parked.

The left rear of a parked 1962 Ford owned by Anna Pangburn, 1200 South Summit, was damaged in the 1000 block of East 12th about 7 p.m.

A 1968 Pontiac GTO, driven east on Broadway by Maxine Anderson, 23, Clester, N.J., and a 1959 Chevrolet, driven east on Broadway by John H. Fisher, 78, 2223 East Broadway, were involved in an accident in the 2100 block of east Broadway at 10:22 a.m. Friday.

Damage resulted to the right side of the GTO and to the left front of the Chevrolet.

The Pontiac driver was issued a police summons for failure to yield the right of way.

A 1959 Pontiac, driven north on Limit by Sharlene Kerr, 28, 1400 South State Fair Blvd., and a 1961 Chrysler, driven north on Limit by Sherley Summers, 30, Route 2, were involved in an accident at Broadway and Limit at 12:12 p.m. Friday.

Damage resulted to the rear of the Chrysler and the front of the Pontiac.

One person sustained apparently minor injuries in a three-car accident near the Friendly Elm rest area on South Highway 65 about 9:15 a.m. Saturday.

According to the Highway Patrol a 1969 Cadillac driven south by Paul E. Williamson, 68, Antioch, Calif.; a 1968 Pontiac convertible driven south by John B. Hanick, 26, Kansas City, and a 1969 Dodge driven south by Urus S. Hightower, 62, Kansas City, Kan., were involved in a chain-reaction accident.

The accident occurred as a pickup truck with a camper pulled into the rest area and the other vehicles did not have time to stop, according to Trooper Joe Dayringer of the Missouri Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident.

The rear of the Cadillac; front and rear of the Pontiac and the front of the Dodge were damaged. The Pontiac was towed from the scene.

Mrs. Mildred Hightower, 58, a passenger in her husband's auto, was taken to Bothwell Hospital for treatment of an abrasion to her right forehead.

The drivers of the cars were given warnings but not issued summons according to Dayringer.

No injuries were reported in a one-car accident 5.2 miles north of Highway 50 on Highway 127 at 12:30 a.m. Friday.

According to the Highway Patrol a 1968 Ford coach driven north on 127 by Carol Ann Smith, 26, Sweet Springs, left the roadway on a curve after the driver lost control in some loose gravel and overturned on the north shoulder.

The car was demolished.

None of the four girls in the car reported any injuries.

Trooper Joe Dayringer investigated the accident.

A parked 1959 GMC truck owned by Vernie V. Church, 49, Route 4, and a 1960 Chevrolet driven by Lester V. Wheeler, 21, Marshall, were involved in an accident on the North Brown's service station drive at 2:55 p.m. Saturday.

The left front of the truck and the right front of the car were damaged.

A 1969 Pontiac driven north on Highway 65, three miles south of Grand Avenue, was involved in an accident there at 1:15 p.m. Saturday.

According to police, a trailer being pulled by the car, driven by Robert A. Wheeler, 23, Kansas City, started weaving and turned over when it was caught by the wind.

The right side of the trailer and the left rear of the car were damaged in the mishap.

Police Report

J.W. Gibbins, Smithton, reported to police someone took 15 gallons of gasoline and emblem from his car while it was parked in the Rival Mfg. Co. parking lot Saturday.

Police received a call at 1:42 a.m. Saturday from Bothwell Hospital pertaining to a gunshot victim in the emergency room there. Investigation revealed that Miss Debbie Potts had sustained a gunshot wound in the lower left leg, but officers reported that she wouldn't give them any information.

A subject was picked up by Sedalia police later, but was released following their investigation.

Lawrence Koeller, 1017 Merriam, reported to police someone took a steering wheel and tachometer from his boat at 13th and Crockett sometime in the past four days.

SICKROOM FLOWERS OR PLANTS ARE NOT HARMFUL

It is not true that flowers or plants in their rooms can harm sick persons. Medical authorities agree that they could not possibly use up enough oxygen, or give up sufficient carbon dioxide to harm the occupant.

It is true that some people, not too many, are allergic to some of the exotic odors of certain flowers, especially lilies or roses. Also, in crowded wards there is little space available for them. Some understaffed hospitals do not have the labor to take care of flowers.

Question

Is it true that old insurance policies may actually still have value even though their premiums have not been paid for many years?

Answer

This is very possibly true. Life insurance policies should never be discarded or destroyed until they have been thoroughly checked for their extended insurance value. With the exception of group and term insurance almost all insurance contracts have a cash value after they have been in effect for a stipulated number of years. When premiums on these policies are not paid as they become due this cash value is used to pay the premiums and keep the policy in force for a specific period of time.

In our experience many funeral service costs have been paid from the proceeds of otherwise neglected and forgotten life insurance policies. Whenever a question arises concerning insurance contact us — if we do not know the answer we will get it for you.

Agnew Hits 'Cringing' Response

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew called today on the older generation to stop "cringing" lest the young inherit a lawless society.

Filling in for President Nixon, Agnew told members of the graduating class of Ohio State University that present-day youthful protesters are not the first to challenge aggressively the fundamental values of a society.

Both Agnew and two Cabinet members making commencement speeches today took their cue from President Nixon's campus address earlier in the week spelling out the administration answer to campus disturbances.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, speaking at his alma mater, Utah's Weber State College, cautioned against any policy on campus unrest "that fails to distinguish between legitimate student dissent and anarchistic disorder."

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, speaking at Grove City College in Pennsylvania, urged American youth not to "sell the American system short," adding that a "virus of pessimism" has taken hold of the nation and world.

Agnew, in his prepared address, said, "we are not in turmoil because of young testing. We are in trouble because my generation has apparently failed to define and defend either its achievements or its inheritance from past generations of Americans.

"A society which comes to fear its children is effete. A snivelling, hand-wringing power structure deserves the violent rebellion it encourages. If my generation doesn't stop cringing, yours will inherit a lawless society where emotion and muscle displace reason."

Agnew suggested college administrators should take a calm look at youthful complaints, "accepting the rational and rejecting the immature." To the students he said:

"Ask yourselves which kind of a society you want for tomorrow—tomorrow when you are the establishment.

"Right now we have a choice. Will we treat all that is wrong with America as a challenge or an indictment? Will we attack these problems or just weep over them? Will we condemn our institu[illegible] or correct them? Will we [illegible]udiate democracy because it moves slowly or revitalize it so its pace quickens?

"The answers are far from self-evident. The jury is still out. I trust that the ultimate response will be positive."

Agnew said that the American system, while far from perfect, is worth saving. He said socialism stultifies the recipients of its benefits while free enterprise has as its ultimate goal the promotion of higher living standards for all. But he added that the Constitution does not guarantee perpetual equality.

"We know that real liberty means not just an equal opportunity to be equal," he said, "but an equal opportunity to be superior if one possesses the stuff of which superiority is made."

New VA Chief Selected

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — If President Nixon's choice for chief of the Veterans Administration is confirmed by the Senate, Donald E. Johnson will be the second man from this rural village to serve in Washington officialdom.

The first was President Herbert Hoover.

But, unlike Hoover, Johnson wasn't born here. He came to West Branch—population 1,160—at the age of 16 months, the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson.

In announcing Johnson's appointment at San Clemente, Calif., Thursday, Nixon also disclosed he has ordered a study of means to improve benefits for returning veterans of the Vietnam war.

Johnson, a former national commander of the American Legion, will serve as chairman of the new study group, the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veteran.

In Johnson, the President said, the VA will have an administrator who has "the business background which qualifies him for administration, and he has a deep devotion to country which goes completely beyond any partisan consideration, although he does happen to be a Republican."

Johnson was born 45 years ago this week in Cedar Falls, Iowa, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris E. Hansen.

His father, a Danish immigrant gassed while serving with the infantry in France during World War I, died soon after Donald's birth. The boy was placed in the Danish Lutheran orphanage at Elk Horn, Iowa.

Johnson entered the Army as Donald Hansen, but had his name legally changed to that of his foster parents in 1947, after emerging from World War II as a technical sergeant.

He won the Bronze Star for bravery on April 2, 1945, in Germany.

After the war Johnson returned to West Branch where he worked in his foster father's poultry business. He currently is president of the West Branch Farm Supply Co. and secretary-treasurer of the S&J Poultry Co. Inc., of West Branch and Waterloo.

A 6-foot-5, 245-pounder with reddish blond hair, Johnson was elected national American Legion commander in Dallas, Tex., in 1964.

His first bid was for a seat on the local school board in 1959. His second bid came last year when he attempted to win the Republican nomination for governor.

Johnson has spoken out repeatedly against violence on college campuses, suggesting that students who protest the Vietnam policy should raise money to send representatives to Vietnam to "learn for themselves the true facts of life."

Johnson, his wife and nine children live in a 13-room white, frame, 2½-story house that is more than 50 years old.

Windsor Girl Is a Member Of Players

LIBERTY, Mo. — Touring Missouri for eight weeks this summer as the Ecumenical Experimental Drama Troupe are seven speech students from William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.

Included in the troupe is Phyllis Pursley of Windsor.

Working to stimulate interest in the use of drama in all churches and denominations, the group's selections include "Spoon River Anthology."

The troupe's performances are free, and will be held in various churches throughout the state. However, free-will offerings are taken to help defray costs of royalties and production.

Killed in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Spec. 4 Leonard L. Lewis, son of Maxine P. Lewis, Rt. 2, Fenton, Mo., has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Thursday.

College Dean Sees Evidence of 'Love'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When Sam Kipp, dean of students at Sacramento City College, arrived at his office Thursday he found the door covered and surrounded with flowers. In the center of it all was an anonymous note which read, in part:

"You are a beautiful human being . . . We realize that we are only human beings and you also, and that there are times of hate and times of love . . . and today is a time to love, the age of Aquarius, and that love shall rule the world."

Kipp recently has been the target of both student and school board criticism.

Golda Has Complete Control

JERUSALEM (AP) — Before she took on the complex job of prime minister, Golda Meir appeared to many Israelis as an elderly, overtired grandmother, fearful of the future.

But Israel's "Golda era" is three months old Sunday and nobody has any doubt left about who's in charge.

At 71, the widowed prime minister seems in excellent health. She has relegated many secondary tasks to her Cabinet colleagues to enable her to concentrate on matters of defense, foreign policy, atomic energy. Associates report she runs the Cabinet with iron authority.

One of Mrs. Meir's first acts was to abolish a no-smoking-in-Cabinet edict left over from the days of elder staesman David Ben-Gurion. She is a chain smoker.

Her outward image has not altered. She still ties her hair in a severe bun, shuns makeup and wears modestly colored knee-length dresses.

Her stamina is formidable. She shows up at every Cabinet meeting, besides averaging about three speeches a week throughout the country. She has even visited troops on the sweltering Suez Canal.

She also calls on her daughter, Sarah, and her grandchildren—living on a cooperative settlement in the Negev Desert—as often as possible, particularly for major Jewish festivals.

She cares little for publicity and here own image.

Mrs. Meir's term expires in November and it is not known whether she will run for office in the next general elections. At this stage it appears she can have the premiership again if she wants it.

She took office as France, Soviet Russia, Britain and the United States started discussing a Middle East peace settlement. She has so far resisted the big-power initiative, declaring Israel won't even consider their proposals.

Her speeches usually are short and delivered without prior writing. Her style is precise and laconic, and her American twang, picked up during her Milwaukee girlhood, makes her statements clear.

One of her favorite themes is woman power. She has called on Arab women to take the initiative for peace, declaring: "Women, whether Arab or Jewish, know only too well the pain of losing a son."

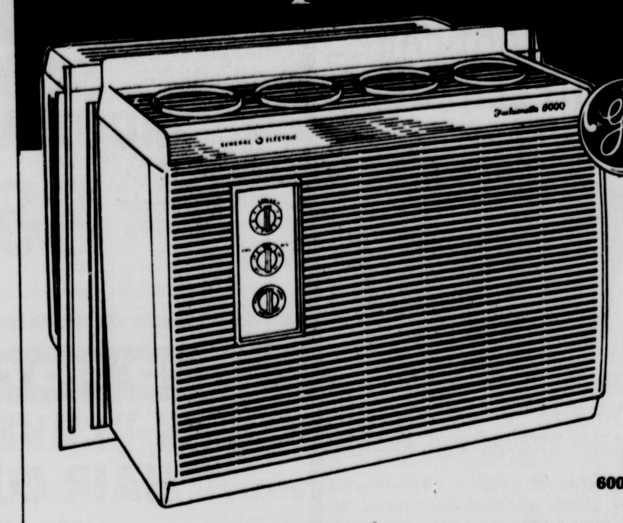

Ancient Resident

The bones of a prehistoric mastodon were uncovered by workmen during grading operations at new industrial park in St. Louis County. Linclay Corp., developer of the park, contacted St. Louis Museum of Science and Natural History and Missouri University, who are presently recovering the bones of the creature, which are believed to be 15,000 years old. Leonard Blake, left, and James G. House, second from left, St. Louis Museum of Science, and David Evans, second from right, and Dick Kraus, right, of MU examine the remains of the animal.

Retirement By I. H. Reed Set July 31

I. H. Reed

I. H. (Jim) Reed, president and general manager of Capital City Water Company, Jefferson City, has announced his retirement, effective July 31.

Reed, a veteran of 42 years in the water utility field, began his career in 1927 as corporate secretary of the Sedalia Water Company. Leter he became a member of the board, vice-president, and treasurer, and later president and general manager until the system was purchased by the City of Sedalia in 1957.

Shortly after joining the Sedalia Water Company, Reed's firm purchased the Capital City Water Company.

His resignation as general manager of the Sedalia Water Department came in 1958, after 31 years in Sedalia. Reed continued to live in Sedalia but served as a member of the board of the Jefferson City utility.

Reed was named vice-president and treasurer of Capital City Water, and in July, 1958, he and his wife moved to Jefferson City when he was elected president and general manager.

Reed is a member of the Greater Jefferson City Committee, Rotary Club, Board of Governors of Memorial Community Hospital, Boy Scout Council, the Governor's Emergency Resources Planning Committee, American Water Works Association, of which he is a lifetime member; Missouri Water and Sewerage Conference, and Missouri River Public Water Supplies Association as a member of the board and treasurer. He and his wife are members of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Plans for the future include "looking forward to the leisure time my retirement will give me," Reed said. The Reeds reside at 124 Boonville Road, Jefferson City.

Nantucket Paper Adopts Modern Look

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — The Inquirer and Mirror, Nantucket's weekly newspaper, abandoned a tradition Thursday, dropping its old wide format for a standard sized newsprint.

The natives called the old paper "the Blanket" because of its five-foot width when its pages were opened.

The cost of obtaining the extra wide, high quality newsprint to fit on the paper's 70-year-old press dictated the change, said George W. Morgan, publisher of the 150-year-old newspaper.

Nantucket, 30 miles at sea off the Cape Cod coast, has a year-around population of little more than 4,000. But the paper has a circulation of 6,000, in every state in the union and in 15 foreign countries. Many subscribers are present or former summer residents.

A Family Prays

Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy along with family members attend a graveside memorial Mass for her late husband in the first anniversary of his assassination. The scene is Arlington National Cemetery. In the background are, left to right, Edward Kennedy (D-(Mass.); Mrs. Kennedy; Mrs. Edward Kennedy; and Mrs. Pat Lawford, the late Kennedy's sister. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it was over they came through the darkness down the slopes of the great cemetery at Arlington to place candles—hundreds of them—on a granite ledge near the foot of Robert Francis Kennedy's grave.

They had come—more than 5,000 persons—to mark the first full year since an assassin's bullet took the New York senator's life.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in a black suit, stood next to Ethel, his brother's widow. Hatless and wearing a simple all-white dress, she was in the center of the long row of Kennedy kin as the memorial folk Mass began Friday night.

Near the end of the line, standing a few paces from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, was Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, wearing a fitted black dress. A few yards behind her, across a hedge and a marble terrace, was the grave of another American leader, her first husband, President John F. Kennedy.

The Kennedy graves had been the goal of many visitors throughout the warm day. Ethel Kennedy came first, shortly after dawn, and knelt silently at her husband's stark white cross. Mrs. Onassis came late in the afternoon, pausing briefly at her brother-in-law's resting place, then walking the few steps to the eternal flame and black slate slabs that mark the graves of her husband and two of their children.

The Mass, beginning in the glow of sunset, had 15 guitarists and 70 singers and was led by white-robed Terrence Cardinal Cooke, Archbishop of New York.

"Robert Francis Kennedy was a man who responded with every breath and heartbeat to the destiny which called him . . .," the cardinal said. "He was a man of deep faith in God, in the future of his country, in the basic goodness of his fellowman."

The sevice at Arlington, conducted after dark and lit by candles, was strikingly similar to the circumstances under which Robert Kennedy was buried last June 10. Across the nation, other services were held.

A statue of "St. Francis of the Guns," constructed of guns turned in after the assassination, was dedicated in San Francisco.

Quotations from Robert Kennedy's speeches on peace, brotherhood and personal commitment were included in a Mass at the Paulist Center facing the Common in Boston.

At Arlington, the services concluded, the dignitaries filing to their cars, the crowd on the hillside above the two graves continued singing "the Battle Hymn of the Republic."

And when they left, hundreds of them bent, spontaneously to fix their glowing candles on the wall at Robert Kennedy's feet.

Reveal Plans Of Gravesite For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A white wooden cross will mark the permanent grave of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, with quotations from his speeches inscribed on a granite wall at the opposite end of a 38-foot long reflecting pool.

Plans for the $677,000 gravesite were announced Friday by the Army, but Congress still must appropriate $257,800 to start the project. The Kennedy family is to pay the rest.

Sen. Kennedy's temporary grave is only a short distance from the $2.4 million grave of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. The permanent gravesite will be on a grassy hill still within the 3.2-acre in Arlington National Cemetery set aside for President Kennedy, assassinated in 1963.

Corporal Missiles Used as Culverts

COTTS VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Back in 1951 when missiles were new and virtually handmade, the Army's 35-foot Corporal models cost about $1 million each.

This town of 3,678 bought three of the now obsolete rockets—minus secret parts—for $95 each from the Federal War Surplus Center.

Why?

They make excellent street culverts, said City Manager Friend Stone.

Consider Increase In Cost of Parking

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Parking meters will exact heavier tribute if measures considered by the St. Louis Board of Aldermen are approved.

Bills introduced following a "bleak" budgetary message by Mayor A. J. Cervantes would halve the time motorist may park for a penny or nickel.

A penny, now good for 12 minutes parking, would be good for six.

Nickels would purchase 15 minutes parking instead of a half hour.

Ship's Captain Describes Mishap

SINGAPORE (AP) — The captain of the Australian carrier Melbourne said today his ship was carrying out "standard maneuvers" Tuesday when it collided with the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans in the South China sea.

Capt. John Phillip Stevenson, 48, said he was in physical control of Melbourne at the time of collision.

Stevenson, at a news conference on the quarter-deck of the 20,000- ton flagship of the Australian fleet, refused to discuss details of the collision. He said these would come out at a joint U.S.- Australian inquiry at Subic Bay in the Philippines Monday.

In a prepared statement Stevenson said that he was in tactical control of the Melbourne and a string of five destroyers, including the Frank E. Evans.

"It was a clear moonlight night with very good visibility and a calm sea," he said.

"As on previous nights the ship was fully darkened in simulated wartime conditions and steaming at 18 knots carrying a zig-zag, or series of course changes, designed to make the submarine attack problem more difficult."

The destroyers were in an antisubmarine screen ahead of the Melbourne at ranges of 3,000 to 10,000 yards, he said.

"In accordance with the program, aircraft were to be operated from Melbourne at 0330, and at 0310 I ordered the Frank E. Evans to move from her screening station to a position 1,000 yards astern of the Melbourne to prepare for rescue destroyer operations," Stevenson said.

"It was in the course of this maneuver that the collision occurred."

Stevenson said crew members of the Melbourne jumped aboard the destroyer from the flight deck to help rescue American sailors.

He said the stern section of the destroyer, which remained afloat, was secured alongside Melbourne's starboard side within three minutes.

He said 119 Americans were rescued within two minutes after the collision from the fore part of the destroyer which capsized and sank almost immediately.

An additional 80 Americans were rescued from the aft section. One body was recovered and 73 Americans are still missing.

Guided by the chief of the Australian navy public relations, David Green, Stevenson politely but firmly deflected all questions about the cause of the collision.

He refused to say on which side of the Evans the point of impact was although he said the stern half of the destroyer bumped down the starboard side of the Melbourne, indicating the American ship was hit on the port side.

Under normal rules of the sea a ship with its port side facing another ship has right of way. But in the case of naval maneuvers these rules depend on special conditions, such as an aircraft carrier taking on or launching aircraft.

Stevenson said he was about to land one aircraft and send another off when the impact occurred.

The captain, a former Australian naval attache in Washington, said the collision occurred at 0315, five minutes after he had given the order for the Evans to change station from ahead to astern.

Stevenson said the Melbourne and the Evans had carried out the maneuver that ended in collision "many times" during the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) exercise in which they were part of a 40-ship convoy.

The 20,000-ton carrier tied up at the Sembawang shipyard for drydock repairs after a 600-mile voyage at 6 to 10 knots from the scene of the collision 280 miles southeast of Saigon. A flotilla of Australian, British and New Zealand warships escorted her.

It was the second time that the Melbourne has returned to port with it's bow buckled after a disastrous collision. The first time was in 1964, when the carrier sank the Australian destroyer Voyager with the loss of 82 lives.

The whole front of the carrier was shattered and twisted metal from the waterline to the flight deck.

The Australian ensign fluttered at half mast for the American victims of the collision. A band played a somber tune, and the crew was lined up along the flight deck in tropical whites.

Charlene Marie O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.M. O'Connor, 901 West Broadway, was awarded an associate arts degree at commencement exercises at Sullins College, Bristol, Va., June 1.

Altrusa Holds Luncheon

The Altrusa Club met at the Bothwell Hotel June 2 for a noon luncheon. Mrs. Mildred Goddard, chairman of the International Relations committee, gave a talk on her trip to Italy.

Robert Browning said it this way, Mrs. Goddard told the group, "Open the heart and you will see, 'graved inside of it, Italy."

Cortina is one of the best known Italian mountain resorts and is surrounded by some of the most majestic peaks in the Alps, she said. Being the first tourists of the season to arrive, Mrs. Goddard said, which was in May, the rooms were void of heat, the weather cold and the mountains covered with snow. She added, however, it was very beautiful. This city was the setting of the 1956 Olympic games.

Venice, with its canals, she said, is a wonderful city, sprawling over 117 islands, two and one half miles from the mainland of Italy and one and a half miles from the open sea. Its streets of canals, 150 of them spanned by more than 400 bridges during the Renaissance, was the richest and most powerful city in the world. Great wealth flowed through its port, churches and palaces were built which had Oriental splendor. It is famous for its blown glass and, of course, its gondolas, she said.

Florence, with its art treasures, is known throughout the world. Santa Croce Church is where many famous Italians are buried, among them Galileo and Michaelangelo.

Rome, the Eternal City, is crowded with monuments of its long and vigorous past, many in a state of picturesque ruin, she said. No one knows exactly when it began. It, today, as the capital of the Republic of Italy, has a population of two million. The poverty along the countryside is sad, Mrs. Goddard said. There is no modern method of agriculture and a great lack of electricity.

Mrs. Goddard concluded her talk with the ancient prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

Mrs. Marjorie Willians presided over the business meeting and the club voted to give 10 dollars to the Girl Scout program and five dollars to help defray the expense of the Little White House Conference on Children and Youth, which will be held June 20 at Liberty Park. The conference will include representatives from Pettis, Benton and Saline Counties.

Odd Costumes Show Up at Graduation

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Amherst College held its 148th commencement Friday with a number of its aspects not on any program, either this year or previously.

One group of graduates, some with beards and long hair, disdained academic robes and wore dungarees, sandals and other informal gear, with a pair or two of bare feet showing.

About 60 graduates wore red armbands denoting they were protesting something. In some cases one student wore the traditional mortarboard, but not the gown, while others wore only the gown.

One student wore a garland of green leaves over his gown.

And over it all a student rock 'n' roll band, hooked up to full volume amplifiers blared away, drowning out parts of some speeches and songs by a choir.

In Ranks

SP4 Charles E. Jackson, Jr., whose parents live on Route 3, Sweet Springs, was awarded the U.S. Army Berlin's Guardian of Freedom Award May 13 while serving with the 181st Transportation Battalion near Mannheim, Germany, according to the Army.

He earned the award for outstanding service as a truck driver in the battalion's 51st Transportation Company.

The specialist entered the Army in April 1968 and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, where he was last stationed.

SSgt. Edward M. McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McKenzie, 1014 South Massachusetts, is a member of a unit that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sergeant McKenzie, an administrative supervisor in the 21st Composite Wing at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit.

His unit was cited for its outstanding record in areas of combat readiness, training and support of the Southeast Asia effort. This is the third consecutive award the wing has won since its formation in July 1966.

Warrant Officer David F. Richards, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Richards, 504 West Pettis, has been assigned to duty in Vietnam.

Prior to this assignment, he was stationed with the U.S. Army at Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass., where he received the Distinguished Service Medal for his participation in key projects during air drop tests.

Pvt. David Garnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Garnett, California, completed basic training May 29 at Ft. Leonard Wood. He has been assigned to Fort Knox, Ky., for nine weeks training in radio communications.

Airman Robert E. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Rutherford, Warrensburg, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

He has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., for training in communications electronics systems. Airman Rutherford, a graduate of Warrensburg High School, attended the University of Texas.

U.S. Air Force Airman First Class Donald L. Vernon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Vernon, Eldon, has arrived for duty at Eimendorf AFB, Alaska.

Airman Vernon is assigned as a supply inventory specialist with a unit of the Alaskan Air Command. He previously served at Whiteman AFB, Mo.

U.S. Air Force Master Sergeant Russell M. Pile, brother of Glynn O. Pile, Houstonia, has arrived for duty at Andrews AFB, Md.

Sergeant Pile is assigned as a flight engineer with the 89th Military Airlift Wing, the special Air Force unit which provides air transportation for the President of the United States and other top government officials.

Several Ways To Prove Age For Benefits

Nationally, about 45 percent of the people applying for Social Security retirement benefits have a birth or baptismal certificate to prove their age, but in this area, C. Kent Charles, Social Security district manager said, the percentage is a little lower than the national average.

In many areas of the country, he said, the keeping of birth records was not systematic or well-organized at the time today's retirees were born. While the best proof of age, Charles noted, is a birth or baptismal record recorded before the fifth birthday, other records can be used if neither of those documents is available.

Charles said he had seen some very unusual documents that have been used in establishing the age of a beneficiary. One of the more unusual ones was a picture of a headstone over the grave of a claimant's deceased wife, on which the claimant's name and date of birth had been carved. The only thing missing, he added, was the date of death.

Most people need not go to that extreme to establish their age, Charles said. There are several documents that may be readily available. Among these are school or church records, federal census records, employers or unions records, fraternal organization records, old insurance policies, children's birth certificates, immigration records, and others, he said.

Do not try to re-use cartons from cottage cheese, ice cream or milk for freezing foods.

Entertainment Is First for Rogers

NEW YORK (AP) — Who'd ever think of doing a children's show in which entertainment is subordinated to emotional needs? Fred Rogers did, and for it he won a coveted Peabody Award.

His "Misterogers Neighborhood," distributed by National Educational Television and seen on 120 public television channels daily, is a low-keyed mixture of talk and songs and puppets.

For children 2 to 11 it's like a visit with a favorite uncle, and is as much fun as rummaging through attic treasures on a rainy Saturday. For parents it's an oasis in the vast wasteland, and many say they sit down to enjoy it with their children.

Rogers' whole approach is summed up in the song he sings at the end of each show: "I like you as you are, exactly and precisely. I think you've turned out nicely. I like you as you are."

His total acceptance of his young audience has not been lost. In some cities "Misterogers Neighborhood" outpulls its commercial rivals. On a visit to Los Angeles in March, 6,000 kids mobbed him.

The commercial children's shows are about the only thing that upsets Rogers, 40, a tall, reed-thin man with special training in child development. He was ordained as a Presbyterian minister in 1963, the same year he began "Misterogers Neighborhood."

In accepting the Peabody Award for the best children's television show, he warned that "we must stop mad bombardment of children under the guise of entertainment — even educational entertainment — with no regard for morally developmental implications."

"There is almost a total disregard for the inner needs of children," he said late in an interview. "For instance, when a 3-year-old sees a cartoon animal with big teeth he focuses on the teeth because he happens to be in a stage where he thinks a lot about biting.

"Our program is based on developmental tasks children need to focus on," he said. "I feel that drama comes from within."

Rogers has done shows built around such themes as going to the doctor, the optometrist and hospitals.

"Children like to be told," he said. "I want them to know what the hospital room's going to be like. I like to know myself."

"Misterogers Neighborhood" originated over WQED-TV Pittsburgh, where Rogers works closely with the Arsenal Family and Children's Clinic. "When I have time I take my puppets there and see what their reaction is to various themes," he said.

The series is financed by NET, its affiliated stations and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, which saved the show from oblivion last year with a $150,000 grant. The budget allows about 65 new shows a year at a cost of about $5,000 each. By comparison, NBC's "Banana Splits Adventure Hour" takes $156,000 a show.

An Unofficial Vote

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — The North Dakota Supreme Court came to a 4-1 decision Thursday that it was uncomfortably hot in the courtroom. While arguments on a case, the court took a 10-minute recess and four of the justices returned to the bench without their heavy black robes. Chief Justice Robert Teigen was the only justice who kept his robe on during the rest of the session.

Anti-War Protestors Get Terms

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Eleven war protestors were sentenced to two-year prison terms Friday, as supporters chanted and sang outside the courtroom.

The 11 were among 12 members of the "Milwaukee 14" who were convicted of theft, arson and burglary in connection with the seizing and burning of draft records Sept. 24. They were given concurrent two-year terms for theft and arson and four years' probation for burglary.

The 12th defendant who was convicted, the Rev. Jon Higginbotham, 27, of St. Cloud, Minn., asked that his sentencing be postponed until he could retain an attorney. Sentencing for him was set for Monday morning. The 12 had dismissed their attorneys at the beginning of the state trial.

The other two members of the Milwaukee 14 had requested separate trials. Michael D. Cullen, 26, of Milwaukee, still faces both state and federal charges and the 14th man, Jerold T. Gardner, 25, of Milwaukee, was sentenced to one year in prison Wednesday after pleading guilty to a federal charge of interfering with operation of the Selective Service System.

The 12 who were convicted on the state charges are scheduled to go on trial Monday in federal court on charges of conspiracy, destroying government records and interfering with the operation of the Selective Service System. The first two charges were dropped in Gardner's case on the recommendation of the U.S. attorney. The 12 have dismissed their attorneys in the federal case, too, they said Friday.

Sentenced along with Ojile were: the Rev. Anthony J. Mullaney, 39, Boston; K. Basil O'Leary, 48, Winona, Minn.; James H. Forest, 23, New York; the Rev. Robert Cunnane, 36, Stoughton, Mass.; the Rev. Alfred L. Janicke, 33, Minneapolis; the Rev. James W. Harney, 28, Boston; Douglas Marvy, 27, Minneapolis; Donald Cotton, 24, Milwaukee; Robert E. Graf, 25, Milwaukee and the Rev. Lawrence Rosebaugh, 24, Milwaukee.

Goes Back in Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Show world's liveliest link with yesterday is a bouncy, ginger-haired man named Max Morath who oddly shuns nostalgia.

"I don't care about it in the sense of using it to get an easy hand. Like the sort of thing that happens when you go into 'Bill Bailey.' What's important here is relevance."

"Here" is a solo entertainment that is a solid off-Broadway hit of excessive title, "An Evening With Max Morath at the Turn of the Century." It arrived several months ago at the Jan Hus Theater and has been pulling throngs steadily since. The 42-year-old star sets out on a coast-to-coast tour with the show June 16.

In Morath terminology, the century turn extends from the mid-90s through World War I.

"I believe its appeal for people today is a sort of prenatal memory," he airs a bit of amateur anthropology. "That period I'm convinced has more to say to our own times than any other stretch of history.

"We're constantly worrying our heads off and self-pitying ourselves because we live in a world of constant change that we can't cope with.

"Well, all the changes we're living with began right in those few years—motion pictures, the automobile, flight, recorded sound, the telephone—all popped up in there. Then you throw in a few other things like Freudian psychology, the start of the revolution in art and literature, and you can understand why what happened then interests audiences now."

From his mother and an uncle —"he was a real swinger"—the youthful Max learned about the ragtime rhythm that had flowered during the St. Louis Fair of 1904.

Doodling around on the family piano, young Max found "I had the ragtime beat in my fingers —you either have it or you haven't." When he was ready for college, however, Morath became a physics major.

Paying his own way, the energetic youth branched into radio announcing, and after two years of science studies switched to courses geared to broadcasting and television. During summer breaks, he got involved in production of period melodramas up at Cripple Creek, Cllo. Without deliberate planning, Morath found his penchant for ragtime drawing him into other aspects of those good old days.

Propose A Delay On ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal which would delay deployment of an antimissile system for a year—while radar and computer components are being tested—is being forged by a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

The recommendation expected from the research subcommittee would be aimed at averting a bitter Senate showdown over the Nixon administration's Safeguard antiballistic missile —ABM—program.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., first put forth the compromise two weeks ago, and it is now understood to have the support of two other members of the five-man subcommittee—Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., the chairman, and Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

The recommendation, which would be purely advisory to the full committee, comes as the Senate fight over the ABM moves toward its final stages. The committee is preparing to start next week to write the $25 billion military procurement bill.

Administration spokesmen previously have reacted coldly to proposed compromises which would delay deployment while providing for continued ABM research. President Nixon's program calls for the beginning of construction at two sites and funds to buy land for 12 more sites.

Critics who see ABM as escalating the arms race or as a waste of defense money have fought for a delay in the actual start on missile site construction. Most have said they would agree to continued work, however.

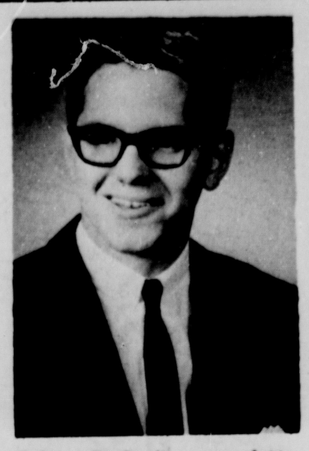

With polls showing the Senate almost evenly split on the ABM issue, Republican leaders continue to insist they will win the fight.

But Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP whip, said Thursday that he "would see no objection" to acceptance by the Nixon administration of a limited compromise in order to insure victory.

Brooke and McIntyre, however, want to put a compromise into the legislation and hope to have unanimous support of the subcommittee. But its other two members, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., are Safeguard supporters and would be unlikely to endorse scaling down unless the administration approves.

Scott emphasized he was speaking just for himself and indicated that part of his role as assistant floor leader is to float trial balloons.

The most recent Associated Press poll showed 49 senators opposed to ABM deployment, 47 for and four uncommitted, but Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen claims at least two senators have switched to support the administration plan.

Robert D. Berlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berlin, 516 East Fourth, graduated June 1, from Baker University at Baldwin City, Kan., with a Bachelor of Arts degree in physiology. Mr. and Mrs. Berlin, together with members of the family, attended the graduation exercises, held in the Rice Auditorium.

Loans to Students Called Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of banks and other money lenders, setting the stage for what one official says will be a "real loan crunch," are telling the government they may have to sharply curtail or end student loans.

"It may just be sabre rattling," said an official of the insured loan bureau in the U.S. Office of Education, "but we are definitely concerned over a real loan crunch this summer."

At stake is more than $640 million in government guaranteed loans now going to 750,000 students under the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Under the act the government guarantees loans of up to $1,000 and a large part of the interest for almost any student certified as attending a college or university.

As commercial interest rates climbed, Congress last year raised the ceiling from the original 6 per cent ceiling to 7 per cent.

Earlier this year, however, the prime interest rate—the rate banks charge their most favored customers—spurted to 7½ per cent. With the actual rate that most lenders charge being closer to 10 per cent, most institutions prefer to sink their money into something besides students.

The executive of one Midwestern bank with $5 million in student loans said it would be "folly" to continue them unless the law is changed.

The government official also said the crisis arises at a time when the government already is under fire from colleges and universities for cutting back the 10-year-old national student defense loan program.

Under that program colleges and universities make loans directly to needy students with money that is 10 per cent theirs and 90 per cent federal.

While the defense loans are intended for needy students only, the higher education act was aimed at any student.

"But it's the poor student who will get hurt. Banks and other lenders probably won't turn away the sons and daughters of good customers," said the insured loans official.

Several proposals have been made in Congress or are expected that would raise the guaranteed rate or provide some alternative such as granting lenders the right to charge a fee for each loan application or making some fee arrangement for volume.

The administration is now preparing its own proposal that is expected to go to Congress shortly, but officials declined to give any details.

Virtually all student loans are made in July, August and September, officials say, and therefore it will be several weeks before trends show whether the lending institutions actually will carry out threats to shut off the loans.

May Wedding Vows Join Miss Alee, John Baker

CLARKSBURG — Miss Aneta Allee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allee, California, and John Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, Clarksburg, were united in marriage May 17 at the Clarksburg Baptist Church.

The Rev. Ronald Gross officiated at the evening ceremony.

Miss Jody Minturn, pianist, accompanied vocalist Jack Voight.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose an empire gown of peau de soie fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves, and chapel length train attached at the waist. Lace trimmed the neckline and sleeves. A headpiece of organza and lace petals, trimmed with seed pearls and crystal, secured her bouffant veil of hand rolled silk illusion and she carried a Dutch colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses.

Miss Janice Allee was maid of honor and Miss Kathy Allee was bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. The attendants wore yellow empire gowns styled with long full sleeves fitted at the wrists and daisy trim. They wore matching yellow bow headpieces and carried bouquets of daisies with white streamers.

Miss Angela Gist, Kansas City, was flower girl, in a dress similar in style to that worn by the other attendants.

The groom chose a nephew, Jim Clutter, as best man. Lee Robertson, Tipton, cousin of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers and candlelighters were Kenneth Bollinger and Forrest Knipp. Master Robbie Baker, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allee chose a two-piece blue suit and black accessories. The mother of the groom was attired in a three-piece pink suit with beige accessories. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Serving were Wanda Bollinger, Katie Schlup and Judy Voigt. Georgia Buckhart and Jean Hagerman were in charge of the gifts and Debbie Allee attended the guest book.

The new Mrs. Baker is a graduate of California High School and is presently employed by Como Electric, Tipton. Mr. Baker, a Tipton High graduate, has finished his tour in Vietnam and is currently employed with Ceco Construction Co.

The couple resides in Clarksburg.

A Pink and White Setting For Turner, Barker Vows

HIGGINSVILLE — Miss Wanetta Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie I. Turner, Route 5, and Ellis Wayne Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Barker, Higginsville, were united in marriage May 24 at Central Christian Church.

The Rev. Melvin Stroud officiated at the double ring ceremony before altar decorations of pink gladiolias, pink and white mums and seven branch candelabra.

Candlelighters were Marvin Turner, brother of the bride, and Darrell Barker, brother of the groom.

Organist, Melody Simmons, played "The Green Cathedral" and "The Hawaiian Wedding Song."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an empire gown of metalic brocade satin with attached train, long sleeves and sabrina neckline. A tiara of white roses and seed pearls secured her elbow length veil of silk netting and she carried a white Bible topped with Catalina orchids and streamers. Her only jewelery was a pair of diamond earrings.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Virginia Seifner, Smithton, sister of the bride, was attired in a floor length gown of pastel pink embossed brocade taffeta with matching headpiece and she carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Nova Blue, Mrs. Mary Truitt, Miss Cheryl Turner, sisters of the bride, and Phyllis Sajhen. They wore identical floor length A-line gowns of embossed brocade taffeta and matching headpieces. The gowns were pastel shades of yellow, orchid, green and blue, respectively, and each attendant carried a cascade bouquet.

The bridal gown and gowns worn by the bridesmaids were all made by Mrs. Mary Truitt and Miss Cheryl Turner, sisters of the bride.

The groom chose Kenneth Van Boeing, Higginsville, as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Mike Turner, brother of the groom, Bob Truitt, brother-in-law of the bride, and Wayne Schowengerdt.

Serving at the reception following the ceremony were Mrs. Thomas Bridger and Miss Donita Hainline, cousin of the bride, Mt. Ayr, Ia. Attending the gift table was Miss Hainline, and Miss Susanna Turner, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the bride wore a pink and white voile dress purchased during a recent trip to Hawaii.

The new Mrs. Barker is a graduate of Smithton High School and has attended Central Missouri State College.

The couple will reside in Higginsville.

California Bride Wed In Kansas Ceremony

LAWRENCE, KAN. — Miss Cheryl Elaine Beeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beeler, California, and Chrisopher Lynde Samelson, son of Mrs. O. W. Samelson, Ruidoso, N.M., and the late Mr. Samelson, were united in marriage May 31 at the St. Lawrence Chapel.

The Rev. Donald Redmond officiated at the afternoon double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of yellow gladiolas and white daisies.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with long tapering sleeves and bouffant skirt. Seed pearls and irridescent sequins embroidered the fitted bodice and a lace bow accented the skirt at the back waist. Her short brush veil of illusion fell from a cluster of lace petals edged in seed pearls, and she carried a nosegay of white roses surrounding a cymbidium orchid.

Maid of honor, Miss Joyce Schneider, was attired in a mint green street length dress of crepe and chiffon and matching headpiece. She wore a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

The groom chose LeRoy DeNooyer, Kalamazoo, Mich., as best man. George Mazaitis, Pittston, Pa., seated the guests. Miss Martha Harmonson, Tacoma, Wash., registered guests.

The bride's mother was attired in a blue three-piece suit and black and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a blue dress with lace appliques at the neckline and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

A wedding reception was held the following afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were registered by Miss Joyce Schneider.

A lace cloth over mint green covered the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered cake. Serving were Mrs. William Bretall, Sedalia and Miss Dorothy Schnedier, Union. Assisting in general were Mrs. Jack Bratten, Mrs. John Stewart and Mrs. LeRoy Henry, cousins of the bride. The hostesses wore corsages of white carnations.

For traveling the bride chose a yellow dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After a trip to southern Missouri the couple will reside in Lawrence, Kan. The groom will continue his studies for a PhD in mathematics at the University of Kansas, where he is an assistant instructor. The bride received an MA degree in mathematics education June 1 and will be teaching at Tanganoxie, Kan., in the fall.

The wedding party attended a rehearsal dinner May 30 at the Virginia Inn, Lawrence, Kan.

Mrs. Michael Richard Maple

Miss Teresa Dick Becomes The Bride of Michael Maple

Bouquets of white gladiolas and killon daisies graced the altar, and emerald palms flanked the chancel steps of Sacred Heart Church for the afternoon wedding of Miss Teresa Anne Dick and Michael Richard Maple.

The Rev. Fr. Lawrence Growney, assisted by Fr. Maurice McQueen, Grandview, officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Dick, 1617 West 18th, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Maple, 721 West Fourth.

Tim McQuinn, cousin of the groom, Stanberry, and John Bazin, 1113 West Third, were servers of the Mass. Stanley Dick, brother of the bride, was acolyte.

Organist, Mrs. Earl Paxton, 710 West Second, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Richard Esser, Sr., as he sang, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," and Richard Esser, Jr., as he sang, "Ave Maria," and father and son as they sang, "Panis Angelicus." As the bride placed a single white rose at the altar of the Virgin Mary, father and son sang, "Mother at Your Feet I'm Kneeling."

Mr. Dick escorted his daughter down the white carpeted bridal aisle, passed pews adorned with white satin bows and rainbow flower clusters.

The bride selected a floor length gown of misty white organza fashioned with standup collar, long puffed sleeves and a tubular shaped detachable organza train lined in bridal taffeta. Swiss embroidery accented the collar, cuffs, bell skirt hem and formed a cumberbund at the natural waistline. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a pillbox of Swiss embroidery and she carried a cascade of phaelenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Maid of honor, Miss Tracy Dick, sister of the bride, was attired in an old fashioned gown of frosty silk organdy over icy blue, styled with a high lace collar, puffed sleeves, bustled back, and deeper blue velvet ribbon sash. She wore a wide brimmed white straw hat and carried a white garden basket of mixed daisies, pixie carnations, cornflowers and baby's breath in rainbow colors.

Bridesmaids, Miss Patty Maple, sister of the groom, Mrs. Marie Ellis, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Dorothy Mergen, Miss Susan Fechtel and flower girl, Miss Roxanne Dick, cousin of the bride, wore gowns identical in style to that worn by the maid of honor. Their gowns were pale lilac, mint green, petal pink, jonquil yellow and apricot, respectively.

The groom chose his brother, Douglas Maple, as best man. Groomsmen were Scott Dick, brother of the bride, Larry Ellis, brother of the bride, Warrensburg, Tom Logan, 2200 West Second and Ron Kruse, 905 South Sneed. Seating the guests were Ward Kniest, 706 West Fifth; Don McQuinn, Stanberry; Jack Rouchka, 600 East Ninth and Gary Weller, 3131 South Kentucky.

Ringbearer was Victor Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dick.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dick chose a two piece suit of pink silk linen, a pink flowered hat and dyed-to-match accessories. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Maple, was attired in a pink summer knit suit, pink hat and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Tiffany House following the ceremony.

White lace over white satin covered the bride's table which was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a silver cross and pastel flowers. Silver candelabra garlanded with smilax flanked the cake. Floor-length lace cloths covered the two side tables which held a silver champagne fountain and silver punch service.

Serving were Miss Mimi Gonser, 1619 West Broadway; Miss Tina Duff, Kansas City; Mrs. Donna Koechner, Independence; Miss Betty Hogan, 602 West Seventh and Mrs. Phillis Wiltfong, Green Ridge. Mrs. Mary Jean Esser, 1021-A Harrison, was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling the bride selected a white suit dress trimmed in navy and white polka dots, a large hat with matching band, navy accessories and white orchids.

The new Mrs. Maple has attended Sacred Heart High School; St. Mary's, Xavier, Kan., and will receive a B.A. degree from Central Missouri State College at the end of the summer term.

The groom, a graduate of Sacred Heart High, is a senior at Central Missouri State College.

A coffee and linen shower in honor of Miss Dick was given March 29 by Mrs. William K. Gibson and Mrs. J. F. Wiesing at the home of Mrs. Gibson, 210 Driftwood Drive.

Aunts of the bride-elect, Mrs. James Dick, Mrs. William Dick, Mrs. Robert Dick, Warrensburg; Mrs. A. V. McKinney, Raytown and Mrs. Herman Logan, Blue Springs, feted Miss Dick with a kitchen shower April 13 at the home of Mrs. James Dick, 115 South Gentry.

Mrs. Larry Ellis, Warrensburg, was hostess to a bridesmaids luncheon at Flat Creek Inn May 3. Mrs. Stephen Fechtel and daughter, Susan, and Miss Dorothy Mergen, Kansas City, were hostesses at a crystal and china shower May 10 at the Fechtel home, 1626 West 18th.

Mrs. Maurice F. Hogan and daughter, Betty, 602 West Seventh, honored the future bride with a luncheon and presented her with a silver tray.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maple, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner May 30 at State Fair Restaurant for members of the wedding party.

Plan Reunion

The 30th annual McMullin reunion will be held June 15 at Liberty Park.

Mrs. Eugene L. Lang

Morning Ceremony Joins Miss Eller, Eugene Lang

WARRENSBURG — An arched candelabrum flanked by four baskets of pale yellow gladioli, large white chrysanthemums and daisies, decorated the chancel of the First Christian Church for the May 10 marriage of Miss Mary Jay Eller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Eller, Warrensburg, and Mr. Eugene L. Lang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Lang, Tipton.

The double ring ceremony was performed Saturday morning with the Rev. Edward H. Kolbe of the First Christian Church and Msgr. Ernest J. Fiedler of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church officiating.

Organist, Mrs. William Morse, accompanied Mrs. C. L. Holdren, as she sang "More"; "One Hand, One Heart"; and "Walk Hand In Hand."

The bride, escorted by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin organza accented by bands of Alencon lace and pearls. The bateau neckline, which dipped to a V in the back, was finished with a large bow and full chapel train. A fez of lace and pearls secured her bouffant veil of bridal illusion, and she carried a colonial bouquet of daisies, lily of the valley, and leather leaf. Pearl heirloom earrings belonging to her mother and a small heirloom cross belonging to the family of the groom were also worn by the bride.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Douglas V. Johnson, Columbia. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Siegfried, Warrensburg; Miss Paulette Lang, Tipton; and Miss Jeanie Sue Tally, Springfield.

Mrs. Johnson wore a yellow floor length A-line gown with a wedding band neckline secured at the front with a matching bow. Similarly styled gowns of spring green were worn by the bridesmaids. Each carried colonial daisy bouquets with ribbon streamers.

Serving as best man was the groom's brother, Paul Lang. Groomsmen, James Gaines, Warrensburg; Monty Salzman, East Peoria, Ill.; and Stephen Dragowetz, Long Island, N. Y., also served as ushers with David Lang.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Eller, chose a dusty pink rose two-piece ensemble with pink accessories. Mrs. Lang, mother of the groom, wore a light aqua three-piece suit with white accessories. Both had daisy corsages with baby's breath.

Following a reception in the church parlor, was a wedding breakfast for the bridal party, relatives, and close friends at the Community House in Grover Memorial Park.

The reception table was covered with a white lace cloth, a gift to the bride from her grandmother, Mrs. Alvah E. King. Trails of leather leaf and white daisies complimented the three tiered wedding cake which was also decorated with fresh daisies and topped with a daisy nosegay. Silver appointments completed the setting.

Assisting at the breakfast were Miss Melinda Dobson, Leavenworth, Kans.; Mrs. Robert Schroer, Windsor; and Mrs. Gene Schackleford, Warrensburg. Receiving the gifts were Miss Mindy Honey, Lee's Summit and Miss Cathy Lang, Tipton. Miss Sharon Markley registered the guests.

For a wedding trip to the East coast, the bride wore a cocoa and beige coat and dress ensemble with brown accessories. Her corsage was a white phalanopsis orchid with lily of the valley.

Mrs. Lang attended Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, where she was a senior majoring in secretarial science. Mr. Lang attended CMSC prior to entering the Army. He was a member of the Acacia fraternity. He is presently assigned to Ft. Eustis, Va.

The couple is residing in Williamsburg, Va.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lang, hosted the rehearsal dinner at Flat Creek Inn, Sedalia.

New Members In Sigma Theta Tau

COLUMBIA — New members of Sigma Theta Tau, national honor society of nursing, University of Missouri, Columbia, were announced at June 3 pinning ceremonies.

Accepted into membership from this area were Miss Donna DeMott, Sedalia and Miss Sarah Vollenweider, Lexington.

Miss Margaret Turley, Boonville, received the nurse's pin.

Mrs. Everette Wood

Wedding Vows Exchanged By Miss Lamm, E. Wood

SMITHTON — In an afternoon double ring ceremony June 1 at the United Methodist Church, Miss Mary Catherine Lamm and Everette Wood were united in marriage. The Rev. Cal Hackman officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lamm, Route 2, Sedalia, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wood, Maysville.

Organist, Ellen Broyles played selected wedding music and accompanied Paul Shrout as he sang, "O Perfect Love," and the "Wedding Prayer," and Stephanie Gieshen, as she sang, "The Greatest of These is Love."

Spiral candelabra entwined with smilaw and arrangements of mums and gladiolas decked the altar as the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father.

She selected a traditional wedding gown of silk mist taffeta in an empire silhouette, styled with scalloped neckline, long tapering sleeves, and a court train released from fabric loops high at the back. Appliques of Provence lace framed the neck, edged the sleeves and accented the lifted waist. Petals of lace, outlined with seed pearls interspersed with pearlized sprays held her veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade of Phalenopsis orchids, stephianotis and green foilage.

Maid of honor, Miss Carol Raulston, Columbia, and bridesmaids, Miss Patty Ryan, Lansing, Mich., and Mrs. Harry Reicher, Mexico, wore identical empire gowns of frosty mint satin with lace sleeves, and each carried a cascade of yellow and white margurite daisies.

Serving as best man was Wayne Wood, Gallatin, and groomsmen were Marti Schroeder, St. Louis, and Mark Teter, Smithton. Seating the guests were Darrell Olgesbee, Carrollton; Larry Mudd, Leeton; Paul Siegel, Florence and Allen Sawford, Otterville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lamm chose a dress of pink crepe and matching accessories. Mrs. Wood was attired in a blue dress and white accessories. Both moters wore corsages of Cattalina Orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. White net over silk, accented with yellow bows, daisies and flanked by lighted candles covered the bride's table. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with the holy marriage emblem and surrounded with net and yellow daisies.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Wayne Wood, Gallatin; Mrs. J.C. Wagenknecht, Sedalia; Mrs. Lynn Wagenknecht, Smithton; Mrs. Harry Brauer, Smithton and Mrs. Dale Monsees, Smithton. Judy Moore was in charge of the guest book and Karen Moore attended the gifts.

For a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., the bride wore a pink suit, bone accessories and a corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Christian College and received a BS degree in education from the University of Missouri, Columbia. She has taught for the past year at Ft. Osage, Independence.

The groom received his BS degree in agriculture from the University of Missouri, Columbia, where he was a member of Alpha Tau Alpha fraternity. He has also done graduate work at MU. He is presently teaching vocational agriculture at Maysville.

The couple will be at home June 16 in Maysville.

Parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal buffet for the wedding party at the Fellowship Hall in the Smithton United Methodist Church.

A shower honoring the bride-elect was given May 10 at the home of Mrs. Gladys Wagenknecht, 625 West 4th, by Mrs. Oliver Bridges, Mrs. Wilma Griffin and Mrs. Tom Bridges.

Mrs. F. A. Schluesing and Mrs. William Green held a shower for Miss Lamm May 17 in the home of Mrs. Schluesing.

Mrs. Lynn Wagenknecht and Mrs. John Wagenknecht entertained for the bride-to-be May 29 in the home of Mrs. Lynn Wagenknecht.

Several parties were given by the Drama and Speech group of Fort Osage, Independence.

Observe L.L. Week

By VAUGHN HART
Sports Editor

Today marks the beginning of Little League Baseball Week. It is only fitting and proper that the mayor, signed a proclamation Wednesday that officially marks the local support of this organization.

Two million youngsters, their parents and leaders of more than 6,000 communities will participate in the observance of National Little League Week.

Originally set aside in Presidential proclamations by the late Presidents Dwight Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, Little League Week calls for nationwide attention to Little League movement as a wholesome, beneficial experience carried on in the public interest for boys throughout the world. Local communities conduct special events during this period to highlight the activities of the program and to encourage support and interest.

In announcing plans for Little League Week, president Peter J. McGovern said the occasion of an annual observance serves to re-affirm the dedication of thousands of men and women volunteers to the achievement of beneficial goals for the nation's youth. He emphasized that Little League is the only sports agency in the United States to hold Federal charter of incorporation and its role in cultivating a climate of decency, discipline and teamwork is vital to the preservation of American ideals.

Little League baseball was incorporated in Sedalia in 1952.

At that time, there were only 250,000 boys in the program throughout the world. Today, 17 years later, that number has increased to over two million.

Sedalia's first chartered year saw only 42 players and four major league teams take the field. That number has increased to 208 players, scattered throughout the 16 major league teams.

At the opening of the 1969 season, there were 30 A, B and C teams, with approximently 14 boys per squad, making a total of some 425 players in those three divisions. The 1952 minor league figure was only in the neighborhood of 100.

The year 1952 is not only significant because it was the first year of organized Little League play for Sedalia boys, but also because that year's Sedalia all-star team took third place in the Missouri Tournament.

At the completion of the '52 season, 14 boys were picked from the four major league teams to represent Sedalia in the state eleminiation toruney.

Members of that squad were: Marshall E. Bryan, Patrick R. O'Mealy, Larry Shepherd and Larry Abney of the Jaycees' team; Donald Harbit and Charles S. Newman of the Kiwanis; Gary A. Beymer, Bill Sutton and Melvin L. Brown of the Elks; Quience Jones, Tommy Herrick, Nicky Nichols, Dale Burford and Dale Miller of the championship Rotary team.

The two managers of that squad were George R. Thompson and Cecil B. Dump.

Of those 14 players and two managers, only one, George Thompson is still in Sedalia.

During the history of Sedalia Little League, many odd things have happened, but none probably that can equal a feat recorded during early June, 1961, when the Adco C's played the Sedalia Ice C'.

The following article appeared in the June 26, 1961 edition of "Newsweek Magazine":

In the top of the first inning, the starting pitcher for the Sedalia Ice Co. Little League team walked his first nine opponents.

Eight pitchers, two hours, and countless walks, hits and errors later, Adco led Sedalia Ice, 45-0 and still no one was out.

Darkness mercifully halted the game. "Too bad we didn't get to bat," said Bill Wilson, manager of Sedalia Ice, "we've got some pretty good hitters, too."

To make the situation even more odd, Wilson today is still the manager of a Little League team; not of the Sedalia Ice team, but of Adco.

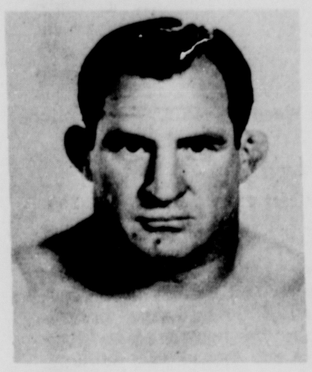

Richard Bahner, unfortunately was the losing pitcher during the Sedalia Ice-Adco contest. He will be a senior at Sacred Heart High School this fall.

Four civic organizations: Elks, Jaycees, Kiwanis and especially Rotary, were instrumental in the formation of Little League in Sedalia.

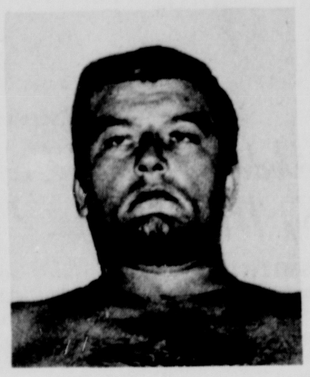

During a meeting on March 21, 1952, the Rev. Glenn Lindley was elected the first president of the new local organization.

Today, the organization continues to grow both locally and world wide.

The 46 Sedalia teams, 650-plus players and the more than 100 adults involved in the program deserve a big handshake for the entertainment and fine building of character that has evolved on the local level.

Pat O'Connor

K.O. Cox

O'Connor Will Defend Central States Crown

Pat O'Connor, reigning Central States champion, will defend that crown at Convention Hall Tuesday night when he meets a challenge from husky, hard-hitting K.O. Cox.

The two heavyweights, who tangled repeatedly last week, will battle over the best of three-falls distance.

O'Connor is at odds with Cox over a roughing the Denver grappler gave him here last Tuesday. O'Connor failed to score against Cox in individual action, then had to put up with his aggravating tactics in the eight-man team scrap. Several times Cox sneaked into the ring to kick O'Connor while the champion was on the verge of pinning one of Cox's partners.

Tuesday's semifinal will pit the Viking and Tor Kamata in another grudge affair. They were partners in team action last week, but didn't co-operate very well in the tag effort. When O'Connor had the Viking in what appeared to be a pinning hold, Kamata crept in to stomp O'Connor. He ended up stomping his own partner when O'Connor rolled to avoid the blows.

Newcomer Jim Osborn, a talented 230-pounder from Tulsa, will try his hand against stylish Bruce Kirk in the special event.

Opening the show will be a chain match between Ronnie Etchison and Frank Hester.

Etchison is unbeaten in that type of action over the season. Their pairing Tuesday will be one fall to a finish, with no disqualification.

Tim Morgan Is Named Assistant

MEMPHIS — Tim Morgan, a 1961 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, has been named as an assistant basketball coach at Memphis State University.

Morgan, who played for the Memphis State squad and later served as a student assistant coach, replaces Bob Stephenson on the staff.

"We are delighted that Tim is rejoining our staff," Coach Moe Iba of Memphis State said. "With the exception of one year, Tim has been a part of the basketball program—as a player or student assistant—since 1963."

A product of Sedalia, Morgan was an All-Missouri selection at Smith-Cotton and then played two years at Hannibal-LeGrange Junior College. He was an All-American and led the nation in total points with 938 his last season at Hannibal-LeGrange.

Morgan played two years at MSU, averaging 13.8 points per game in 1963-64 and 11.2 points in the '64-'65 campaign.

He was also an outstanding baseball player at Memphis State and signed a professional contract with the St. Louis Cardinals after the 1965 season. During his four years as a Class A. outfielder, he batted .280.

Morgan was the caoch at Catholic High School at Memphis until he accepted his new position.

Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hogan of 920 East 16th Street.

KC Blues Tickets Go On Sale

Kansas City — Season tickets for the 1969-70 Kansas City Blues Hockey Club games are now on sale, according to Blues' President, W.S. Morris.

An increase in ticket prices for the coming season is necessary, Mr. Morris stated, however, last year's season ticket holders who reorder prior to June 30 and new subscribers who sign up prior to June 30, may purchase their season tickets at last year's prices of $144, $108, $72 and $54.

After June 30, the prices will be $153, $117, $81 and $63. These prices are based on a schedule of 36 home games and subject to adjustment if more or less games are scheduled. This increase is only 25c per ticket per game.

Playing dates have not been finalized at this time, but tentative plans are to open the 1969-70 home season in the American Royal Arena on or about November 8th.

The Kansas City Blues led the Central Hockey League in attendance again this past season, recording over 174,000 fams for the regular season and two playoff games.

The Blues ticket office is located in the Hotel Phillips, Room 423, 106 West 12th Street, Kansas City, Missouri, telephone number, GR-1-4385.

The Blues' organization will hold training camp in Ottawa, Ontario, commencing Sept. 15, 1969.

Baptist Scores

Results of the Friday night action in the Baptist softball league show Calvary dumping Sedalia Harmony 20-10, New Hope falling to First Baptist, 11-10 and Mt. Olive a 10-2 winner over Syracuse.

Sedalia Ban Johnson Team Plays Tonight

The Sedalia Ban Johnson team will play its first home game tonight at Liberty Park stadium at 8 p.m.

The locals are currently in a tie for first place in the Central Missouri League as a result of their 10-2 win over Marshall, Thursday night.

The game was highlighted by Mark Kraxberger's two hit, 17 strikeout pitching.

Other Central Missouri League contests feature a day game between Centralia and Marshall at Marshall and a night contest at Tipton when they go against Boonville.

Third Try is Charm

Belmont Park, N.Y. — Arts and Letters, runner-up to Majestic Prince in both Kentucky Derby and Preakness, turns the tables in the Belmont Stakes Saturday. Order of finish was: Arts and Letters, Majestic Prince, Dike, Distray, Rooney's Shield and Prime Fool. (UPI)

Arts and Letters Gets Victory at Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Arts and Letters, a mite-sized colt with a king-sized heart, finally caught the great Majestic Prince and scored a smashing victory in the 101st Belmont Stakes that shattered the California canonball's bid for a Triple Crown. The time was 2:28 4-5.

The powerful Prince, previously unbeaten in nine starts, finished 5½ lengths behind the pounding hooves of the Rokeby Stables' perennial runnerup, with stretch-driving Dike third.

The longest shot in the field, King Ranch's Distray, at 50-1, was a surprise fourth with Rooney's Shield and Prime Fool trailing in the six-horse field.

The Prince had two lengths on Dike, who was 3½ in front of his pursuers.

The winner's time over the 1½-mile gleaming brown clay was 2 1-5 seconds off the record 2:26 3-5 set by Gallant Man in 1957.

A second favorite with the largest crowd ever to see a race at Belmont Park, 66,115 yelling spectators, Arts and Letters paid $5.40, $2.60 and $2.10. Majestic Prince returned $2.40 and $2.10 while Dike paid $2.10 to show.

It was disappointing day for the proud Majestic Prince, shooting for a 3-year-old sweep that had not been accomplished since Citation won the Triple Crown in 1948, and for his trainer, little Johnny Longden, and jockey Bill Hartack, who had been in the irons in close victories over Arts and Letters at the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

The defeat substantiated the early judgment of Longden, who won a record 6,032 races in a brilliant riding career and who sought to dissuade the Prince's owner, oil millionaire Frank McMahon, from racing the champion in this long and exhausting test.

Longden said Majestic Prince was tired and underweight and needed a rest after his Preakness victory. However, the owner, who bought the Kentucky-bred colt for $250,000 as a yearling, insisted that he ran and he did, but not much.

It was strictly the day for the Virginia-bred Arts and Letters, owned by Paul Mellon, who under the clever guidance of jockey Braulio Baeza, paced himself beautifully around the huge Belmont oval and grabbed the lead from Dike with one-half mile to go.

Then the little, raspberry-colored battler—at 15.2 hands, a full four inches shorter than the massive Majestic Prince, poured on the power down the straightaway and won going away.

"This time I wasn't behind him," said Baeza. "He was trying to catch me. He has been running beautifully throughout the Triple Crown.

"I didn't let him go until just before we hit the eighth pole. Nobody really knows if a horse can go a mile and a half. But, at the eighth pole, I didn't want to take any more chances to wait.

"I was holding my horse, trying to keep him relaxed early. He did relax and came back easy from Dike. I knew we were running slow at that stage, and I let him stretch out a little on the backstretch.

"Then Dike came out a little and I moved through on the rail."

Majestic Prince, the horse who had never seen a nose in front of him going across the wire, tried vainly to match the flashing stride of the little Virginian but it was no use as he finished a badly beaten second.

It was a third-time Belmont victory for both the trainer, Yale-educated Elliott Burch and the rider, Baeza, the latter having been substituted for Bill Shoemaker when the veteran was injured just before the Kentucky Derby.

Burch, son of the Hall of Fame trainer Preston Burch, trained Sword Dancer in 1959 and Quadrangle in 1964. Baeza won aboard Sherluck in 1961, paying the highest price in the history of the Belmont with $132.10, and Chateaugay, in 1963.

It was the second time that the suave and articulate Burch had spoiled a Triple Crown bid. He did it to Northern Dancer with Quadrangle in 1964.

Cash Hardware Holds Trap Shooting Lead

The third week of summer league trap shooting at the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club has set up the following standings: first, Cash Hardware; second, Vic's Package Store; third, Farmer's Merchant Bank; fourth, Third National Bank; fifth, State Fair Restaurant and Standard Fertilizer tied; sixth, Trojan Seed and Parkhurst tied; seventh, S & M, and Central Missouri Realty tied; eighth, E.. C. Bishop and Sons, Leroy's Steak House and Cargill Seed tied; ninth, Osage Thrift Shop and tenth, Ray's Skelly Service.

High team score Wednesday was Cash Hardware with 105.

High individual scores were: Bernard Dove, Green Ridge, 24 for 25; and Clifford Needy, Green Ridge; John Rose, Sedalia; and Bob Williams, Green Ridge, all 23 for 25.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

Pirates 10, Braves 2

ATLANTA (AP) — Steve Blass started two scoring bursts with singles and scattered six hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates crushed the Atlanta Braves 10-2 Saturday, ending a three-game losing streak.

Blass won his fifth game against two losses, beating the Braves for the fifth straight time in two years.

Cubs 5, Reds 5 (tie)

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds were rained out Saturday with the Reds batting in the top of the ninth in a 5-5game.

The Reds had two outs and a man on when the rains came, and after a 53-minute delay the umpires called the nationally-televised contest. The game will be replayed at a later date.

Giants 3, Phillies 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, making his first start since May 22, pitched a three-hitter Saturday as the San Francisco Giants blanked Philadelphia 3-1, stretching the Phillies' losing string to seven games.

Marichal, who had been sidelined with a pulled muscle in his side, struck out seven and walked three on the way to his sixth victory against two losses.

Yankees 6, White Sox 2

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Pepitone's 15th home run launched a four-run uprising in the second inning that carried left-hander Fritz Peterson and the New York Yankees to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Peterson, 7-6 blanked the White Sox on three hits until the eighth and finished with a five-hitter.

After Pepitone ended an 0-for-14 slump with his leadoff homer off Joe Horlen in the second, the Yankes filled the bases on singles by rookies John Ellis and Jim Lyttle and a walk.

The White Sox ruined Peterson's shutout bid in the eighth on Bill Melton's single, Ken Berry's double and a pair of run-scoring ground outs.

Forfeit, Three Wins Highlight Games

The Kentucky Fried Chicken petite Khoury League team forfeited their game Friday night to Sedalia Bank and Trust to open the night's softball play.

Union Savings downed Rod and Gun, 11-4 and Optimist squeeked by Sedalia Implement, 15-14 in the Khoury League chic division.

Sedalia Police was behind 7-1 in the top of the fourth inning, but they managed to score eight more runs in the last four innings to take a come-from-behind victory over Adco in the sophomore division.

Red Sox 4, Royals 0

BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Mike Nagy scattered nine hits for his first major league shutout and the Boston Red Sox backed him with a lusty early attack for a 4-0 victory over the skidding Kansas City Royals Saturday.

The loss was the ninth for the American League expansion club in its last 10 decisions.

Nagy, a 21-year-old right-hander, permitted only one runner to reach third base and was never in difficulty as he hiked his record to 3-0.

The Red Sox got Nagy the only run he needed in the first inning when Carl Yastrzemski walked, stole second and scored on Rico Petrocelli's double into the left field corner.

George Scott, who had hit a game-tying, 10th inning homer in his last previous at bat Friday night to help the Red Sox to a 4-2, 11-inning victory, drilled another homer — his sixth of the season — in the second inning to make it 2-0.

The Red Sox picked up two more in the fifth on consecutive singles by Dick Schofield, Dalton Jones and Yastrzemski and a sacrifice fly by Reggie Smith.

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Harmon Killebrew's 13th homer topped off a seven-run Minnesota burst in the fourth inning Saturday and Dave Boswell pitched the Twins to a 10-3 romp over Washington.

Dave Boswell, 7-6, blanked the Senators on four hits until the ninth, when he left the game with a blister on his pitching hand. Reliever Bob Miller lost the shutout on doubles by Mike Epstein and Ed Brinkman.

Records Are Smashed By AAU Qualifiers

Seventy-nine records out of 91 events run were broken Friday and Saturday at the AAU Junior Olympics Qualifying Meet at Jennie Jaynes Stadium. Only twelve records stood through the grueling pace set by about 700 youngeters under perfect weather conditions.

All the local winners qualify for the Missouri sub-district championship at Southeast High School in Kansas City June 21 at 9 a.m.

The first three place winners at Kansas City will qualify for the Missouri Valley District meet at Memorial Stadium, Kansas University, Lawrence, Kan. June 28.

Coach Max Fields, meet coordinator, said Saturday that next week Jennie Jaynes Stadium will be open for workouts and instructions from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday for the coming track programs as well as the Junior Olympic meets.

The Junior Olympics were sponsored locally by S and M Athletic Goods, and was part of the Sedalia recreation summer program conducted by Coach Fields.

The following is the results of the maet Friday and Saturday:

Question Why Namath Must Sell Restaurant

NEW YORK (AP) — Why does Joe Namath, innocent of any illegal entanglements, have to sell his swinging East Side nightspot in order to play professional football?

The answer to that question seems to be eluding most of the average fans who have quickly found their sympathies resting with the shaggy-haired New York Jets' quarterback in his dispute with Pro Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The dispute, said Namath in announcing his decision to retire rather than divest himself of his interest in the Bachelors III cafe that has become a hangout for gamblers, revolves around principle.

The principle, as Namath sees it, was stated in his own words at his press conference, tears rolling down his cheeks as he said:

"It's a matter of principle. I'm doing something now because I think it's right. I don't want to do it but I don't have any choice. What it comes down to its because I'm a football player, I can't be in the restaurant business."

That, however, isn't so. It's not a question of being in the restaurant business but what kind of clientele frequents the restaurant.

That's at the heart of the issue simply because any sports venture must have the complete confidence of the public that supports it to be successful. The integrity of the sport is vital to maintaining that confidence.

There is no doubt that a scandal, particularly a gambling scandal, would rock the foundations of pro football or any sport, much as it did almost two decades ago when the college basketball world was stunned by revelations of point-shaving by players.

That, of course, doesn't imply —and it's not intended to—that Namath did anything wrong or was in danger of doing anything wrong. It does mean that by owning a restaurant frequented by gamblers the conclusion could be drawn that he might be or could become involved.

It's guilt by association, but it's the only way sports ventures can maintain public confidence. Rozelle said as much when he issued a statement on the case, pointing out:

"It is obviously impossible for a player to be aware of the backgrounds and habits of all persons to whom he is introduced. However, continuation of such associations after learning of a person's undesireable background and habits is cause for deep concern.

"Such conduct gives the appearance of evil whether or not it actually exists and therefore affects the player's reputation, the reputation of his fellow players and the integrity of his sport."

That is at the center of the controversy.

Any sport in which there is heavy betting on results of games—and pro football may very well be No. 1 in that aspect —has to be above reproach. Pro Football has tried to stay that way.

To do that, the sport maintains a security force that numbers two fulltime employees and about 30 investigators around the country, usually working in league cities. Their job is to check rumors and watch for associations between players and people of an undesireable nature.

Professional football players constantly are kept aware of the problem of associating with those elements by frequent speenhes made to them by the security people in the commissioner's office, both during training camp and at various times during the season.

"It is the responsibility of this office," said Rozelle in his statement, "to advise individuals, both players and other club personnel, whenever any of their associations could possibly cause harm to their individual reputation or the game of professional football."

Dey's Hitting Leads O'Connor Softball Team

Bill Dey of the O'Connor Chevy-Buick softball team is batting a hot .640 for the first 12 games of the 1969 season.

Dey has compiled a record of 16 hits for his 25 times at bat.

Eight other O'Connor batters are hitting above the .300 mark. They include: Bill Ray, .388; John Higgins, .360; Don Delph, .346; Jim Fall, .333; Roy Jefferies, .333; Virgil Kurtz, .310; Doc Linzinbarth, .304 and Chuck Syn Sry, .363.

Bill Ray and Chuck Syn Syr both have a pitching average of .1000. Ray has won two and lost none, while Syn Syr has won four and lost none

Norbie Schuster is credited with the only loss thus far this season, but he has posted five wins against that one defeat.

'Skinning' the Other Guy

Consumating a business deal by trickery is the reflex of a mental affliction in nine cases out of ten.

Sharp practices in business recalls the character of a store owner in an eastern state who admitted to me his day was not a success unless he had pulled the leg of a customer or of someone from whom he bought merchandise. The amount didn't matter — it had only to be twenty-five cents.

For instance a wholesaler disallowed a discount taken on a purchase of goods because he made no discount offers. Next time a salesman came around the store owner would propose making a big purchase that would require checking by long distance telephone with the wholesale house. The salesman would put in the call, reversing charges, and then the store owner would deliberately drag out the conversation asking the main officer manager pertinent questions about a big order.

Afterwards the store owner would order from the salesman only what he needed and actually intended to buy in the first place.

But that evening the store owner would go home chuckling to himself how he had "gotten even" with the wholesale house for not allowing him that little discount long ago.

He had run up a big telephone bill against the wholesaler.

He "got even!"

—O—

Then there was another fellow with whom we did business and who thought he ought to have special privileges — that his rate for advertising should be discounted because he did so much of it.

Because he was not allowed a special concession he figured to get even with the newspaper. When he received proof of an advertisement for checking purposes he would deliberately make unnecessary changes. He figured this would cost the newspaper more to revise the advertisement — which it did — and thus he would console himself he had gotten more than his money's worth.

In the long run, slick trick artists become known for what they are and those who deal with them become wary and attempt their own methods of retaliation.

So it evens up, perhaps; nobody is happy, and everybody starts running down each other.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Coalition Crucial Issue at Midway

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — As surely as two rams on a collision course, Presidents Nixon and Thieu will bump heads at Midway over the question of accepting a coalition government in Saigon.

This is the Pikes Peak obstacle to a Vietnam settlement. All peace soundings indicate that the Communists will accept nothing less. President Nixon is prepared to negotiate the issue; President Thieu won't even consider it.

The Saigon government is willing to let the Communists vote in an internationally supervised election. In fact, preliminary steps have already been taken to amend the South Vietnamese constitution to give the Communists the franchise. But this does not mean the Saigon leaders will bring the Communists into the government. They won't.

On the eve of Thieu's departure for Midway, a delegation of generals called upon him and served notice that they could not accept a coalition government. If he ignored their wishes there is danger they would depose him.

On the eve of Nixon's departure he passed the word to Senate liberals that he would not rule out an interim coalition government as the price for peace in Vietnam. His re-election in 1972 may depend upon ending the Vietnam war.

—Troop Withdrawal OK—

The two presidents are prepared, of course, to put on a show of accomplishment at Midway. Even before the meeting was arranged, they had agreed upon an American troop reduction. This was spelled out in a secret paper which both governments endorsed several weeks ago. The final approval at Midway will be merely a formality, but it will produce headlines that will justify the meeting.

Only objection to the withdrawal schedule was raised by South Korea's bantam President Chung Hee Park. Thieu offered to fly to Seoul to sell Park on the withdrawal plan. Whiel Thieu was in Seoul, however, he sought Park's support against a coalition settlement. Thieu also stopped off at Taiwan to get Chiang Kai-Shek's backing. Thus Thieu has brought some aces to play in his diplomatic poker game with Nixon.

The South Vietnamese leader is expected to argue that any settlement based upon a coalition with the Communists would be a "counterfeit peace." President Nixon, in turn, is prepared to promise that the United States won't abandon South Vietnam and accept a "fraudulent peace."

Apparently, however, the President is unsure how hard we should pressure Thieu into a coalition settlement. He doesn't want to cause Thieu's ouster and bring back government-by-coup in Saigon. As evidence of his apprehension, he cautioned intimates not to expect too much from the Midway meeting.

Whatever differences may arise, the meeting is expected to be cordial. There has been a dramatic improvement in relations between Washington and Saigon since President Nixon moved into the White House.

—He Elected Nixon—

During the closing days of the Johnson administration, Thieu balked at participating in the Paris peace conference. This hitch in LBJ's peace efforts probably cost the Democrats enough votes to lose the election. Thus Thieu has reason to claim that he elected President Nixon, and to expect Nixon, in return, not to make a move that might cause the collapse of the Thieu-Ky government.

Meanwhile in Vietnam, Nixon has ordered Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander, to continue applying maximum military pressure upon the enemy. This is the strategy that ex-President Johnson adopted after the bombing halt, in the belief that it would take strength on the battlefield to bring peace at the conference table.

It was also LBJ who started training and equipping the South Vietnamese to replace American units in combat. Under the Johnson program, however, the South Vietnames were given specialized training to meet the internal threat. LBJ intended to keep American troops on the main fighting fronts as long as North Vietnamese units stayed in the country. The South Vietnamese were trained merely to prevent an internal takeover after the North Vietnamese withdrew.

President Nixon changed these orders. To hasten the day of American withdrawal, he directed that the South Vietnamese be readied to replace American troops on the line. They are now being trained to fight both Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese regulars.

Conclusion: As Nixon and Thieu meet in the mid-Pacific to explore the paths toward peace, the prospects appear improved, but a final solution of the Vietnam war remains elusive.

—Two Foundations—

This column was in error last week in implying that the traditional separation between the Peace Corps and the CIA was being relaxed.

The inference was based principally on the fact that ACCION, founded by the new head of the Peace Corps, Joe Blatchford, in South America had received $50,000 from the Donner Foundation, a reported CIA conduit. We now find that there are two Donner foundations and that the William H. Donner Foundation, which contributed to ACCION, has never been a CIA conduit.

We regret the error and further state that we are convinced the Peace Corps has no connection, direct or indirect, with the CIA.

As we have noted in the past, the Peace Corps has done an oustanding job of bringing the idealism of young Americans to many foreign countries. It was one of the finest projects initiated by President Kennedy and we feel sure it will continue so under its new administrator.

Democrat Pickups

A man who likes really to be comfortable when he goes to his place on the lake often takes out his teeth and puts them in his shirt pocket.

One day he had been having a real good time, then he brought in his boat, and prepared to leave it for the night. He went to the house and had a real nice supper and pleasant evening when he happened to put his hand to his pocket.

He gave a high-pitched exclamation.

"What's wrong?" his family wanted to know because they knew something had to be wrong from his tone of voice.

"I've lost my teeth," he told them, and with that they all got up and went out with him to the lake and the boat. They carried flashlights for by this time it was dark.

They looked and looked. It was almost a lost cause, they felt, and then suddenly somebody yelled: "Here they are."

The crisis was over and the man declared he would never do that again. He wouldn't take any more chances by putting dentures in his shirt pocket — but that pocket is so handy and the dentures are a nuisance, so now and then, forgetful of his promise to himself, into the pocket go the dentures. Probably one of these days he will have to have some new ones made. H.L.

Scientific Papers

The growth in the number of scientists and inventors has produced a world output of about 6 million scientific papers, which are now increasing at the rate of about 500,000 annually.

Post Office Deficit

The U.S. Post Office Department, which delivers more than 80 million pieces of mail each year, operates at a yearly deficit of about $1 million.

Looking Backward

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Now that Sedalia is destined to become by far the leading and most promising city in Western and Central Missouri, the question of suburban residences for merchants and business men, is one of no minor importance. Our northern suburbs extend almost continuously to Georgetown and the two communities are bound together in bonds of strong fraternal affection It is therefore proposed that a horse railroad or street car line be constructed to ply between the two places. Georgetown then would offer pleasant homes for our people with easy and agreeable means of transit eventually making it the Brooklyn of Sedalia.

FORTY YEARS AGO

John Riley, with the new business department of the City Light and Traction Co., here, has gone to Little Rock, Ark., where he is assistant to Sterling A. Lipscombe, recently transferred there from Sedalia as superintendent.

Task for Religious Writers: Guidance for the Perplexed

One does not have to travel far in the United States to feel the uneasiness, anger and tension welling up in our society.

Much of this sour mood is caused simply by the collision of one group with another. Students versus administration. Black militants and white police. Antiwar and win-the-war. Then add the flammable concoction of scientific change, religious uncertainty and 200 million people wondering about taxes, lung cancer and Czechoslovakia. Dwell on this enough and a slight feeling of calamity follows the news.

With this in mind, Joe Arnstein, senior vice president of Esquire, traced the program of his magazine on its 35th anniversary:

"Our editors feel that there is only one important area of service now, and that is to do whatever is possible to hold our society together."

Editors are sensitive to the crosscurrents troubling the American community. Secular publications are staying close to the alarms of the hour. Said John Johnson, editor of Ebony, to an audience in Chicago:

"All signs tell us that we are entering a new mood phase which will shape and guide editorial direction. The confusing groping of the American people constitutes a rare opportunity for magazine editors. It is an opportunity for us to define, clarify and resolve."

We should hope that religious publications will assume a great deal of the burden that comes with interpreting the times and giving guidance and understanding to perplexed people.

Some of the most thoughtful articles I have read and some of the most accurate predictions of things to come are found in small monthly magazines. In the religious field, this means some with only 3,000 readers, no advertisements and no newsstand circulation. They are terribly independent, frightfully honest and generally short-winded. Religion can use all of these qualities and you should consider reading as many of these as possible.

On the Catholic side of things, Jubilee ($6 per year, 232 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y.) has sparkle and polish.

The Commonweal ($10 per year, weekly, 232 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y.) is put out by laymen. It discusses topics like parochial education, birth control, priests marrying without any script from Rome. Very quotable.

The Protestant underground is led by Here and Now ($3 per year, 111 W. Monument, Dayton, Ohio). Great commitment to the Christian faith and large worries about the church. Had excellent piece on Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy. Excellent weathervane on the mood of young clergymen and radical laymen.

Christianity and Crises ($7 per year, bi-weekly, 537 W. 121 St., New York, N.Y.) small circulation but powerful readership. Senator McCarthy quotes C and C. May be the leading Christian intellectual magazine in the world today. Not found in cathedrals or airplanes.

Worldview ($4 per year, 170 E. 64 St., New York, N.Y.) connects religion and international affairs. No stained glass or chimes. Close to the peace groups.

If we cannot avoid a time of disarray and unpleasantness, we can at least understand it through the religious underground.

The student looked over dummy with no enthusiasm. There was that nice spade suit but he held the singleton ace and there was only one entry to dummy. Finally the student decided to play to trick two. He cashed his ace of spades, entered dummy with the ace of diamonds and laid down the king of spades. The queen dropped and everything was roses. The student counted six spades, three hearts, two diamonds and two clubs and claimed all the tricks.

"Could I have done any better?" he asked the Professor.

"You couldn't have made any more tricks but you could have played the hand a lot better," was the reply. "What would you have done if the queen of spades had not dropped?"

"I'd have gone after clubs and hoped that the man who won the third club wouldn't have a spade."

"Here is the correct play," said the Professor. "You want to make six and want to play as safely as you can to give yourself every chance. At trick two you cash your ace of spades. At trick three you play your eight of clubs and duck in dummy irrespective of what is played by West. You win whatever suit is returned, go over to dummy's ace of clubs and claim six if both opponents follow to that second club. If one shows out you can still lay down dummy's king of spades and hope to drop the queen."

"Your play wouldn't have made seven, would it?" asked the student.

"No," replied the Professor, "but I seem to recall that the contract was six."

The World Almanac reports that Chicago is not the windiest city in the nation in spite of its reputation. During the years 1931-1960, Midwest City, Okla., and Oklahoma City, Okla., each registered 13.8 miles per hour in mean annual wind velocity, highest among selected U.S. cities.

Clocks

Clocks are one thing that I find
Can destroy my peace of mind.
Not a one will try to please me,
I just think they try to tease me.
What time it is I never know,
Some run fast, some run slow.
Some just stop without a warning,
Alarms won't go off of a morning.
I go along with them until
At last for good their tick is still;
Sometimes I'm ready and just wait,
Again I find they make me late.
These clocks to wind, you understand,
I always try to keep on hand
In case the clock upon the wall
For a few hours won't run at all.
When the electricity fails
From summer storms or winter gales.
But brother, this one went amuck
The other night when lightning struck;
It was while I was in bed
A bad storm broke, so people said,
My clock had stopped at around two,
I'd have to set it, this I knew,
I did and later, when by chance
I gave that clock another glance
I saw 'twas earlier than when
I set it, so I looked again.
Real close, it really was a shock
To note I had a backwards clock,
The second hand seemed very gay
In its whirling the wrong way,
The other hands moved very slow
But backwards, too, I watched them go,
A backwards clock, well, indeed,
That's one thing that I didn't need,
And so I started out to buy
A kitchen clock, but I don't know why
I just couldn't seem to find
One I liked of any kind,
I thought that there must surely be
One I would like that I would see
And so I waited another day
Then saw the hands going the other way,
I set it again, and what do you know
It's going just like it used to go,
This sounds pretty silly, but then it's true
And a friend said: "This only could happen to you."

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Nixon's bedroom has been redecorated and what is the color scheme? It is red, white and blue.

Mrs. Nixon's favorite colors are gold and blue which she used to brighten the long dreary hall on the second floor. She kept her own bedroom much as Lady Bird Johnson left it but added a yellow damask spread over gold ruffles on the fourposter canopied bed.

Tricia is a pink and white girl — and those are her choice colors for her very feminine boudoir.

MANCHESTER (N.H.) NEWS: Free Haricuts for Hippies. — When a herd of hippies was found cavorting in the nude in a California canyon, a police helicopter was sent over their playground and an officer using a loudspeaker informed them, "You are trespassing on Indian lands. The Indians want you to leave. If you don't leave, you will be subject to arrest."

The press report on the incident stated, with remarkably appropriate phrasing, that when the warning was ignored the police swept into the canyon to "flush them out."

However, we believe that might have been a mistake.

It might have been better to have left matters in the hands of the Indians. Interested in protecting their own lands from intruders, they doubtless would have exercised the necessary firmness to show the hippies the error of their ways, and we understand that in past years the Indians of the Western states were considered experts at giving extremely close haircuts.

Greed, No Matter Whose, Is Mark of Social Pariah

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have to pay our 13-year-old boy a dollar to bind up old magazines and newspapers which accumulate in the basement and put them out on the curb for the sanitation truck to collect. Though he gets a weekly allowance, he has to be paid for every chore he does, even for taking telephone messages. As he has a bank account of his own, my husband is very proud of his business ability. But I am not sure that his interest in money is so wholesome.

ANSWER: Well, I AM sure. I think it's crazy.

It's crazy because this child survives by reason of the services you and his father render him. So what we say to a young robber baron of this kind is, "Here's your 50 cents for taking my phone message. Now from you I want $5. I want it for making your bed today, for dusting your room, doing your laundry and making that pie you had for dinner."

A family, my friend, is not a business corporation. It is a co-operative—the original social unit in which children learn that we all survive by interchange of services. It's where they learn to contribute to the community which contributes to them. So we do not pay them for chores.

If we want to give them a dollar as an expression of appreciation for the good job they've done in ridding us of old magazines and newspapers, that's different. It's different because it's exactly the same kind of recognition the child gives to us by saying "Um—mmm" when we put a particularly delicious-looking dessert on the table. But the difference must be made clear. The dollar is not money. It is appreciation.

I was reared in a pro-labor family. But at the moment I'm fed to the teeth with labor and its refusal to perceive that it survives only by reason of interchanged services with other members of its community. I'm fed to the teeth with the ruthless irresponsibility of its demands on its community —as fed up with it as I was taught to be fed up with the ruthlessness of the robber barons of the last century—those monopolists, those grabbers of everything in sight regardless of the workers who had created what they grabbed. To put it plainly, I'm sick of greed, no matter whose it is.

What's the matter with your husband to confuse this boy's money lust with "business ability"? It's not ability of any kind. It's just plain blindness to what other people contribute to his life.

Theme of College Turmoil Is Commencement Standard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a tumultuous year on the nation's college campuses, this year's commencement addresses are dominated by the theme of student unrest.

One speaker sees radical students as a threat to freedom. Another says little is won by polite protest. Still another warns of a future generation of student rebels.

Here are excerpts from what some prominent persons have told the graduates:

President Nixon, at General Beadle College in Madison, S.D. —"The values we cherish are sustained by a fabric of mutual self-restraint, woven of ordinary civil decency, respect for the rights of others, respect for the laws of the community, and respect for the democratic process or orderly change.

"The purpose of these restraints is not to protect an 'establishment,' but to establish the protection of liberty; not to prevent change, but to ensure that change reflects the public will and respects the rights of all."

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., at Washington High School, Atlanta—"This is the nation which can be the epitome of democracy, yet, despite our advancement in technology, our spiritual development has failed to create a brotherhood. You are the hope for a better world because we who are over 30 have not done too well. In you lies our hope to bring our dreams into reality."

Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, at the University of Southern California—"Jack-booted tactics create jack-booted minds ... There is too much at stake to abandon reason in the face of turmoil ... We see suggestions —which I utterly oppose—for federal intervention and control ... for national codes of student conduct. We see this same reaction in the bludgeon approach that would cut off all federal assistance to universities that cannot immediately quell disorder."

Dr. Benjamin Spock, pediatrician and antiwar spokesman, at a "rump" ceremony at Queens College in New York—"Anybody who has been around here for the past few years, as this country goes from bad to worse, knows that you can get nothing if you remain polite with your protest."

Julian Bond, Negro member of the Georgia House of Representatives, at the University of Bridgeport—"If you think you are faced with militant young people now, just see what today's 7- and 8-year-olds have waiting for you when they grow up."

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, at Morehouse College, Atlanta—The campus unrest is a result of "rising expectations ... It is a very much American experience. This has never been an inactive nation. This has never been a nation for the timid or the fearful." He praised the motivations of young people pushing for social reform, adding: "If there ever was a time that we need to reason together ... it is now."

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, at Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa—"Those who would disrupt our universities with acts of illegal violence must be stopped, convicted and punished. But those who would disrupt our complacency and our unquestioning devotion to questionable standards should be listened to and encouraged."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., at the University of North Carolina—"We must revitalize our political parties and our political process by opening them up to the individual citizens—young and old alike and including the right to vote at 18 ... Unfortunately, it is the naive presumption of some radicals that a violent confrontation with authority will somehow destroy authority, and of course it does just the opposite."

Morris B. Abram, president of Brandeis University, at Georgia State College—"The students are absolutely right when they focus on our responsibility to implement and protect social and economic rights in this country. But they are wrong to select the university as the place to apply pressure."

Apollo 8 astronaut William A. Anders, at the University of San Diego—"From space we could clearly see etched on the face of the nation nature's own storm center. But the storm of anger and hate engendered by the destroyers of our campuses has no beauty, no redeeming feature as seen from a distance or closeup ... Love and peace are two words your generation has enshrined, but they demand more than mere physical demonstration."

John T. Connor, former commerce secretary and chairman, Allied Chemical Corp., at New York's Pratt Institute—"The working world is far less permissive than the academic world toward those who would destroy the so-called 'establishment.' Those who want to tear down without providing something better can expect solid resistance from the working part of the establishment.

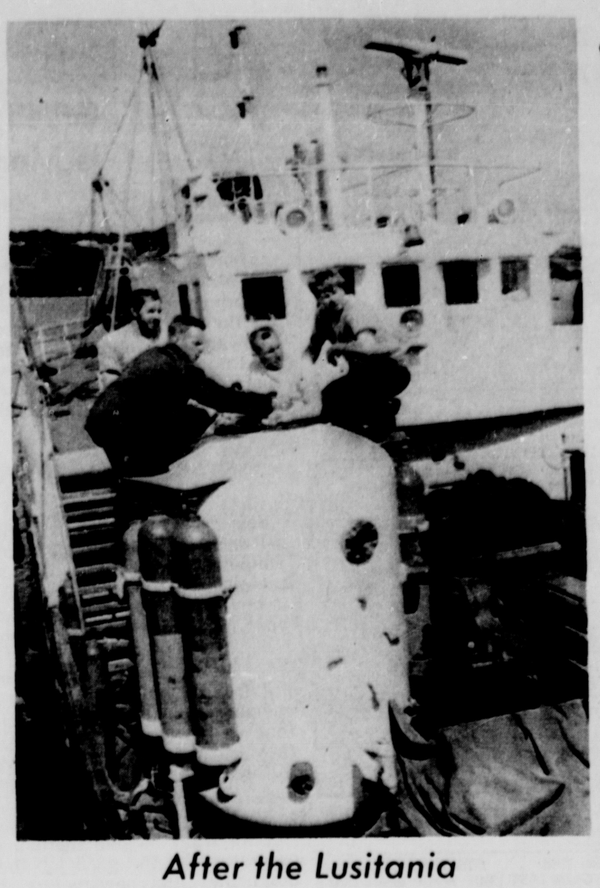

Scout News

Girl Scout Junior Troop 301 highlights of the year included a Mother's Tea, a Father's Coffee, roller-skating and bowling parties, a tour of the telephone office and The Sedalia Democrat. The girls served the community by stuffing Easter Seal envelopes and taking treats to a Retirement Home.

Troop 301 camped out May 23-25 at Indian Foothills Park in Marshall. Mrs. Martha Brooks, Marshall, met them and gave them a tour of the Girl Scout facilities and the park. Mrs. Andrew Klein, Mrs. Lon Unsell, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cutler accompanied the group. Mr. Cutler gave the troop a truck ride around Marshall and the Marshall State School.

On Saturday evening, the girls participated in a talent show and on Sunday the troop enjoyed a family picnic which was followed by a Scout' Own and a Court of Awards. Each girl received Dancer and Health-Aid badges that were earned as a troop. Individual badges were also awarded. Valencia Emerson, Vicki Klein, Diane Oehrke, Debra Shull, Stephanie Smith and Linda Unsell received the Sign of the Arrow and Sign of the Star and Julie Coufal received the Sign of the Arrow.

Monday, May 26, Julie Dale was invested into Girl Scout Troop 301 at an impressive candlelight ceremony.

After the Lusitania

New Advise Is Presented Regarding Tornado Safety

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — There is a popular notion in the tornado-prone Midwest that the safest place in the home to seek shelter from a tornado is in the southwest corner. A University of Kansas professor says it's a dangerous notion.

Dr. J. R. Eagleman, head of the meterology curriculum, said the southwest corner may be a death trap.

Richard Garrett, chief meterologist of the Weather Bureau in Topeka, said today that the bureau stopped advising people to seek shelter in the southwest corner in 1966. But he said the notion persists anyway

Dr. Eagleman has been studying tornado damage throughout the midwest since a tornado caused damage of $100 million in Topeka in 1966. His research is being financed by a grant from the U.S. Public Health Service.

"Most tornadoes really do come from the southwest," Eagleman said in a statement put out by the university. "In the past, weathermen have advised people to take shelter there, thinking that the worst of the damage would pass over quickly, leaving them safe.

"In actuality, when people take shelter in the southwest corner of a house on the first floor, not the basement, the brunt of the impact strikes the southwest, carrying with it heavy debris that may endanger those in that corner.

Eagleman says that even in homes with basements, the north or northeast corner is safer.

He said the weather bureau's instructions now urge persons to seek shelter in a basement.

2—Cards of Thanks

SCHIEDER: GRANVILLE F. — WE WISH TO EXPRESS our sincere appreciation to all who were so kind to us in our recent sorrow, the loss of our dear husband and brother. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Medford Speaker, who officiated at the funeral service, Rev. Roy Dameron, the singer, Mrs. Clyde Waters, the organist, the ladies who furnished and served the food, and all who sent flowers and messages of condolence.

Mrs. Granville Schieder, Wife.

Chairman of Permaneer Board Explains Operations of Firm

The new Permaneer Corp., plant in Sedalia, once in production, will manufacture outdoor siding unique not only in the building industry but to Permaneer itself, according to Edward D. Schapiro, chairman of the board for Permaneer.

Schapiro said that the siding to be produced in the Sedalia plant is new, although the process to be used is not. Both process and the final product were developed by Permaneer.

The announcement was made at an informal meeting with newsmen at the Holiday Inn Friday morning.

According to Schapiro, the local plant will manufacture enough material to fill an estimated 14 railroad freight cars a day.

"We'll move about ten cars of raw materials into the plant daily and move another 14 cars of finished products out," he said.

Schapiro estimated that the plant, which will employ 200 Sedalians and produce a payroll in excess of $1 million a year, would probably be in full swing during the first quarter of next year.

City councilmen present at the meeting reported that an ordinance setting the date for the election required on the $1,200,000 general obligation industrial bond issue would be ready by the next session of the council. A tentative date of July 8 has been set for the election.

William Hall, industrial development director, and Mayor Ralph Walker joined in emphasizing that passage of the bond issue would not mean any increase in taxes for Sedalians.

"The bond issue is the same as those approved for Rival Manufacturing Co., and Town and Country Shoes, Inc.," Hall said.

"I think it's important to emphasize," Walker said, "that this type of election gives Sedalians one of those few opportunities they have to actively participate in Sedalia's industrial growth."

"It should also be remembered that this is the first time that Sedalians will be voting to establish a new industry," Norman Lewis, of Perry, Adams and Lewis, a Kansas City bonding company, said.

"In the past, Sedalians have voted and approved expansion of existing industry. This is different. It's an entirely new industry," he said.

Permaneer's operation here goes into a laminated wood product designed for exterior use and carrying a 10-year guarantee, Schapiro said. "We consider ourselves the leaders in the wood lamination field," he said. "The equipment we use is designed and created by us for our own processes."

The property chosen by Permaneer consists of 40 acres of land on the C.L. Turner farm. The manufacturing facility will be located north of Main Street and east of State Fair Blvd., and will have a railroad spur running through it.

Schapiro said that present plans call for 60 employees to work each shift. He said the plant would probably operate 24 hours a day. "That means we'd have about 180 production people. The rest would be employed in our office."

He also said that at the most, Permaneer expected to bring in only about three people to help operate the new plant here. "There might be a few more at the beginning, but we estimate only three would be located here permanently."

Schapiro indicated that local people would be trained on an on-the-job basis to operate "the highly automated equipment we use." It was reported by Hall that State Fair Community College's vocational-technical training division might play a role in the possible training of personnel for Permaneer.

It was stressed that the possible lack of trained employees would not delay the beginning of production here.

Permaneer, which has its home office in St. Louis and employes about 2,000 people throughout its production network, will operate in a 14,000-square-foot building here.

Including in the products manufactured by Permaneer are wall paneling, vinyl shield doors and furniture — plus the new outdoor siding to be produced here.

Schapiro told those attending the meeting that the company expects "steady growth here" after operation is begun.

Permaneer has plants in Union, Mo., Wright City, Mo., California, Oregon, and Pennsylvania.

Ike Publicized Big D-Day Events

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—The D-day invasion of Normandy 25 years ago was one of the most publicized military events in history because Gen. Dwight Eisenhower recognized the importance of public opinion back home, a former war correspondent said here Friday night.

Don Whitehead, former Associated Press correspondent, said it was Eisenhower's influence that accounted for the presence of reporters with the first wave of troops going ashore.

Meet Classmates Only on Last Day

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three young women met their classmates for the first time Wednesday night when the graduating class of Iroquois High School received its diplomas.

Sue Roten, 22, Sandra Sermon Galloway, 21, and Elaine Horn, 20, all are physically handicapped and spent five years studying for their diplomas at home.

More Free Time O.K.'d For Pastors

BALDWIN, Kan. (AP)—Four weeks of paid vacation annually and at least one day off each week for ministers has been approved by delegates attending the Kansas East Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Delegates Friday also approved time off for ministers for continuing education.

A recommendation that the Program Council of the conference make every effort to recruit a black minister or layman to fill a possible staff position at the executive level of the conference was approved.

Bishop Roy Nichols of Pittsburgh, Pa., a former minister in Harlem, N.Y., told delegates the church must provide the leadership needed to face the serious racial situation in the nation, rather than handing resources of the church over to "newly formed and unproven organizations."

He criticized recent demands of James Forman for $500 (m) million from the church as reparations to the Negro community. He said that Forman's National Black Economic Development Conference "at this point consists of 24 names on a piece of paper."

Bishop Nichols said a quadrennial program of the church is dedicated to the reconciliation of the alienated, with a goal of $20 (m) million, and that thousands of churches across the nation are beginning to respond.

He said two commissions, one on Religion and Race, and the other on Social Concern, both have broad powers. "We must insist that these agencies provide the leadership we need," he said.

Frank Cremonesi of the International Typographical Union Training Center, Colorado Springs, will address an ITU seminar today at the Agriculture Building on the State Fairgrounds. The Sedalia, Columbia and Jefferson City ITU locals are hosts for the event, which is expected to draw about 175 persons.

Age Limit for Heart Transplants Ideal

MONTREAL (AP) — Heart surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard said Friday that doctors could insure a higher rate of successful heart transplants by setting an age limit of 60 on potential transplant patients.

But, he said at a news conference here, he personally did not want to set such a limit.

Of 129 heart transplant patients, 34 survive.

The longest surviving of these is Philip Blaiberg, who received a replacement heart on Jan. 2, 1968, in an operation performed by Barnard.

"You'll recall that Baliberg was 58 when we operated," Barnard said.

Barnard is in Montreal taking part in the second Heart Transplant Symposium which opened Friday and continues until Sunday.

SELF-HELP QUIZ

How to Tell If You're Mismatched With Your Job

Ask Them Yourself

FOR REP. EMANUEL CELLER

of New York

Why do you oppose 18-year-olds having the right to vote?—Garland Elam, Indianola, Okla.

● This is a matter that each state can determine for itself; to impose that age qualification uniformly upon the states would require a Constitutional amendment. I am opposed to this. When we consider how easily the adolescent is inflamed, we can readily understand why the demagogue has been able historically to capture the youth of the land. Witness the regimes of Hitler and Mussolini.

FOR JACK LORD of "Hawaii Five-O"

Is it true that you have five of your paintings on permanent display in the Metropolitan Museum? Do you sell any of your paintings?—Miss Jane Lehman, Waco, Texas

● I have three of my woodcuts and two of my lithographs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City. Last year I sold $40,000 of my works to private collectors. I am a Sunday painter—the only day of the week I'm not in front of the cameras.

FOR MRS. RICHARD M. NIXON

As the First Lady, do you plan to continue Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's "Beautify America" program?—C. A. Nichols, Austin, Texas

● I am interested in the continuation of the First Lady's Committee for a More Beautiful Capital, although it will not be my main project.

FOR BILLY GRAHAM

Do you believe there should be an amalgamation of all churches?—David G. Thompson, Bluefield, W. Va.

● As a member of one denomination, I do not work toward the amalgamation of all churches. I believe there is a place for each denomination, providing freedom of worship.

FOR JACKIE GLEASON

Why do you have the "Honeymooners" on every other week, instead of every week?—John Phillips, Spartanburg, S.C.

● It is not easy to memorize three songs and 100-or-so pages of copy each week, or 90 songs and 40,000 pages a season.

FOR GOV. CLAUDE R. KIRK, JR.

of Florida

Does Florida have more lakes than any other state?—Mr. G. J. Byra, Seattle, Wash.

● Florida has more than 30,000 named lakes and thousands of unnamed ones.

FOR ARLENE FRANCIS, actress

Are you presently on any regular television program?—Martha Minzenmayer, Temple, Texas

● I'm now on the new "What's My Line?" an afternoon show.

FOR J. ARTHUR HEISE,

author of "The Brass Factories, a Frank Appraisal of West Point, Annapolis, and the Air Force Academy"

I've heard nothing about student drug use at our military academies. If they've avoided the problem, can civilian colleges learn something from them?—Mrs. B. A., Minneapolis, Minn.

● Hardly. Annapolis has discharged about a dozen midshipmen for smoking marijuana; the Air Force Academy dismissed four cadets. There may be other cases, but with the academies' furtiveness, it's impossible to tell.

FOR JOE CRONIN,

American League president

Are any of the baseball games played under protest ever decided in favor of the protesting team?—Darrell Cheyney, Massillon, Ohio

● Yes, many times. A case in point concerned a game prior to World War II in which the Boston Red Sox won a forfeited game from the Washington Senators. The league forfeited the game to the Red Sox because the Senators neglected to cover the infield when it rained.

FOR BOBBY SHERMAN

of ABC's "Here Come the Brides"

On the tv show, you stutter. Do you really stutter? —Carol Eckard, Staunton, Va.

● No. My character in the show, Jeremy Bolt, does so because he is the shyest, most sensitive of the three brothers, and it enhances the role as a sympathetic one. When I was asked to play Jeremy, I went to a Los Angeles speech-therapy center to get instruction on how to do the hesitation stammer.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Cover Girl Our cover girl is having fun—and looking forward to more of the same when school lets out for the summer. But, warns the American Medical Association, summer has some special health and safety problems. We asked how children could get the most out of the season with the least trouble, and here's what the AMA suggested: Beware of the potential danger in the following situations: 1. Encounters with nature—exposure to sun, wind, and semipolluted water; and to unfamiliar animals (upset geese and cows can be more dangerous than calm snakes and bears); and to unfamiliar fruits and vegetables such as toadstools and green apples. 2. Unsanitary plumbing when traveling. 3. Fourth of July—firecrackers, but almost as bad, quarrelsome children crowded into the back seat of the homeward-bound car—they can cause accidents. 4. Plastic swimming pools—infections may be passed from one child to another if pool is not kept clean; sunlight and air tend to be self-purifiers. 5. Going barefoot—recommended in carefully policed areas only. 6. Inadequate refrigeration for picnic foods—it's like inoculating the salad with bacteria if food is not kept refrigerated. Have a good summer—after all, the doctors want a vacation, too.

Medical Pitch Some scientists say Vitamin E can help infertile couples have wanted babies. But Bobby Bolin, pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, shook off that signal and used Vitamin E for a sore shoulder. He reports that the vitamin has helped him a lot, according to Medical World News. Kids! Look out for Mom's right arm.

Teacher Knows Best Red Skelton, recalling his teacher's version of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, decided to record it. (It's a Columbia hit). In part, here are the meanings: I (a committee of one) Pledge (dedicate all of my worldly good to give without self-pity) allegiance (my love and my devotion) to the Flag (a symbol of freedom) . . . with liberty (the freedom to live one's own life without threats or fear of retaliation) and justice (the principle of dealing fairly with others) for all (it's as much your country as it is mine). Oh! Saturday is Flag Day.

Pressure Pain Killer Even in the pressurized cabins of jets, air pressures vary considerably and can close the nasal passages of passengers suffering from sinus trouble, common cold, or hay fever. Lately many air travelers have discovered a new use for a vaso-constricting nasal spray that eases breathing: it prevents the pain that can go with pressure change.

Buddy Hackett

Dead Serious Although he collects valuable paintings and owns a house in Vermont, Buddy Hackett ("The Love Bug") is rather casual about investing for his old age. "I'm not going to have one," Buddy explained to Family Weekly in mock seriousness. "I'm not going to retire, either. Four months short of my 64th birthday, I'm just going to press my 'dead button' and go." Don't be shocked, fans, or worried: Buddy will be only 45 in August.

Can Mediums Speak to the Dead?

The televised séance in which Bishop Pike "communicated" with his dead son has brought this age-old question under scientific study—with some startling conclusions

By BRAD STEIGER
Author of "Voices from Beyond"

SCIENCE NOW asks—can mediums speak to the dead?

Today many orthodox scientists are spending considerable time studying spiritual phenomena, especially since the televised séance in which former Episcopal Bishop James Pike seemed to communicate with his deceased son.

After hearing about the controversial theologian's televised séance in Toronto, the Rev. Frederick M. Morris, rector of New York City's St. Thomas Church, cancelled Bishop Pike's preaching engagements there. The bishop, who had faced heresy charges for not believing in enough things, was now being criticized for believing in too much.

The Rev. Arthur Ford, a minister of the Disciples of Christ Church, who had been Bishop Pike's medium, points out to his critics that the promise of eternal life is the central tenet of the Christian faith. Why, then, he asks, should one reject what appears to be evidence of the validity of this promise?

On the other hand, Dr. D. J. West, psychical researcher, wrote recently that "spiritualism thrives on simple souls . . . Middle-aged women make up the bulk of the audience . . . the medium pours out a stream of verbiage about vibrations of harmony, astral bodies . . . Nothing could be more pathetic or boring."

When Bishop Pike's story was published in his book, "The Other Side," one reviewer declared it "a convincing and disturbing account. It was the surprised, skeptical report of a man seeking rational explanation for extraordinary phenomena that he confronted." Yet another reviewer said it was "nothing more than a loving father's wish fulfillment."

Interest in the beyond, of course, is ageless. At the time of his death, Thomas Edison was working on an instrument that he hoped would pick up messages from the spirit world and translate them into sound. Edison believed man to be composed of billions of highly charged entities that live in the cells. At physical death, these entities swarm ". . . betake themselves elsewhere and go on functioning in some other form of environment."

Dr. Joseph B. Rhine, former head of parapsychology at Duke University, who left a career in plant physiology to study psychic phenomena, has done much pioneering work in the field. "The outstanding characteristic of ESP phenomena," says Doctor Rhine, "is its failure to conform to the type of lawfulness expected of physical processes. The conditions seem to defy the space-time properties on which the science of physics is based."

Dr. Ian Stevenson, chairman of the department of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Virginia, has made an intensive study of 200 cases. He not only claims that man survives physical death but that "reincarnation is a fact."

Dr. Eugene E. Bernard, professor of psychology at North Carolina State University and Dr. Charles Tart, psychologist and lecturer at the University of California, are conducting laboratory experiments to prove that some people have the ability to leave their bodies and float off to the ceiling, another room, or sometimes thousands of miles away.

Rev. Arthur Ford (left) conducts celebrated tv séance with Bishop Pike.

Former University of Florida staff member Dr. Hornel Hart says that ". . . a world exists that is invisible to our physical senses and yet is a realm of objective experience and of social contacts between conscious personalities."

Hereward Carrington, psychical researcher, in "The Case for Psychic Survival," wrote: "We have to deal with a . . . personality which is . . . in touch or contact, in some mysterious way, with another (spiritual) world, from which it derives information and through which genuine messages often come."

It was "Fletcher," Reverend Ford's spirit control, who brought forth Bishop Pike's son and other communicating personalities who were familiar to the clergyman. Fletcher was supposedly a deceased French-Canadian boyhood friend of Reverend Ford.

Bishop Pike has said that he did not see how any research done by Reverend Ford could have brought about such intimate details of his life and the roles that certain individuals had played in shaping his thinking.

With the current upsurge of interest in the spiritual movement, Reverend Ford recently cautioned a conference of religious mediums to put less emphasis on producing séance-room phenomena and more on teaching the essentials of religion.

"We've been guinea pigs long enough," Reverend Ford said. "The phenonema should be a means to an end, and the end should be spiritual understanding and a way to serve our fellowman in a better way."

Dr. J. B. Rhine has said that mediumship may hold the answer to the great and much broader question of the nature of man's personality with respect to the physical world. He is convinced that the laboratory has satisfactorily demonstrated that the human personality is something more than its physical components.

Dr. Karlis Osis, current director of research for the American Society of Psychical Research, has observed that there is undeniable greatness in defeating polio and other diseases, and there is greatness in conquering outer space.

But, he asks, "Is it not at least equally important to know the certain answer to such a basic question of human existence: 'What happens when a man dies?'" ◆

Wendy Veevers-Carter cooks family meals on a paraffin (kerosene) stove.

A former New York heiress lives with her civilization; yet despite tragedy and discomfort,

My Life As Mrs.

By WENDY VEEVERS-CARTER

WITH MY husband and three children, I left the freighter and stepped into a tender, which was to take us to our new home—an island on which no human had lived for years, isolated in the Indian Ocean some 700 miles southwest of India and civilization and northeast of primitive Madagascar.

Our island, Astove, was not on any shipping route. It might be months before a ship passed again; there was no airplane landing strip then. Nothing but ourselves and hope.

That was the beginning of my life as Mrs. Robinson Crusoe. Now, more than a year later, the anxieties I felt that first day when I saw the empty white sand beach have lessened; my hopes for a good life have heightened. We have had troubles, yes. But I would not trade being Mrs. Robinson Crusoe (most of the time, that is) for all the world's material possessions.

My husband is Mark Veevers-Carter, a mutton-chop-whiskered former schooner skipper, treasure hunter, and British colonial fisheries officer. He will tell you his experience helped us survive on a deserted island—plus $50,000 for improvements.

Our children are Rory, 9, Ming, 7, and baby Digby, 2. I teach them from correspondence courses from England. I must be very strict about adhering to schedules—the lovely weather, beaches, and the curiosities of nature here are enormous competition for their attention.

I am a former New York City socialite—I emphasize "former." My father was Clarence Day, author of "Life with Father." I never cared for the pampered life and began traveling after completing my schooling. I was photographing wild animals when I met Mark in Tanganyika.

When we landed on Astove, we found palm trees, a roofless wooden house, and a graveyard. Part of the British-governed Seychelles, Astove was a "lost" island. Now we are on our way to "luxury"—a planned 14-room house, a farm with pigs, goats, and cattle, plus a tobacco and copra crop, which should bring us some $10,000 a year. Since landing, of course, we have brought in some native laborers to help us, but the island remains ours alone for all practical purposes. Here's how we live there.

My day begins at dawn, between 5:30 and 6. The light lies cool over the Indian Ocean, and the wind barely stirs the casuarina (oak) tree in the yard. This is the most beautiful time of day. I make breakfast for all the family, and I usually prepare lunch at the same time.

For me, the world of supermarket shopping and "convenience foods" is like another planet. If you run out, you run out. On our short-wave radio, we heard news about a bakers' strike in Britain. "Housewives desperate . . . no bread for sale . . ." That gave us a big laugh. How can a woman be so helpless she doesn't know how to bake?

I bake all our bread. When the flour is a few weeks old, I have to sift the weevils out first. When it is a few months old—even sifted—it won't rise. At the moment, we have no bread. The flour is too old, and the weevils have taken over.

But "self-sufficiency" is only a phrase. I depend on many imported things—powdered milk, wheat flour, coffee, tea, curry powder, tomato purée, onions, paraffin (kerosene), Mark's tobacco.

I keep them in a store, which is also the island "shop" for our Seychelles workers. Every purchase is a book transaction. We have no money. When I make out my shopping list for Mahé, on the west coast of India, I shop for one year ahead, down to the last toothbrush.

We don't eat meat every day. But the diet is good, and the children are growing up strong. I find all kinds of wild-growing substitutes for ordinary vegetables. Wild spinach is delicious and pumpkin tendrils, too. We cultivate sweet potatoes.

We have no electricity, but we do have refrigeration, thank goodness. The "fridge" works on paraffin, and I have a stove that's so good you'd think you were using gas.

We shipped a big library here, and I am just going to start the children, as it happens, on Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe." Afternoons, it is sometimes so hot we have school in the sea.

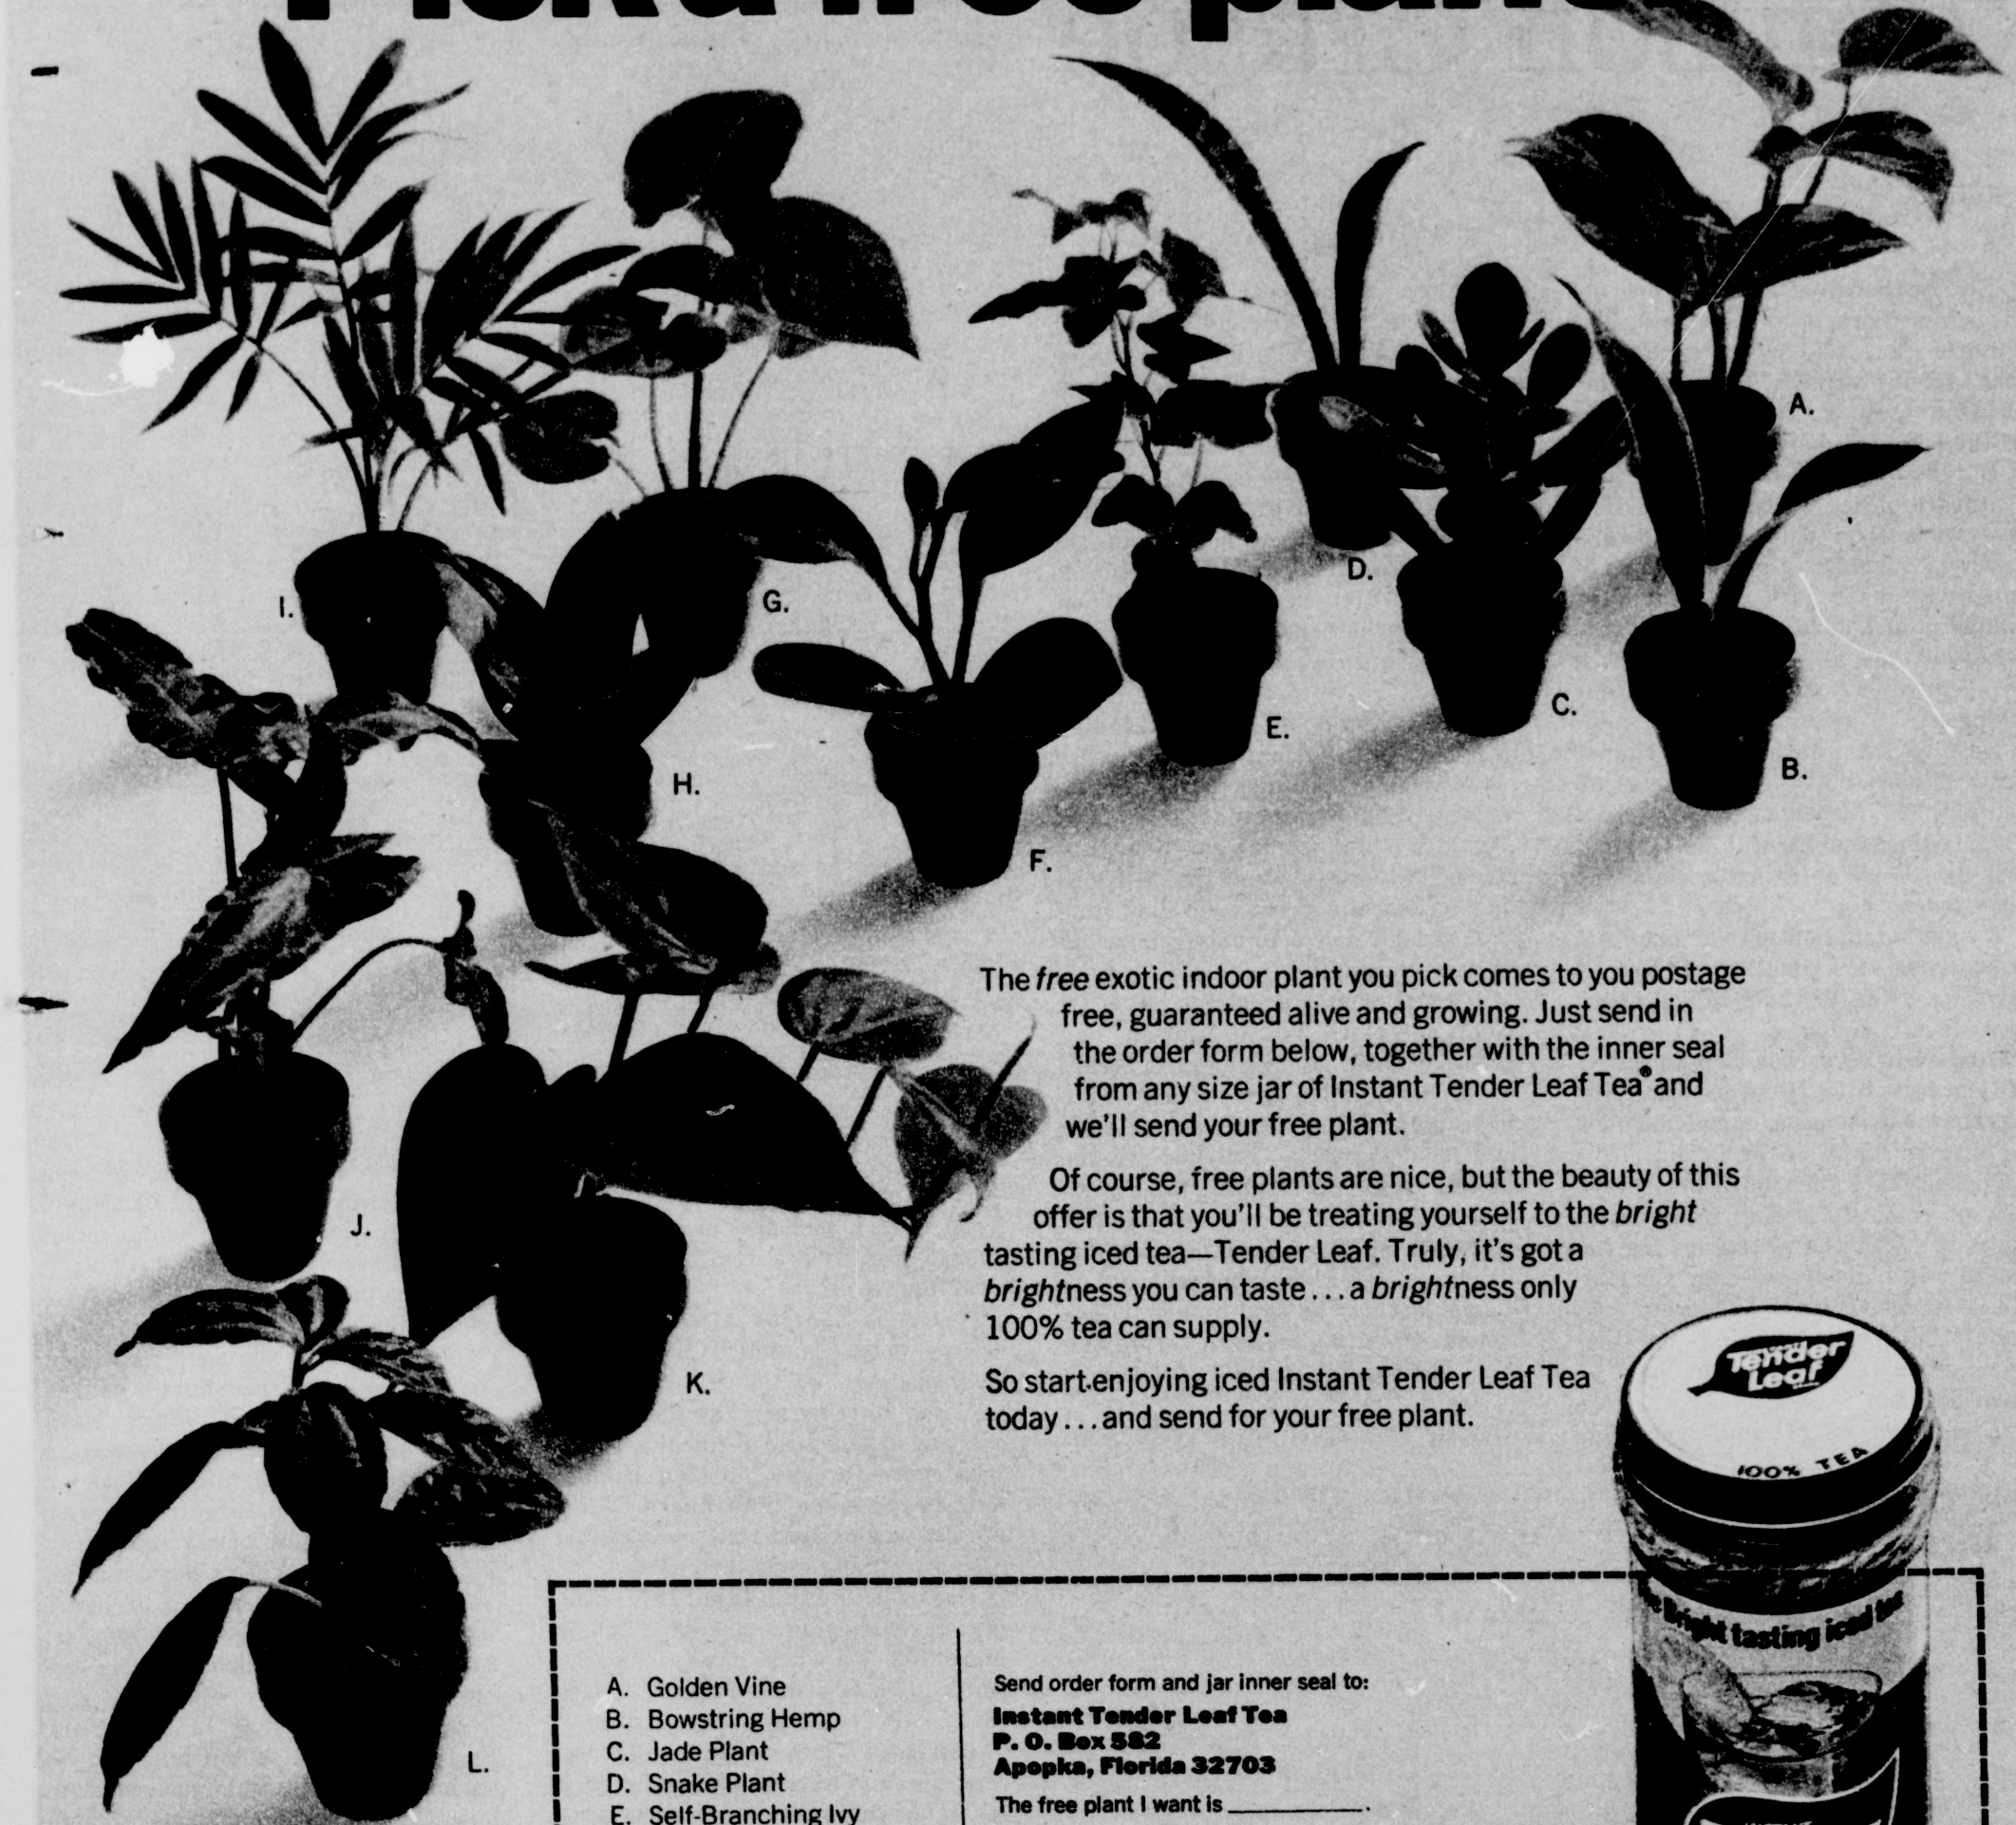

Rory, our nine-year-old, is the only child who can remember "civilization"—cars, movies, shops.

My mother, who lives in New York, is anxious for my welfare and sends me all kinds of welcomed goodies. She sent a machine that makes spaghetti. I love spaghetti. It comes out flat instead of round, disappointingly, and it is a whole day's job to make it. I dry it in the sun on trestles, just as the Italians do.

VITAL WORLD PRESS COMMENTS ABOUT MISS THEODOSSIOU!
TOWN & COUNTRY MAGAZINE—"One of the world's greatest astrologers."
GOOD HOUSEKEEPING (ENGLAND)—"Her approach is rational, analytical, strictly non-psychic and non-clairvoyant."
LONDON EVENING STANDARD—"...what is surprising is the number of businessmen who are guided by astrology. They have one astrologer in particular whom they consult...Katina Theodossiou."

At last modern technology has found a way to give you a comprehensive 15 to 20-page, 8 to 10-thousand word, personal horoscope at low cost! It holds startling information about your days, weeks and months ahead! It may vastly help you in every area—job, romance, health, travel...for a richer, happier, more satisfying future.

Yes, here's explosive astrological news! A startling new approach has been perfected that makes it possible for you to get an incredibly comprehensive, personal horoscope. Until now it would have taken Miss Katina Theodossiou—one of the world's most famous and celebrated astrologers—a full week to cast a horoscope like this and would have cost you as much as $300 or more!

But that was yesterday! Because, at last, astrology has harnessed the high-speed, infallible IBM/360 computer. Now, by using the computer to complete thousands of astrological computations in seconds, Miss Theodossiou can give you the same in-depth, highly personal and authoritative horoscope at a fraction of its previous cost!

YOUR PERSONAL HOROSCOPE IS "ONE-OF-A-KIND!"

It's a fact! Most horoscopes, because they are cast using only a portion of the necessary data, are written in generalities and apply to anyone born under a certain sign. Your own personal Time Pattern horoscope, however, prepared under the direction of this famous astrologer, will be about you and you alone because it's cast from all your personal data: your day, year, time and place of birth.

It's a fact! No two horoscopes cast by this scientific method are alike. Even the horoscopes of two people born at the same minute, on the same day, in the same year will be different, if they were born in different cities, unless they are identical twins.

QUIZ

Are You Mismatched with Your Job?

This quiz can help you answer that vital question—and perhaps offer a guide to corrective action

By THEODORE IRWIN

LIKE MANY other Americans, a time may come when you realize that at work you're like a square peg in a round hole. Vaguely or acutely, you sense that you're just not "making it."

Career counselors and personnel directors agree that often at the core of the problem is a basic mismatch between a specific job and a person's skills and aspirations. People who feel out of character in their work, they say, should seek insight into their dissatisfaction and find a new sense of direction.

For an indication of where you stand, take this quick test, based on consultations with industrial psychologists. Answer "yes" or "no" and check conclusions below.

1. Did you choose your career (rather than fall into it by chance)?

2. Do you find it hard to discuss work problems with your boss?

3. Do you feel your efforts are not being appreciated by your superiors?

4. Are your training and skills not being fully utilized?

5. Do you sense that your basic field is too narrow?

6. Does your work lack stimulating challenge?

7. Are you envious of people working in another department of your company?

8. Do you ask yourself, "Why am I knocking myself out in this rat race?"

9. Do you hate to get up in the morning to face your work day?

10. Do you lack pride in your work or feel it doesn't have status with friends?

11. Are you "fed up" with what you're doing?

12. Do you tend to dislike competition, preferring to work with people, not against them?

13. Do you feel like a "lone wolf" in a large organization?

14. Do you seldom tell people, "My company is pretty good"?

15. Are you standing still in your job or growing in it?

ANSWERS

Clearly, the more "Yes" answers you give, the greater your mismatch. Each question, of course, has a different value. It provides clues or implications of how you're out of tune. Here's how career experts interpret the "Yes" responses:

No. 1. You've drifted into a career without planning, perhaps because of parental or economic pressure. You failed to study the alternatives for your skills, thus increasing the probability of a mismatch.

Nos. 2 and 3. Evidently you're not scoring well with your company and probably have been passed over for promotion.

Nos. 4, 5, and 6. Obviously you're not performing at the top level of your capabilities. If your qualifications are not being used, chances are you're not being paid as many dollars as you're actually worth.

No. 7. Your occupational field is probably wrong for you. Instead of production, for example, you may be happier in sales or vice versa.

Nos. 8-11. You are not being stimulated by your job or occupation, which may result in psychological fatigue. You are not identifying with your work when you feel it's beneath you. Frequently, a job or assignment change is the best treatment for the "burned-out" employee. Many tired executives, for instance, are brought to life by new challenges.

No. 12. If you are in a high-pressure, competitive business, why not consider a job with a service organization where you can work with and for people?

Nos. 13 and 14. Your field could be right, but it may be wise to switch companies or go into business for yourself. Many men do better as a big frog in a small puddle, instead of ladder-climbing in a giant corporation. In a small growth company, you can be more creative, expand with it.

No. 15. If you "plateau" in your mid-30s, it's time to start moving, or your lack of a good record can disqualify you for the better jobs. Sure signs of standing still: small or no raises, lack of upgrading.

Now you may have a better picture of where you stand, so you can decide what to do. Before taking action, however, be sure that some temporary mood is not compelling you to cut loose. Don't take another job merely for the sake of change; your reason for changing must be valid.

"If you believe you are mismatched," says John Sullivan, president of The National Registry of New York, "your first step is to assess your talents and relate them realistically to your expectations. Understand who and where you are, and clarify what you're after. Pin down your short- and long-range goals. These will give you the basis for judging the merits of moving to a different job."

Finally, a plan of action should be established. Start by looking around in your present company. Are there opportunities in other departments or divisions better suited to your abilities? Have a frank talk with your boss. With no likely prospects, look outside.

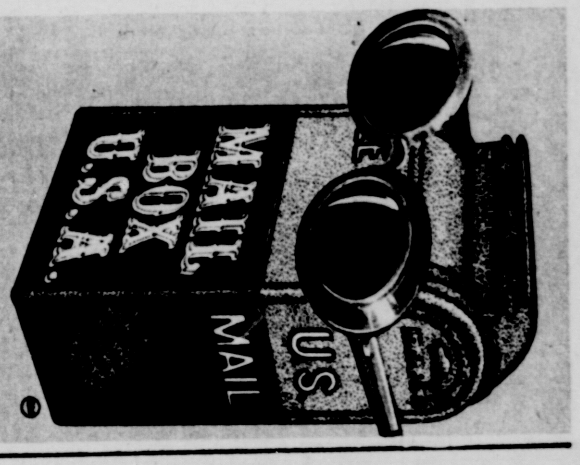

Besides such obvious resources as newspaper ads and employment agencies, consider guidance from a job counselor or testing service.

Whether it's a mate or a job, it's not easy to make the perfect match. When you do succeed, you'll find a rewarding sense of fulfillment. ◆

My man was a King-Size Problem...

(Confessions of a big man's wife)

MY HUSBAND is big and handsome—any woman would be proud to be seen with such an escort. I've always enjoyed going places with him. Except for one thing—the clothes he wore never fit him correctly.

They weren't cheap clothes, either—my husband makes a good living. They just weren't designed, proportioned right for a man his size. Most of the smart, new styles they're wearing didn't even come in his size; his shirts and slacks were always skimpy, his jackets never looked right and his shoes were just not in style. I tried going shopping for him myself—but I'd just run myself ragged, come home close to tears.

Then one day a friend showed me the new KING-SIZE Catalog. It was a revelation! 120 pages crammed with smart, stylish clothing and shoes...sweaters, slacks and jackets—all specially designed for TALL and BIG men! Inseams up to 42"...necks to 22"... sleeves to 38"...sizes to XXXL! And the finest brands —McGregor, Arrow, Manhattan, Jantzen, Weldon. Shoes in sizes from 10 to 16, widths AAA to EEE... including DuPont Corfam; Hush Puppies, Bates Floaters and others.

Best of all, this beautiful full-color KING-SIZE Catalog doesn't cost a penny. And every item carries the famous KING-SIZE Money-Back Guarantee, "You must be completely satisfied both BEFORE and AFTER wearing, or you get an immediate refund or exchange". Could anything be fairer?

If your husband (son, brother, boyfriend) has the same kind of King-Size problem, that problem is solved right now! Just sit down and write for the FREE KING-SIZE Catalog. When it comes, you and your BIG and TALL man will discover how much FUN buying the right clothes can be!

Doctor developes Home Treatment that

HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES

In 15 Minutes or Your Money Back!

A leading New York Doctor working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple medicated home-treatment that rinses away blackheads and whiteheads in a matter of minutes. It was demonstrated recently on five teen-age girls and three teen-age boys. The results were breath-taking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cloth used to wash off the Masque. But this wasn't all! Acne-pimples improved after one application, enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexions became cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. These results certainly indicate why teen-agers, both boys and girls, are now saying "this is one product that really works", for good, clear, clean, healthy skins . . . and why mothers of teen-agers have heartily endorsed its use. The Masque Cream Treatment is indeed a remarkable discovery, not only for healthy skins, but also for the confidence, poise and self-esteem a fine complexion brings to teen-agers!

Anyone Can Use It

If you suffer the agony of teen-age blackheads, whiteheads, acne-pimples and rough, unsightly complexions give yourself this home treatment at our risk. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" were softly kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads and foreign impurities. As it firms and hardens, its suction-action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your towel. And your skin feels clean . . . really clean . . . refreshed, smooth like velvet!

DELICATELY hand-carved, hand polished by Thailand craftsmen, these goblets are made from the heartwood of the Teak Tree. Because of its unique characteristics of extreme durability and its essential oils that make it impervious to water action, it is considered the ideal drinking goblet. These very elements are the assets that make these goblets so desirable—they preserve, rather than affect the true savor of the wines and liquids they hold. Age only serves to enrich and enhance their beauty and 1,000 years hence, they will be cherished by your descendents. You couldn't own a more distinguished wine glass if you paid twice our tiny price. Order today—supply limited! Only $4.98 ppd. (4 for only $17.98)

NOW! Run Your Car Without Spark Plugs

THE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ORDINARY SPARK PLUGS AND JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Your car's power comes from tiny explosions of gasoline vapor and air in your cylinders. The bigger the explosions, the faster you go.

SPARK PLUGS
NARROW SPARK

CONVENTIONAL PLUGS explode this mixture with a spark jumping across an air gap. The spark is just 35-thousandths of an inch across — not wide enough to explode all the fuel in the cylinder. Unburned gas escapes through your exhaust. In time, the electrodes become eroded and caked with carbon. The gap widens, the spark gets narrower, you lose more power, waste more fuel . . . and finally have to replace your plugs.

JET-FIRE
FUEL IGNITER
WIDE SWATH OF FLAME

JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS use no sparks. Instead a fanning swath of flame walks across a semi-conductor bridge from one electrode to another, exploding far more fuel, getting far more power. There is no gap that can widen, and carbon deposits actually improve performance. They do not have to be adjusted or replaced—ever!

ALSO AVAILABLE FOR BOATS TRACTORS TRUCKS MOTORCYCLES AND FOREIGN CARS!

NEW JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Will deliver up to 30 more horsepower, 5 more miles per gallon using only regular gas!

THEY NEVER WEAR OUT

Pat. No. 2899960

- get up to 5 more miles per gallon of gas
- add up to 30 more horsepower to your engine
- save $100 each year for you, year after year while you use the cheapest grades of gasoline!

YOU'LL NEVER CLEAN, ADJUST OR REPLACE PLUGS AGAIN!

Save $100 a Year With Jet-Fuel Igniters!

If you drive 15,000 miles, you can easily save:

- $50 by switching to regular gas.
- $40 on your better mileage.
- $10 by not replacing plugs.

You are protected by this

4-WAY GUARANTEE

1. GUARANTEED for the life of your car (or 30,000 miles) without cleaning, servicing or replacing.
2. GUARANTEED to increase miles/per/gallon of gas on regular gas!
3. GUARANTEED to increase horsepower, increase engine RPMs!
4. GUARANTEED to improve ease of starting and acceleration!

Spark plugs are obsolete! Now there's a far better way to run your car.

With conventional spark plugs, only a fraction of the fuel that enters your cylinders is turned into power. The rest escapes through your tailpipe as unburned vapor. That is because their spark is so narrow—only 35-thousandths of an inch wide—that it cannot possibly ignite all the fuel mixture in the cylinder. As plugs get older, their sparks get narrower and less efficient till they have to be replaced.

New Jet-Fuel Igniters do a far better job of turning gasoline into power. Instead of a narrow spark, they send out a wide swath of flame that "walks" across a semi-conductor tip, fanning out in all directions and exploding far more fuel in the cylinder.

Proof That You Get Up To 30 Horsepower More

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters look like spark plugs merely because they have to be screwed into the spark plug socket. But what they do is far different. Here's how to prove it:

1. Run your car till it's fully warmed up.
2. Stop on a perfectly level stretch of road.
3. Put the car in Drive (1st gear with manual transmission), and see how fast the car rolls at idling speed.
4. Remove plugs and install Jet-Fuel Igniters (a 10-minute job).
5. Now see how fast your car rolls at idling speed. You can expect it to go 4 TO 6 MILES PER HOUR FASTER without touching the gas pedal — dramatic proof that Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters increase engine RPMs by 100 to 150 with no increase in gas consumption. (At high speeds, RPMs increase by 300 to 350.)

So, first thing, you can reduce the gas flow by adjusting the idling screw, and start saving money before you've even driven a mile!

(At the same time, you can make your air-to-gas mixture leaner. Fuel Igniters require only a 15:1 ratio instead of the conventional 9:1. It's a simple adjustment that you or your mechanic can make in one minute. It provides even greater economy.)

Start driving and you'll notice even more improvement—up to 30 more horsepower of acceleration power, climbing power, and passing power. All this while burning less gas!

SWITCH TO REGULAR

The next time your gas gauge gets near the "Empty" mark, tell the attendant to fill it up with REGULAR! Chances are you'll no longer need premium which costs four to eight cents more than regular gas.

And this second saving is only the beginning. Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters provide easier cold-weather starts . . . and that means less drain on your battery, and no drain on your patience as you try to get started.

NO REPLACING OR ADJUSTING EVER

The more you drive, the better your Fuel Igniters perform. They don't become eroded, wear out or require adjusting. And carbon build-up—the natural enemy of old fashioned plugs—actually makes fuel igniters perform better. Carbon becomes an additional carrier for the igniter's big jet flame.

So there you have a third saving. One set of fuel igniters will last the life of your car!

Invented To Save Air Force Lives—
Now They Can Save You Money

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters were first developed to save airmen's lives. During World War II, there were times when more men were killed by spark plug malfunction than by enemy action. A failure-proof replacement was needed, and Fuel Igniters did the job. Both the Navy and Air Force have approved them for jet engine use.

Now at last they have been modified for automobile use. They won't save your life, but they can save you big money—up to $100 a year with ordinary driving.

Some day, all cars may come equipped with Fuel Igniters like these. But why wait when you can install a set yourself now. Just mail the coupon with the make and model of your car, and we'll rush you a set with full instructions. Just $12.80 per set of 8, $9.60 per set of 6, $6.40 per set of 4.

Give Dad the Unusual

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA.

A CLEVER Dad we know would like just one gift for Father's Day: no bills the day after.

Dedicated to that proposition, FAMILY WEEKLY's annual gift suggestions are for only those members of the clan who have saved enough to pay their own way!

1. To keep Dad trim and fit, why not gift him with a Tone-O-Matic belt distributed by American Machine & Foundry? Consisting of 10 pounds of buckshot contained in black vinyl, it slims waist by isometrically forcing muscles to carry more weight while walking, working, or exercising. $20. And if Dad's really the active kind, you can arm him with a Dr. Scholl's Jogger's Survival Kit (not shown) that includes a foot-imprinted sweatshirt, jogger's log and guide, plus foot-care products. $4.95.

2. Fasten the latest piece of jewelry around Dad's wrist: a handsome chain-and-leather watch from Swank. Seventeen-jewel, it features the day and date on its champagne-colored face. $40.

3. How about something lighthearted and whimsical? A package of "Quick Whiskers" from Prince Matchabelli includes adhesive and a starter supply of Black Watch men's cologne. The artificial mustache, made of real hair, comes in Traditional (straight across), as shown, or Continental style (devilishly curved at the ends) in a choice of shades—even salt-and-pepper! $7.95.

4. Coordinated accessories are the key to the well-dressed Dad. Outfit him with a wardrobe of hose, Burlington's six-pack of stretch socks. They fit all sizes, come in a combination of solid neutral and high-fashion colors. $10.50.

5. If Dad's a home-movie buff, he'll delight in Hahnel Collmatic's motorized Dual-8 film splicer, for Super-8 and regular 8-mm movies. Lever depresses for cutting. Then, at the touch of a button, a sapphire grinding wheel scrapes away the emulsion, producing durable jump-free splices never noticed in your projector. Uses D-size batteries. $29.95.

Most of these gifts are available at your favorite department store. ◆

For the man (or woman) who would like to break out of the salary-rut for good... open doors to thousands of extra dollars of income every year, without risking his present job... and perhaps even start two, three or four little self-perpetuating businesses of his own on the side, that make money for him while he sleeps – here is a startling FREE report

37 ingenious SPARE-TIME BUSINESSES that require almost no investment, and net you up to $200 EXTRA INCOME every week!

How would you like to get a commission on almost every house sold in your neighborhood, without registering as a real estate agent, or even leaving your front porch.

Or be the first one in your area to exploit this new twist in selling cheap jewelry by mail, that could get every one dollar you invest to bring you back five.

Or even use this fantastic new way to form your own race-horse syndicate—where for only $18.50 a month, YOU own a thoroughbred that may win thousands!

And these are only three of the THIRTY-SEVEN brand-new SCHEME-YOUR-WAY-RICH, PART-TIME MONEY-MAKERS—completely unknown to 99% of your friends and fellow workers—and now yours ENTIRELY WITHOUT COST OR FURTHER OBLIGATION in one of the most startling, Instant Second-Income Reports you have ever read! All yours FREE with an introductory subscription to E. Joseph Cossman's THINK YOURSELF RICH NEWSLETTER!

Why, any one of these ingenious "Part-Time Money-Magnetizing Twists" can be worth a small fortune to you—and I'll prove it to you right now! Where else, for instance, can you get fortune-building information, at a glance, like this:

All Yours Free in this "Make-Extra-Money-While-You-Sleep" Report

How to get perfect strangers to send you as much as $100 a year each, for ten years, just for reminding them of certain critical dates. (You never see them; you never leave your home.)

How $3, and this simple twist, can put you in the import business—right up to the point where you're selling franchises to others.

How to get your cut on the biggest (and completely legal) lottery in the world. You risk $10. You get an oil or gas lease in return. (One man has already made a million dollars for exactly the same kind of investment.)

How to turn ordinary rocks (and an ingenious idea) into instant-money. (This one is so simple, you may kick yourself for not thinking of it.)

An introduction to one of the cleverest (and laziest) men in the United States. He works from 4:30 to 7:30 five nights a week—and earns over $12,000 a year. His gimmick: a stroll through a shopping center parking lot, a couple of part-time high school kids, and an irresistible message written on a 5-inch by 8-inch card.

Invent one of these, and make up to a million dollars overnight (a startling complete list).

A new kind of bicycle, that smart operators are now using to bring in up to $1,000 a day. (Yes, I said up to $1,000 a day!)

The inside story on why one of the biggest service businesses in the world simply cannot advertise. And why they will therefore pay you up to $1,000 for a single prospect's name. (If you like to talk to people, this simple inside-knowledge could make your spare-time worth as much as $15,000 to $20,000 extra to you every year.)

A new European trick that nets you big earnings from other people's misfortunes, with almost no work.

How to turn mice into a steady income, for one day's work a week. (This idea has worked so successfully for one man in Minnesota, that he has customers waiting a full year to buy from him.) You can do the same thing, for pennies.

Plus much, much more. Far more than I can ever describe in this brief letter. How to buy old books for 2¢ each, and sell them for $2 apiece with one simple twist... How to turn deserted old buildings into gold mines... ingenious little ads (given to you word-for-golden-word) that cost only $5 or $10 each, and bring hundreds flowing in every month...

All of them still only a sample of the riches waiting for you in this startling report! And it's yours FREE, with your no-risk, introductory subscription to the THINK YOURSELF RICH Newsletter!

Here's why—

He Made a Million Dollars by using His Brain and His Spare Time—and Other People's Work and Money!

Now you get down to the real pay-off! All 37 of these Golden Money-Makers are given to you by one man—a Californian by the name of Joe Cossman, who went from a $65-a-week shipping clerk to the owner of a five-million-dollar-a-year business, before he retired last year with a million and a half dollars in cash in his pocket.

Yes, Joe Cossman did TWENTY FIVE MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF BUSINESS (without ever seeing 99% of his customers) because he had one overwhelming talent—the ability to scoop up new money-making ideas YEARS BEFORE THE COMPETITION DREAMED THEY EXISTED!

To do this, Joe Cossman set up a "private intelligence service" for new money-making ideas, that not only covered this country but stretched out to Europe and Japan as well.

Every month, dozens of brand-new money-making ideas poured into Cossman's office—from Chicago and Boston and Alaska and Paris and Tokyo and Geneva—the instant they had proven their ability to turn pennies into small fortunes!

AND THIS SAME "MONEY-MAKING NETWORK" IS INTACT TODAY! Joe Cossman has not dismantled it. He has decided to use it, instead, to let other ambitious men and women, all over America, TAP ITS GOLDEN FLOW!

Like this—

Everything Worked Out for You. All You do is Follow Instructions— And Open a New Account at Your Bank!

Yes, once you subscribe to Joe Cossman's THINK YOURSELF RICH Newsletter—entirely at our risk—then from that moment on, every month you are automatically sent 10 to 20 of the hottest INSTANT-MONEY BREAKTHROUGHS from all over the world! (If you don't have time to use all of them yourself, why not pay someone else to do the leg-work for you? In this way, you can turn his sweat into your profit.)

Once again, these are all brand-new ideas. They don't come to you after everyone else has heard of them, and milked them dry. They come to you the very instant they've paid off, when 999 out of 1,000 people never even dreamed they're possible!

In adition, however, every one of these ideas is carefully checked by Joe Cossman to give you the following "more-than-mere-money" bonuses:

NO TRAINING NECESSARY to put them to work. No complicated craft or technique to learn first. You start making money with them IMMEDIATELY.

NO MORE CASH NECESSARY THAN YOU HAVE IN YOUR POCKET RIGHT NOW. (Or, if a golden opportunity DOES arise every so often that takes an investment, Joe Cossman makes sure it's SO hot that others will beg you to let them put up the money for a piece of the action.)

ANYONE CAN USE THEM. No matter if you're 16 or 76... even if you have nothing more than a gradeschool education... even if you're a pensioner, retiree, or woman living alone, who needs extra money desperately, and needs it fast!

START FROM YOUR OWN KITCHEN TABLE. In your spare time, without risking your present job; without stock, inventory or deliveries to worry about; and, in case after case, with almost 100% profit on every single dollar you take in!

HERE'S WHAT HE'S DONE FOR OTHERS! HERE'S WHAT HE CAN DO FOR YOU!

Jane Ellis writes:

"I feel compelled to write to you because as a result of your methods I became an instant success story! I've been in merchandising for 35 years as a retailer and also as a manufacturer's representative. During the past few months, business in the home furnishings field has been extremely slow. As a result, I guess I fell into the slump along with the loss of sales.

"Then came the Cossman Newsletter! Following your methods and in only ten working days, I put on a national sales organization that has been sending in orders at the rate of several hundred dollars a day. I've just cracked the premium field and my first order was for $10,000! I can't begin to tell you what you've done for me. I feel I have been wasting years and ideas until I contacted you. Thank you so very much."

Arnie Rojan writes:

"I was broke, in a dead-end job, and disgusted with myself! I had an idea for artificial animal rugs but didn't know where to start. Then I discovered the E. Joseph Cossman methods of bootstrapping yourself into business. Following your teachings, I started to manufacture and sell my rugs in my spare time while I held onto my job. Thanks to you, I was able to quit my job and develop my product to a point where I sold out a month ago for $100,000 cash and a royalty on future sales! Not bad for a high school graduate whose parents never had more than $2,000 cash at any one time."

E. JOSEPH COSSMAN

One of America's most colorful businessmen. Started with a capital of $60, and built it into a multi-million-dollar-a-year business—with branches in almost every country in the civilized world.

Always an innovator—and one of the most effective money-making teachers in business history—Mr. Cossman gives over one hundred speeches a year before Chamber of Commerce groups, business organizations, sales promotion and marketing executive clubs in this country—and such world-renowned institutions of higher learning as the Sorbonne of Paris. All this in addition to his radio and television appearances with Steve Allen, Groucho Marx, Art Linkletter, Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, John Reed King and dozens more.

Mr. Cossman's interest in little-known business money-makers has yielded him incredible rewards. Just one phone call he made to the government—described in full in his fascinating new newsletter—resulted in a contract with a Japanese firm for one of his products, that nets him $50,000 a year—as a minimum!

Read the thrilling details at our risk! See how you can apply the same, little-known techniques to add thousands of dollars a year to your income! Send in the No-Risk Coupon —Today!

SPECIAL BONUS SECTIONS EVERY MONTH!

Joe Cossman does FAR MORE than merely put you in business! He also shows you how to squeeze every cent of tax-free profit out of that business... how to use that business to receive hundreds of FREE items from all over the world... how to save thousands of dollars in hidden expenses—not only in that business, but in your everyday costs of running your home, car, boat, even family vacations!

For example (taken from future issues)—

How to own your own telephone answering service, and save up to $300 a year on phone bills.

How to get 150 superb drawings, engravings and prints (all suitable for framing to decorate your home or office) for a total cost of 50¢.

How to buy a jeep for a few hundred dollars. Or a cabin cruiser or helicopter for peanuts.

How to get the world's largest bank as your business advisor, FREE.

How to get up to $5,000 additional life insurance, without paying one more penny.

Contest-winning tips from the judges themselves (one of them alone could be worth $25,000 to you).

How to put yourself in THE ROYALTY POSITION — between someone else's product and a blue-chip corporation—where with a single phone call you may collect thousands of dollars of royalty annuity for the rest of your life.

How to get office equipment at less than it costs the manufacturer to make.

How to get up to a hundred thousand dollars of FREE advertising every year.

How to get the U.S. Government to invest in your business—train your employees—finance you when income is low—give you fabulous vacations, practically free—show you their own tax loopholes ...and much much more!

All yours as just one small BONUS-SECTION of this great monthly Newsletter! Why not try it—entirely at our risk—TODAY!

99% Non-Selling! Most are Selling-Perpetuating (They Make Money For You While You Sleep)! And All are Based on Simple Tricks and Twists That Could Easily Give You a Year's Pay in the First Three Months Alone!

The cost is less than $1 a month—FOR A MILLIONAIRE'S TIP-SHEET SERVICE THAT COULD MAKE YOU RICH OVERNIGHT! (Read the testimonials on this page. If Cossman can make these people tens of thousands of dollars overnight, he certainly can do it for you!)

Orange-Blossom Fare for the Bridal Shower

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ For an intimate bridal shower, plan an orange-blossom menu. From the first refreshing sip of "orange champagne" through to the final bite of orange-chi n pie, let the full fragrance of oranges delight your guests.

Orange-Blossom Chiffon Pie

- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, partially thawed
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 env. unflavored gelatin
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 cup water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chilled heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 baked 9-in. pastry shell

1. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in top of a double boiler to soften. Beat egg yolks, remaining water, and salt together. Blend into gelatin. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture is slightly thickened, about 5 min.

2. Immediately remove from heat, add orange juice concentrate, and stir until blended. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon (or chill over ice and water, stirring frequently).

3. Meanwhile, whip cream until soft peaks are formed. With final few strokes, beat in confectioners' sugar and extract; set in the refrigerator.

4. Using a clean beater, beat egg white until frothy. Gradually add granulated sugar, continuing to beat until rounded peaks are formed. Fold in the gelatin mixture and then the whipped cream.

5. Turn into a baked pastry shell. Using the back of a spoon swirl top. Chill thoroughly. Decorate pie with orange sections or orange sections and pastry cut-outs.

One 9-in. pie

"Orange Champagne"

Reconstitute 2 cans (6 oz. each) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, with bottled white grape juice instead of water. Pour over finely crushed ice in stemmed glasses.

1½ qts. cocktail

Turkey l'Orange

- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- ½ cup water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground marjoram
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- White meat of turkey, thinly sliced

1. Put orange juice concentrate, water, and lemon juice into a large skillet. Stir in a mixture of brown sugar and seasonings. Simmer, covered, about 15 min., stirring occasionally.

Orange-Blossom Chiffon Pie will please the bride-to-be as well as guests.

2. Bring to boiling and stir in a blend of cornstarch and cold water. Cook and stir 2 to 3 min.

3. Add butter and sliced turkey; heat thoroughly.

4. Allowing 2 slices of turkey per serving, arrange on plates, top with 2 or 3 Piquant Orange Cartwheels and parsley sprigs; accompany with buttered asparagus spears and parslied buttered carrot sticks.

5. Serve with chilled crisp hearts of celery and finger sandwiches of Orange-Walnut Bread.

About 6 servings

Orange-Walnut Bread

- 2¼ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 large orange
- Water
- 1 cup golden raisins
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and cooled
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup walnuts, finely chopped

1. Grease bottoms of two 7½x4x2-in. loaf pans; line with waxed paper cut to fit bottom; grease paper. Set aside.

2. Sift dry ingredients together into a large bowl; set aside.

3. Squeeze the juice from the orange into a measuring cup for liquid. Add enough water to make 1 cup. Set aside.

4. Cut orange peel into pieces. Force orange and raisins through medium blade of a food chopper. Set aside.

5. Blend egg, orange juice, butter, and extract with a rotary beater. Add to dry ingredients along with ground fruits and chopped nuts; mix thoroughly. Turn into pans and spread evenly to corners.

6. Bake at 350°F. 55 to 60 min. Cool loaves 10 min. in pans on wire racks before removing from pans. Immediately peel off waxed paper and turn top-side up. Cool completely on racks.

7. Wrap loaves tightly in aluminum foil and store 1 or 2 days before slicing.

8. Sandwich sliced bread with cream cheese, cut into halves or thirds, and overlap on a serving tray.

2 loaves nut bread

Piquant Orange Cartwheels

This is a delicious, delicately flavored orange relish.

Pare 3 medium-sized oranges and slice crosswise. Add a mixture of 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon wine vinegar, and 2 teaspoons instant minced onion; toss lightly. Store covered in refrigerator.

HOW TO BE A HERO IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD

10 Bright Barbecue Ideas from Reynolds Wrap®

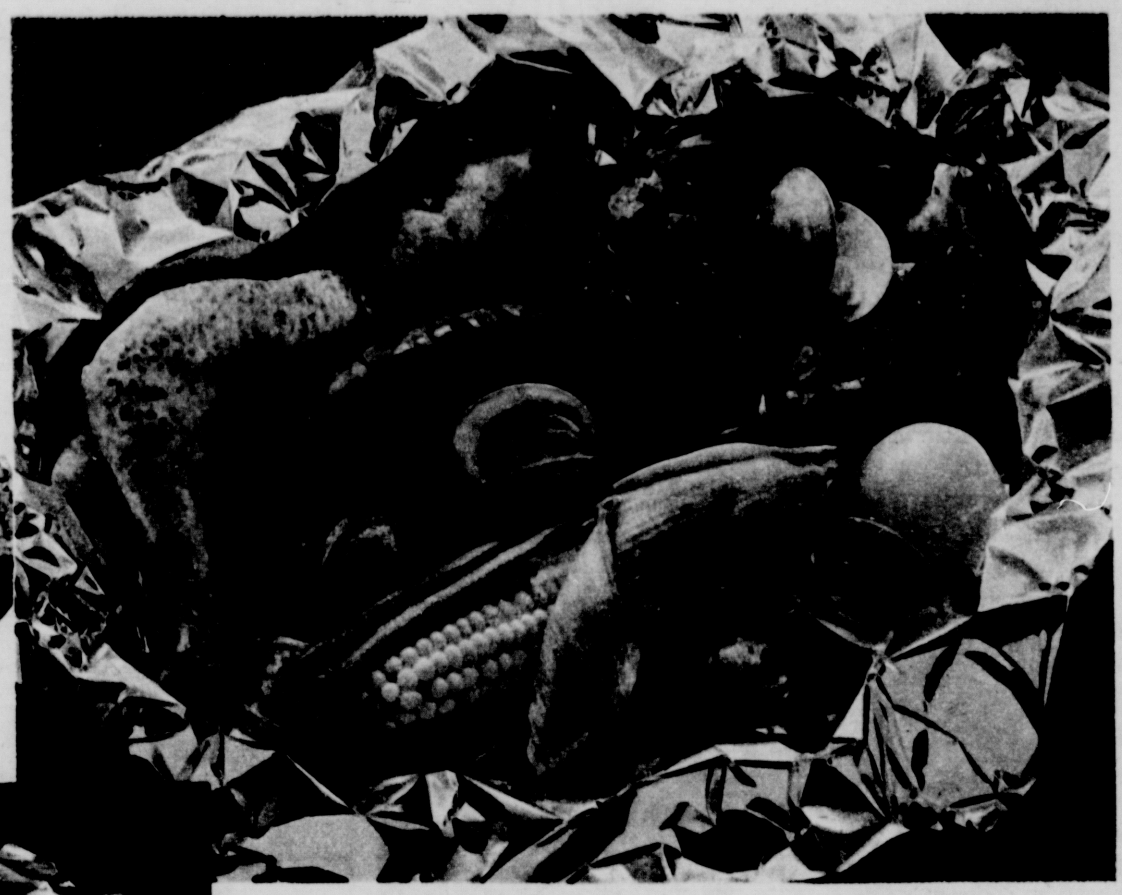

Delight your family...dazzle your friends...with delicious (and different) dishes that end forever the same-old-thing cookout.

What does it take? Two important ingredients: Reynolds Wrap and your own creativity. Reynolds Wrap is a must for outdoor barbecuing because you can cook in it, even over the hottest coals! It has a special resistance to tearing, so it safely seals in juices and flavors. It keeps hot foods hot till ready to serve. Molds tight and holds tight to any shape ...from a lobster to a peach-in-a-poke.

How come? Because every inch of Reynolds Wrap is oven-tempered for flexible strength. Strong, dependable Reynolds Wrap. The barbecue buff's best friend.

LINE YOUR GRILL Use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. The foil reflects the heat evenly over the entire grill. Foods cook more evenly. Faster, too. And at clean-up time just bundle up the ashes in the foil and throw 'em away.

CLAMBAKE-IN-A-BUNDLE. On a 24" piece of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap arrange a large frozen lobster tail (or a 1 lb. fresh-killed lobster as shown above); a chicken leg; 6 clams; an ear of corn, silk removed; a scrubbed potato; an onion; ½ cup clam juice. Bring up sides of foil and seal with double fold. Double-fold ends. Place bundle, seam side down, on a second sheet of Heavy Duty foil. Wrap and seal with double fold. Place on grill 4 inches from coals. Cook 1 hour turning every 15 minutes. Serve with melted butter and lemon. Serves one. (The big idea is the no-fuss foil bundle. Works fine, too, with beef or lamb or chicken, and vegetables.)

PEACHES-IN-A-POKE. Arrange two peach halves on a 9 inch square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon, chopped almonds and (optional) a teaspoon of brandy or rum. Bring foil up and twist-top to close tight. Cook on grill over medium-hot fire about 15 minutes.

HOT GARLIC BREAD. Cut a loaf of Italian Bread in ¾ inch slices, not quite through bottom crust. Combine ½ cup softened butter or margarine with 1 minced garlic clove, 1 teaspoon parsley flakes, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon dried dill. Spread mixture generously between slices. Wrap loosely in Reynolds Wrap and heat on grill 15 minutes.

"INSTANT HIBACHI"
While the main dish is cooking on your big grill, let your guests cook their own appetizer-kebobs on your "instant hibachi." Just line a big cast iron kettle (or even an old bucket) with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap and build the fire right on the foil.

FOIL-ROASTED CORN ON THE COB
Remove husks and silk. Brush corn with melted butter or margarine. Wrap each ear tightly in Reynolds Wrap. Roast on top of grill over hot fire about 15 minutes. Foil seals in the fresh-corn flavor and aroma. Foil baked potatoes are great, too. Just scrub the spuds and wrap each one tightly in Heavy Duty foil. Place them directly on the coals around the edge of the fire. Bake about 45 minutes.

SUMMER SQUASH TREAT
Put half-inch slices of squash on very thin onion slices in center of a square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Season with salt, pepper and snips of fresh dill. Dot with butter. Seal foil with double-fold and cook on grill about 25 minutes. Divine! And, you can cook tomatoes, pearl onions and all kinds of frozen vegetables on your outdoor grill, too. The real secret is the tightly sealed foil packet idea.

SPIT ROASTING?
Make a foil pan to catch the drippings. Just turn up all four edges of a double-thickness length of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap in the shape of a narrow rectangular pan and place in front of the coals, directly under the meat. Avoids flame flare-ups.

QUICKIE OVEN
Bake-and-serve biscuits and rolls bake beautifully on the grill. Place them on a sheet of Heavy Duty foil and cover them with another sheet. Good idea with hot dog and hamburger rolls, too.

WONDERFUL WOODSY FLAVOR
Soak hickory chips in water and wrap them tightly in foil. Punch holes in the foil to let smoke escape and place the packet right on the coals. Hickory chips won't flame up and burn.

'Dunwich' a Delight for Witch Watchers

DEAN STOCKWELL mumbles an incantation over Sandra Dee in a scene from "Dunwich," an upbeat tale of witches, warlocks, fertility rites and other strange carryings-on.

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(N E A)—"F o r g i v e me if I'm distracted," D e a n Stockwell said, as we stood together on the set of "Dunwich."

I could certainly understand. I was a little distracted myself. The reason: six girl witches in Hollywood's idea of what the well-undressed witch will wear. There were six boy witches, too, but Dean and I were concerned with the girls, in gossamer black outfits, slit up to here and cut down to there.

They wore the gossamer material over their faces, too, and that led to a little conversation between two of them which I overheard:

Witch No. 1: "Who's that? I don't recognize you."

Witch No. 2: "I like it that way."

"Dunwich" is a modern story of witches and fertility rites and stuff, a kind of Rosemary's Baby's baby. Sandra Dee, Dean Stockwell, Ed Begley and Lloyd Bochner are among t h o s e involved in it.

Stockwell, in case you've missed him lately, says he has been "semiretired" for the last eight or 10 years. He says he worked so hard so long that he just lost interest in acting. He has a place in the country (Topanga) and he relaxed and pursued his interest in the graphic arts. But now, he says, he's a bit itchy to work again, so here he is.

He and B e g l e y talked about the difference between playing good guys and bad guys. In this one, Dean is bad and Ed is good, but Ed Begley has played a lot of meanies in his time.

"I was visiting I r e l a n d awhile ago," Begley said, "and staying at a cousin's house. The whole family and all their friends dropped in. And one little girl hid behind her father when she saw me.

"It seems she'd seen a Wagon Train with me as a villain. I get that all the time."

Sandra Dee, one of my f a v o r i t e ladies, hasn't w o r k e d for some time, either. But, in her case, it was only about eight months.

"I haven't worked," she says, "since that horrible experience I had at Universal with 'The Man Hunters.' It was so bad — and I was so bad in it — that it can't be released. It soured me on doing movies--I didn't want to work at all.

"But at least this script is different."

It sure is. There was a nude scene for Sandra to do, but she won't do it.

"Not me," she says. "I said no — not for moral reasons, but it's just that I'm shy. I'll do the close-up, with bare shoulders, but that's all. I just can't do any more —hurray for those who can, but I can't."

Sandra was in her trailer and the little oven in her stove was busy. She was baking cookies for the crew. She said she wanted to cook a turkey, but the oven was too small.

Outside, when I could tear my eyes away from the witches, I cornered Lloyd Bochner. He told me about a script he just turned down.

"It was a glorified stag movie," he said. "It was all set on a yacht, which was run by a man who provides all sorts of sexual aberrations for his guests. Then he films them with hidden cameras and blackmails them. So you see the opportunities for every kind of dirty film in that plot.

"I won't do it — but somebody will, I'm sure."

Then the witches strolled by again, and that was the end of any serious conversation.

'Krakatoa' Fizzles As Marilyn Sizzles

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

Cinerama's premiere of "Krakatoa, East of Java" attracted a lot of celebrities who managed to survive a volcano, a tidal wave and some of the worst acting east of Paramaribo.

They put songs in, in the worst places. As the volcano erupted, I expected to hear somebody singing "Lava Come Back to Me." Or, during the tidal wave shots, "Sweet Tsunami."

Before it all erupted, I chatted with Jim Nabors. He was just back from Europe, where he says he was at La Scala for Marilyn Horne's opening there. She got, Jim says, the biggest reception there in 30 years.

"I had goose bumps out to here," Jim said.

Problems, problems. Lucille Ball has such problems you wouldn't believe. She's making too much money.

"Yours, Mine and Ours," the film in which she has a percentage, did so well that she made too much out of it. It pushed her into the highest bracket.

A friend says it cost her $50,000 to be a guest on the Jack Benny show.

And you thought you had problems.

'I Never Want to See My Boy Bloody'

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—This year's cycle is the motorcycle picture, and the king of those tough, violent films is Adam Roarke. Or make that the king WAS Adam Roarke, because he's abdicating.

He has done three—"Hells Angels On Wheels," "The Savage Seven" and "Hell's Belles." And that's enough. There's good money to be made in bike pictures (the first two cost $250,000 each to make and have so far grossed a total of better than $20 million), but Roarke has his brown eyes fixed on higher goals.

"This is the critical time for me," he says. "I think I can make it as a big star. I didn't think that way a couple of months ago, but now I do. And I'm going to go for it."

He has the following now. He has all the 18-25-year-olds, who make up the bulk of the movie audience. They've been cheering for him through three of these low-budget, high-blood-count epics. They've made him a star whom most of the older folks have never heard of, and yet his name means big dollars at the box office.

He plays a tough character in his pictures, and his background is tough. Today, he's a solid citizen, with a wife and a son and a nice house and two motorcycles which he rides primly on weekends, with his four-year-old son strapped to his back.

But back in Brooklyn, life was something else. He says he saw lots of blood, lots of beatings and a few killings. On his 14th birthday, the gang gave him a present—they conked him over the head with a baseball bat. Sixteen stitches.

Once he was cruising the Belt Parkway, got behind a slow-moving police car and his buddies dared him to blow his horn at the cops. Roarke tooted away merrily. The policemen pulled him over, dragged him from the car and bashed him in the nose when he wouldn't give his name.

When he was 16, the police grabbed him and drove him out to Queens. They showed him a dead body, the body of a pal. Tony's face had been blown off by a shotgun.

"Why did you do it?" they said.

They kept him for 16 hours, then they let him go. He figured that whoever killed Tony might be after him now, for the same reason—whatever it was—that they had been after Tony. So Adam Roarke left Brooklyn and came to California.

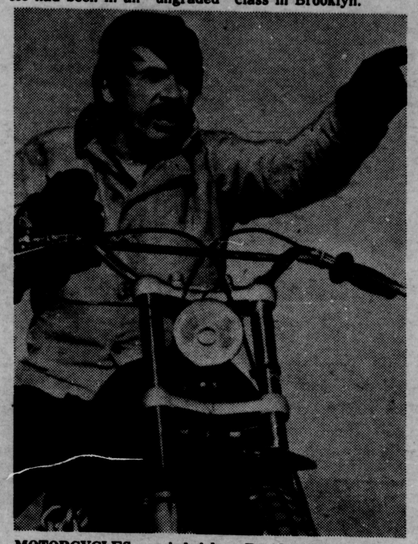

Somewhere he got a tattoo—a gravestone and the words "In Memory Of Tony." It cost him $25. Since he's become a big actor, he's been trying to get rid of it. The plastic surgeons say it will cost $1,500, and there's no guarantee he won't be left with a bad scar.

"We can fly to the moon," Roarke says, "but we can't take tattoos off."

He parked cars at the Beverly Hills Hotel, then he served in the Army. It was while he was in service that he first thought of acting. Until then, he had seriously toyed with the idea of becoming a gangster.

"I'd known some of the Anastasias in Brooklyn," he says. "I'd worked with one of them as a longshoreman at United Fruit and Vegetable in Bush Terminal."

But then acting seemed like a safer career than gangstering. He studied with Brian Hutton, who taught him to read books. Until then, he'd read nothing but comic books. He had been in an "ungraded" class in Brooklyn.

MOTORCYCLES carried Adam Roarke across theater screens all over the country and made him undisputed king of the brawling, bloody bike flicks. Now he's ready to dismount and try for bigger and better roles.

His career has been slowly, steadily successful. He never, from the day he began working, had much trouble making a living.

The three motorcycle pictures made him an important commodity in this town. He can look back on all those bloody Brooklyn years now, from the comfortable cushion of success.

"One thing," he says, "that I want to do is make sure my son doesn't go through what I did. I never want to see my boy bloody."

DEAR POLLY—When you are moving do not empty your salt and pepper shakers, merely cover the holes with masking tape. For short in-town moves I also leave my cannisters filled but tape on the covers. —BEVERLY

[redacted]

DEAR POLLY—My husband had to wear a full leg cast after it was broken in two places. When he returned to the hospital for X-rays and a new cast he ended up with wet plaster all over the inside of his pants' leg. The next time I took along a plastic dry cleaner's bag to slip over the wet cast. I taped it in place and it saved me a cleaning bill.—MRS. P. E. C.

DEAR POLLY—If you always have trouble untying stubborn knots, try lubricating them with talcum powder.—CARYL

[redacted]

DEAR POLLY --- Our bathroom shower soap rack broke so my mother took a metal cottage cheese carton, drilled two holes in the sides and 10 holes in the bottom. She then tied a piece of string from one side hole through the other to hang the carton from the shower bar. The can holds the soap and the holes in the bottom let the water drip through.—ROSEMARY

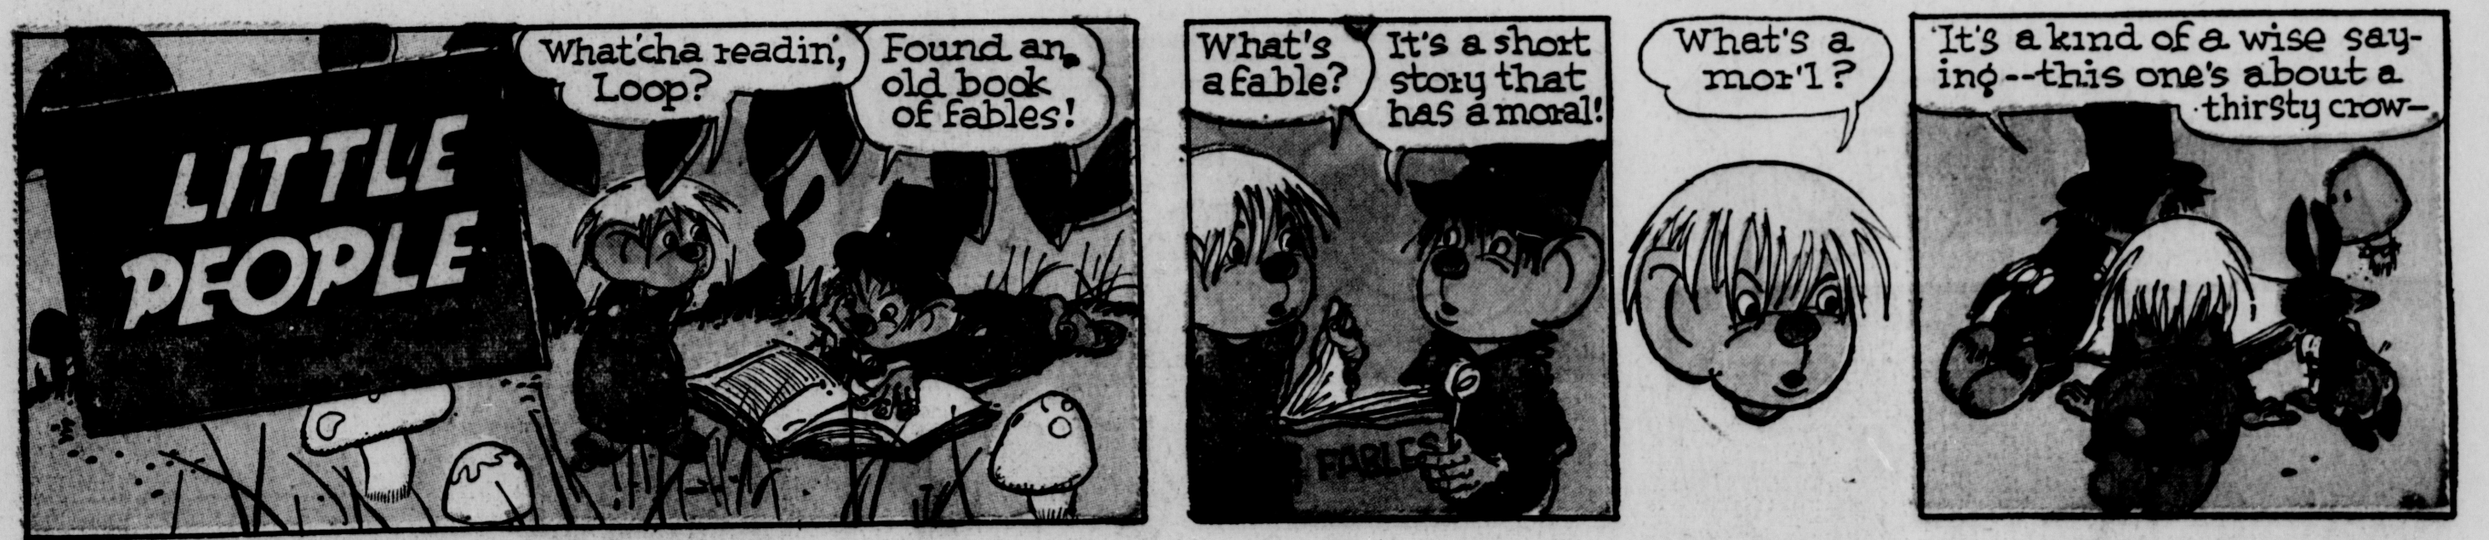

DEAR POLLY—We all know a new broom sweeps clean but an old one can, too. To make mine last longer I give them an occasional bath in two quarts of lukewarm water to which I have added four tablespoons of ammonia. Let broom stand in this for a while, rinse well and hang upside down to dry. Never allow a broom to stand on the straws. I make my own broom holder by nailing two empty thread spools to the wall a short distance apart.—MRS. C. D. S.

DEAR POLLY---Don't throw away those liquid wax polish bottles with foam rubber self applicators. Wash one thoroughly, fill with water and you have a good stamp licker without sticky fingers and a tired tongue.---DONNA

DEAR POLLY—If you need a flower container to use on your metal garden umbrella table, just use a ring mold and you can have a pretty flower arrangement and still use the umbrella.—HAZELMAI husband and children on a "lost island," 700 miles from she would not trade

Robinson Crusoe

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Crusoe on one of their many pleasure jaunts.

Few boats call at Astove. Few people know there is anyone here. The children go wild with excitement when a boat stops by. They get a day off from lessons. The whole routine of the island is disrupted for a week.

But we like visitors—scientists, seafarers, practical men of the kind we can get on with. They have a knack of turning up with supplies of things we have just run out of or simply do not have. Can you imagine what a treat an orange is—just a two-penny African orange—to our children?

Despite the sunshine, we cannot grow citrus fruit here because we get only 24 inches of rain a year. That is the same rainfall as London, making Astove a dry little island for the tropics.

We get batches of up to six months' newspapers at a time. For the day's news we listen to the BBC on short wave from London.

Our own news was bad recently. Ti-Georges—Little George—died. He was the mason's mate, one of the men we have working on the island.

Ti-Georges evidently drank a few jugs of calou (a native intoxicant) one night, and the next morning he needed the hair of the dog. He had two or three. He saw his boss, Armand the mason, fishing on the beach. Armand had caught half a dozen bonefish.

"Donné-moi un poisson," said Ti-Georges, in the local French accent, reeling a bit. Armand refused to give him a fish. There was swearing, and they grappled. Ti-Georges was badly wounded on the head.

I know quite a bit about nursing—self-taught from a handy volume of "General Nursing Practice." When Ti-Georges came up to the house later that day, I shaved his head and dressed his three wounds. Next day he complained of a headache. Tragically the headache never left him.

I gave him some drugs, including a penicillin injection, though the law says we may not dispense penicillin or any other prescription drugs. For 10 days things went on like this. Then Ti-Georges went into a rigor, jaw locked, the sweat rolling off him.

I had an awful premonition what it was—tetanus.

I knew then I could not save Ti-Georges. Only hospitalization and massive doses of antitetanus serum could have pulled him through. We have no serum. I fed him raw eggs and meat extract; I crushed codeine tablets into everything to try to ease his pain.

Death by tetanus is terrible. Ti-Georges never knew what he had, but on the last day he said to me: "Comme ça je quitte la terre, madame? Am I leaving the world?"

I said, "Yes."

Ti-Georges asked for prayers then.

Isolated Astove Island is a beach playground for Digby, 2, Rory, 9, and Ming, 7.

Mitha and Myvonne, our two housegirls, came in, with Gros Georges, his good friend, and they recited "Hail Mary, Mother of God" in Creole, over and over.

Then Ti-Georges cried out "Je finis, je finis!" and died. He was just 19 years old.

What galls me is that there is no visiting doctor—no medical services whatever—for the outlying islands, and at the same time, there is this stupid regulation that we cannot dispense "dangerous drugs."

I tell you one thing that is heading my next shopping list—and that's morphine. We would have given anything for a few shots of morphine to ease poor Ti-Georges' last hours.

The law? There is no law here except us—and the courtroom is back in Mahé, where Armand will eventually appear.

Armand cried and prayed when he heard of Ti-Georges' death. He is still working here. There is no point in locking him up. Where would he escape to?

Such are our tragedies on Astove. Mark has built a landing strip now for emergency flights—and, we hope, more visitors. Now he is building a radio to call for help, should an emergency arise again.

In the meantime, we bear with inconveniences. I suppose insects must rank highest. In the four months of the rainy season, their hum is as loud as an unoiled fan. At night, Mark must light a smudge, but even in choking smoke, mosquitoes attack us.

Mark has had painful trouble with his teeth but has borne the agony stoically. He must see a dentist soon, but that will mean a trip of many days. And I must see my mother, now 70, soon and assure her we are not mad.

But I will not stay in New York City long. There is too much to do on our island. I would not want to miss the spectacular sunrise, though it signals the beginning of a long, work-filled day. I would not want to miss the feeling that this is our world—my husband's and mine—and that it is a good one for our children.

The life of Mrs. Robinson Crusoe may not be for many women. But it is for this one. ◆
